NIGHT EDITION FATAL ACCIDENT

One Killed and Several Hurt at East Jaffrey, N. H.

Cars Left Rails and Rolled Down Steep Bank at Crows Curve—Fortunately, Passengers Were Few

EAST JAFFREY, N. H., Feb. 4.—One passenger was killed, another was seriously injured and two railroad employees were slightly hurt when two cars of a Boston & Maine train left the rails and rolled down a bank at a sharp turn, known as Crows curve, three-quarters of a mile south of this station. Eitel Boynton of East Jaffrey was killed. The seriously injured person is John H. Kramer, a peddler of Winchendon, Mass. Conductor Nava and brakeman Dimick of the train crew received minor cuts and bruises. The wreck occurred about 7 a. m.

The train was running from Winchendon, Mass., for Concord, N. H. over the Peterboro branch of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine road. There were only three passengers on the train and one of them, Morris Wheeler, escaped with nothing more serious than a shaking up. When the train took Crows curve the combination coach and a day coach left the rails and overturned on the side of the embankment. The locomotive did not leave the track. Both derailed cars cleared the track in such a manner that the roadbed was not torn up and traffic was not blocked.

IN HOMINY STORE

Firemen Were Called to Queen Street Today

At 2:45 o'clock this morning fire was discovered under the flooring of a store in Queen street and a telephone alarm was sent to Chief Hosmer who in turn dispatched several pieces of apparatus to the scene. The blaze was under the flooring of a store in a building owned by the heirs of M. J. McGuire. The occupant of the store makes hominy and a large quantity of that food product will prove to be a total loss inasmuch as huge volumes of smoke poured through the store.

CITY DESERTED

The Attack on Juarez is Expected at Any Moment

INTERNATIONAL BRIDGE OVER RIVER

GRAND AVENUE AT EL PASO

EL PASO, TEXAS, FEB. 4.—The notice to American Consul Edwards at Juarez, Mexico, of the revolutionists' intention to attack the city was received at the consulate shortly before midnight. The notice was courteously worded and said the attack would be made within 24 hours from the time it was received by the consul. The message was delivered by special courier from Orozco's camp. The tone of the notice was taken to show that the attack would probably come within the next few hours. The American consul was instructed by Gen. Orozco to notify such other consuls as might be in Juarez, as the insurgents leader had no means of reaching them. General information of the intended attack was given out by the American consul and it was followed by a renewed exodus from Juarez.

PEOPLE OF JUAREZ

HAVE LEFT THE CITY

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 4.—A staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Record sends the following despatch from El Paso, Texas.

The insurgents although within range of Juarez show little intention of an immediate attack. They were camped today in the foothills 30 miles south of Juarez and flanked the city on three sides.

Four howitzers of ancient model and four rapid fire guns captured recently from the federals comprise the artillery of the besieging forces.

Juarez is practically depopulated. The chief of police of Juarez and six customs officials have announced that hereafter they would have their residence in El Paso.

GENERAL OROZCO'S FORCES

HAVE JOINED DEBLANCO'S

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—At five o'clock this morning Juarez is lined with soldiers, police, guards, federal and state rurales expecting an attack any moment. Orozco's forces are at the foot of the Juarez and are expected to reach the city about sunrise.

No reinforcements for the federals are in sight. General Orozco and General Deblanco are reported to have made a junction at Baucha, 11 miles south of Juarez.

The insurgents are said to have four rapid fire guns, one long ten and four howitzers. They are reported to be all armed with Krug-Jorgensen rifles of the latest pattern.

AUTHOR BURTON SMITH

MEETS REBEL CHIEF

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—Thrown in contact with Orozco during the four days in which the Mexican Central trains were in possession of the Mexican insurgents, Burton Smith, author and playwright, last night gave his impressions of the rebel chief. Smith was granted an audience with Orozco in a statement aboard the train and was authorized by him to tell anything which he had seen or heard while with the command, providing that it was told exactly as he heard or saw it. Regarding his impressions Smith said:

"The younger Orozco, who shares the command equally with his father, is a most remarkable man and displays the fact in many ways. He is said to be most conservative and seldom if ever utters an unnecessary word. When asked a question he will study for a moment and then give answer in short, sharp sentences which ring with confidence in his judgment. At all times he is mixing freely with the men but rarely talks unless questioned.

"A Mauser rifle, which he carries, never leaves his hands and when he sleeps it is with his fingers clutched about the stock of the gun. He never hesitates to aid the men to perform any kind of work and is always present where there is the most danger.

"When we first arrived at Motesome last Monday," said Smith, "we were greatly surprised to hear shouts of 'Viva Madero!' issuing from hundreds of throats. Many of the passengers thought that the insurgents would open fire on the train but we were soon assured that all was safe when the men entered the coaches and the officers were heard to caution them several times to be careful and not shoot.

"In the Pullman cars the insurgents unbuttoned the berth curtains, striking matches each time so as to be able to detect the nationality of the occupants. An assurance that the occupants were Americans was sufficient to cause them to pass on after first fastening the curtains again.

"Pasqual Orozco, the chief, accompanied the men through the entire train, quieting the fears of the passengers and searching for government men, whom he believed were aboard. It was he who gave money to Mexican women, whose husbands he retained when the train was finally relieved and it was he who paid for everything which was obtained from small stores along the line."

Noe Lussier, Well Known Boarding House Keeper, Passed Away

Noe Lussier, one of the oldest and best known citizens of this city passed away this morning at his home, 83 Lilley avenue.

Mr. Lussier was born at St. Isidore, Que., April 11, 1839, and at the age of 24, that is 48 years ago, he emigrated to this city, and immediately after his arrival, he opened a boarding house at 28 Arkwright street in the Tremont & Suffolk corporation.

This was the refuge of many mill operatives, and whether they had money or were penniless they were always welcomed by the "Pete" Lussier as he was commonly called. This boarding house was later renamed "Noah's Ark" and it was known even in Canada, for when people from the latter place arrived in this city, Lussier's boarding house was their refuge.

Mr. Lussier was a charter member of Union St. Joseph, but later severed his connections with the organization. He was a pioneer of St. Joseph's parish and always took an active part in its work, doing the catering at all the banquets held in the parish, and also rendering financial aid.

The deceased retired about five years ago, after acquiring considerable real estate property in Centralville. He turned his business over to his daughter, Mrs. Edmund Belanger, who is still running the old stand.

Mr. Lussier was apparently in good health till last Monday when he was stricken with a paralytic shock. He lost consciousness and the end came this morning at 8:15 o'clock. Besides a large number of friends and his beloved wife, deceased leaves to mourn his loss four children, Rosario and Ferdinand Lussier, Mrs. Edmund Belanger and Rosanna Lussier of this city; five sisters, Mrs. Ernest Simard, Mrs. Jean Baptiste Roberge, Miss Domitilde Lussier and Miss Alphonse Lussier, all of Chelmsford Centre, and Mrs. Alfred Diette of Chicago, Ill., and a brother, Louis Lussier of Valleyfield, Que. Deceased was a member of the Holy Family sodality of St. Joseph's parish.

IN POLICE COURT

Two Men Held on Charge of Stealing Copper

Bernard Bradley and Louis Duchesne, who were arrested yesterday afternoon by Inspectors Maher and Walsh after the police had received complaints to the effect that considerable copper and brass had been stolen from the Massachusetts Mohair Plush Co., in Western avenue, were arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on two complaints of larceny. In the first complaint they were charged with the larceny of 20 pounds of copper valued at $240, the property of the Mohair company, and in the second complaint with the larceny of eight valves and four globe valves, all of the value of $105, the property of the Appleton company. Lawyer A. S. Goldman, who has been practicing law in New York, appeared for the defendants and after pleading pleas of not guilty to each complaint, asked the court to postpone the hearing of the case till next Tuesday. The continuance was granted, each defendant being held under $700 bonds for appearance at that time.

He Stole a Punch

Michael McQuade, pleaded guilty to the larceny of a punch valued at 75 cents, the property of Ernest Chambers, Jr., of the case till next Tuesday. The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

Sent to Reformatory

Herbert Emerson, the young man who it is alleged has been entering and rifling houses in the Greek colony of their contents, and who was also given a hearing yesterday on a complaint of larceny preferred against him, was called upon this morning to plead to another complaint of larceny, the charge being that he stole a razor belonging to John Guinnes. Emerson said that despite the fact that the razor had been found in his possession, he was innocent of the charge, claiming to have found the razor on the street.

Guinnes, who resides at 1 Little street, informed the court that when he left the house Monday morning he left his razor on a shelf and later when he returned found that it was missing. A young man who also occupies a room in the same house with the complainant testified to seeing Emerson leaving the house Monday afternoon.

Patrolman George Abbott, who arrested Emerson, testified to finding the razor on the defendant's person.

The court after considering the evidence in the case, found Emerson guilty on both complaints, the one heard yesterday and the one this morning, and sentenced him to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Kicked His Wife

John Coyle was charged with being drunk, and he admitted his guilt. Mrs. Coyle said that while her husband was under the influence of liquor he ordered the house of a neighbor, where she was visiting, and kicked her. She said, however, that she did not care about pressing an assault and battery charge against him. After being cautioned as to his actions in the future by Judge Hadley, Coyle was allowed to depart upon the payment of a fine of $2.

Other Offenders

The four out-of-town men who were arrested the night before last and arraigned in court yesterday morning on charges of drunkenness and whose cases were continued until today in order to ascertain if they knew anything about the larceny of some clothing, were this morning fined $2 each. The police upon making an investigation into the case of larceny reported found that none of the quartet had anything to do with it.

Double Assault Case

James Papacosta and James Bellos were charged with assault and battery on John Stergion. Fisher H. Pearson, representing the defendants, entered pleas of not guilty. A. O. Hamel appeared for the government.

The complainant and defendants are employed at the Merrimack mills. According to the complainant, Bellos assaulted him in the mill a week ago Thursday night and the following morning Papacosta assaulted him in the street just outside the mill.

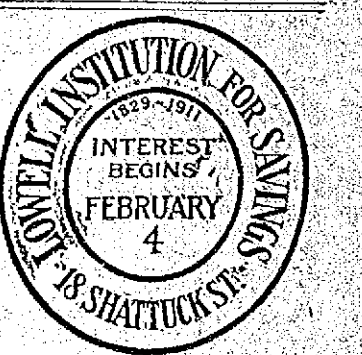

Bellos admitted that he struck Stergion because the latter had called his wife a bad name. Papacosta testified that in his own behalf, said when he met Stergion on Friday morning he spoke to Stergion and the latter dared him to fight, with the result that the two men got into a fistful encounter. Papacosta said he didn't know whether or not he hit the complainant.

The court found the defendants guilty and ordered each to pay a fine of $10.

Neglected Her Children

Mrs. Lillian Molloy was charged with failing to send her minor children, Raymond and Edith, to school in violation of the statute law. Truant Officer William F. Thornton informed the court that the boy had been absent 75 half days during the present school term and that the girl had been absent 64 half days. Both had been excluded from the school at different times by order of the medical inspectors.

The mother was cautioned to comply with the order of the medical inspector and Mr. Thornton was instructed to see that she complied with the law in the future.

LOWELL COLONY ENTERTAINED AT LAWRENCE LAST NIGHT

Columbia colony, E. U. O. P. F., entertained about 30 members of Garfield colony of Lowell at the regular meeting which was held in Mayflower hall, Pilgrim block, last evening, says the Lawrence Eagle. There was a large attendance of the members and the visitors were also present from a number of neighboring lodges.

Gov. John W. Shaw presided and welcomed the visiting Pilgrims most cordially. The routine business of the colony was transacted with despatch, this including the submission of the semi-annual reports of the officers, which were accepted. Alton C. Huse, who had been elected sergeant-at-arms to fill a vacancy, was installed into his position, the work being done by Mrs. Nora Whatmore Carby, the deputy supreme governor of the colony.

At the close of the meeting a pleasing miscellaneous entertainment was given by the Fraternal Associates with President John S. Painter presiding. The program comprised piano and vocal solos, reading by Mrs. Carby and an address by Supreme Trustee Frank McAnally, which was much enjoyed. Ex-Gov. Bernard J. Keaveney also addressed the gathering and gave the members of the order some good advice.

Coffee and sandwiches, cake and ice cream were served after the entertainment, and the Lowell visitors returned home by the late electric car.

OLD GUARD BEATEN BOY NEARLY FROZEN

Democrats and Progressive Republicans Defeat the Regulars Little Chap Found in Yard in Rear of His Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Borah of Idaho, supported by progressive republicans and democratic senators, defeated the old guard regulars yesterday and got the resolution for the election of senators by direct vote of the people in a most advantageous position.

Despite a number of rebuffs, by a persistence not often witnessed in the senate, he landed his measure on the legislative program, so that must come up every day as the unfinished business.

The moment in former case was laid aside yesterday. Senators Nelson and Borah clamored for recognition. Vice President Sherman saw Mr. Nelson first and gave him the floor. He moved action on the bill to regulate the leasing of Alaskan coal land whereupon Mr. Borah moved that that motion be tabled. This failed, 32 to 11. Most senators thought this settled the question and that the Borah resolution had been successfully shelved for the rest of the short period of the present congress remaining. After the senate had proceeded with the Alaskan bill for some time, Mr. Nelson gave way to Senator Warren who was to move that the senate adjourn until Monday. But Mr. Borah said he would object to adjourn until Monday and he won by a small margin.

Thus encouraged, he asked that his resolution be made the unfinished business of the senate.

From the previous roll it appeared that this resolution might be given this preference, and Senator Penrose hurriedly moved an executive session. Such a motion under the rules of the senate may be made at any time and Mr. Borah again found himself elbowed out of the way.

As the executive session motion was being put to the senate, Mr. Borah made a demand for a roll call, got a sufficient number of seconds and the roll was ordered.

On what was regarded as the most significant vote of the day the executive session was denied by a vote of 23 to 10. All of those who voted in the affirmative are regarded as objecting to the popular election of senators and those who voted in the negative are known to be in favor of this policy.

All of the affirmative votes were cast by republicans, but a number of republicans voted with the democrats.

Senators voted with the democrats against the closed session, as follows: Beveridge, Borah, Bourne, Bristow, Brown, Burdett, Clapp, Crawford, Cummins, Dixon, Gronna, Jones, La Follette, Perkins and Nixon.

Recognizing that Mr. Borah had the votes, no further objection was made by the opponents of popular election of senators and the resolution became the unfinished business of the senate without a roll call.

Senator Hale even aided the supporters of the resolution in accomplishing the parliamentary proceedings necessary to that end. Good feeling was restored and Senator Borah announced that he had no disposition to prevent any senator from taking the time required to prepare speeches on the question. He also withdrew his objection to an adjournment until Monday.

CAPTAIN PEARY May Not be Promoted This Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Consideration of the senate bill promoting Capt. Robert E. Peary to be a rear admiral in the navy was indefinitely postponed in the house yesterday because of the illness of Rep. Bates of Pennsylvania, who has the measure in charge.

When the bill was passed over on the private calendar, Representative Mann of Illinois served notice that the matter "in all human probability" would not be reached again this session. He said that the public calendar was clogged with important legislation; the next private calendar day is two weeks away, and according to members is always disposed with at so late a date in a short session.

Mr. Mann endeavored to call up the bill himself so as to permit Representative Mann of Arkansas to deliver an address in opposition to the proposed award to the explorer, but he was repelled to by friends of Mr. Bates and withdrew his motion.

Mr. Mann succeeded in getting recognition on another bill, but when he announced that he proposed to say a few things about Mr. Peary a point of order was made against him, which was sustained by the chair.

Wesley Watts, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Watts, of 14 Marginal street, was found nearly frozen in the yard in the rear of his home about 11 o'clock last night by Patrolman Peter T. Conoran. The child had been missing since one o'clock in the afternoon, but his parents did not worry about him until six o'clock, as it was thought that he had been playing in the yard. When he was found he was lying on his back, his hands and feet were frozen, and it is thought that he will be none the worse for his exposure.

The boy attends the Dover street primary school and left his home for school at one o'clock in the afternoon. When six o'clock came and the boy had not put in an appearance at his home the parents became worried and notified the police.

Shortly before 11, Officer Conoran, who had been searching the railroad yards in the rear of the Watts home, decided that he would look over the back yards connected with the houses.

When he got into the Watts yard he thought he could see something which resembled a figure huddled up in a corner, near the high board fence. He went to it and was surprised to find the heavily clothed body of a boy, his hands pressed against the fence. He spoke to the boy, but there was no response. He then picked him up and ran with him to the house. All endeavors to rouse the boy from his stupor failed, and at once he was rubbed and given hot drinks. Then he opened his eyes and spoke.

BOARD OF HEALTH Thinks the Department Should Have an Automobile

The last meeting of the board of health to be presided over by Dr. G. Forrest Martin was held yesterday afternoon and Dr. J. Murphy was elected to succeed him as chairman.

Dr. Martin read the annual report of the department. He read some of the notes which he did not have time to transcribe. The report will be ready for the printer in a day or two.

Among the recommendations contained in the report is an auto for the department in order that the agent and others connected with the board could get somewhere in a hurry when their time was limited.

The report deals largely with the milk question. "Excessive house inspection is spoken of at considerable length and mention is made of the beam house to be built in Perry street by the American Hide & Leather company."

After reading the report, Dr. Martin said he had a personal favor to ask of the board and of Mr. Osgood in particular. He wished to resign as chairman at once and would ask the board to accept his resignation. His own resignation accepted, Dr. Martin asked that Mr. Murphy be elected.

Dr. Martin put his request in the form of a motion, and it was seconded by Dr. Osgood. The election was unanimous.

The report read by Dr. Martin was the 33rd annual report of the board and in connection with the milk question the report dealt at length with the recent typhoid fever scare, which Dr. Martin said would have been an epidemic but for the fact that the board succeeded in nipping it in the bud. He said that if three weeks had elapsed before the board succeeded in tracing the source of contamination, there would have been at least 1000 cases of typhoid. The board discovered the source within two weeks.

The report read by Dr. Martin was in brief as follows: "The board of health organized Jan. 6, 1910, by choosing Dr. Martin as chairman. It is a pleasure, at the end of another year's work, to know that politics has not entered into the work in any way, and that the board has been a unit in its action. We wish to compliment Agent Bates and the other employees of the department for their efficient service and we wish to state that we believe that there is no more efficient agent of any board of health than Mr. Bates has proved himself to be. The employees of the department have worked faithfully and well."

"The year has been one of hard work for all the members of the board and for all including the men on the staff. From our experience of the past year it is certain that much more money must be appropriated for the care of contagious diseases and for the work of the board. It would be an excellent thing if an appropriation representing 1 per cent of the population should be appropriated, as is done in most cities of the type. Our per capita appropriation is now but 60 cents, and it should be remembered that out of this we pay for collecting the garbage, the ashes, etc."

"Would it not be better if the collection of the ashes should be turned over to the street department, because of the great expense of the present use of the city's teams? We are convinced, however, that the collection of the garbage should continue under the control of the board of health."

"We believe that it would be for the best interests of the city if some way could be found to divorce the health department from politics. It would help toward efficiency. In the past two years a great deal has been done to systematize the work of the department but only a foundation has been laid. Such a work cannot be done by any board in two years."

"Of all the problems the board has had to face the milk problem is the greatest. The board has instituted improvements by the milk dealers looking toward a clean and wholesome supply for the citizens. Sealed milk is now delivered in clean bottles. The dealers need now to watch their supply, and we wish to pay them to employ a competent inspector to examine the farms and to report on the methods of the producers. Fines should be kept away from the milk supply. Screens are cheaper than disease."

made public today. The census of 1900 showed a population of 34,472,509. The increase of the last five years is slightly more than that of the preceding census period.

BISHOP BEAVER MEETS POPE
ROME, Feb. 4.—The pope today gave a private audience to Right Rev. Theobald, bishop of Springfield, Mass.

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—A man giving the name Roy L. Van Worner, was arrested yesterday at the home of Elliot C. Lee, a retired banker, in Clyde street, Brookline, on charge of larceny of $5000 from Mr. Lee. The police are looking for another man accused by Mr. Lee in the same transaction.

Mr. Lee charges Van Worner and the other obtained the money from him on Jan. 27 for books which they declared to be worth $29,000. The men, Mr. Lee told the police, represented themselves as having a commission from a millionaire of Pittsburgh to buy a library for him to cost $225,000.

The two men were alleged to have explained the purchase of the books as an investment, in the profits of which all three were to share. They told him if he would advance the $5000 to buy the books they would dispose of them at the $29,000 figure to the man in Pittsburgh.

The money was given the men, it is alleged, and the books were shipped to Mr. Lee from New York. Mr. Lee thought they were not worth $5000. He called in a book expert, who told him they could be bought in any good bookstore for $400.

Yesterday morning one of the men appeared at Mr. Lee's by agreement. Inspector Gilbert Angell of Boston police headquarters and Lieut. Rutledge of the Brookline police, who had been notified by Mr. Lee, were arrested in the house. They looked the man in the city prison in Boston for a hearing today. He said he is 24 years old and gave his residence as New York city. The police have a good description of the other man.

RECIPROCITY

Has Stirred Up the British Public

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The British public today through the morning newspapers will make its first acquaintance with the full text of the United States-Canada reciprocity agreement. It was communicated to the Colonial office at the end of last week by the governor-general of Canada and made available to the board of trade, but for some unexplained reason it was not communicated to the press until yesterday.

The unexpected wide scope and sweeping character of the agreement causes surprise and renews the perturbation of the unionist newspapers. These organs expect the unionists to drop all differences and to realize the gravity of a situation that calls for the greatest energy.

The Morning Post says: "Let the unionists drop all their schemes for the reform of the house of lords and fight to the death for imperial and national union."

The Daily Telegraph looks to Arthur J. Balfour as the only member of the party able to deal with the difficult situation. "Mr. Balfour," the Daily Telegraph says, "is greatest with his back to the wall, and he knows the height and breadth of this crisis."

All hopes that the agreement will not be ratified appear to have vanished from the minds of the political writers here, whose utterances now are confined to the means of dealing with the new situation.

The liberals take a contented view of the situation, regarding the agreement as having dealt the deathblow to the protectionist movement. Augustus Street chief secretary for Ireland, speaking at Bristol last night, said he was rejoiced to see free trade principles conquering all over the world. He contended that Canada was perfectly free to make the best bargain she could.

"Our business," he added, "is to wish her well in her enterprise."

Thomas Skinner, a director of the Canadian Pacific railway, in an interview, confessed that he views the agreement with mixed feelings. If ratified, he said, the agreement would have a disturbing effect on the Canadian continental railways. But the growth and development of the northwestern provinces of Canada were so great and rapid that he had no misgivings that this would more than meet the leakage arising from the agreement.

The principal United States transcontinental railway, Mr. Skinner added, "such as the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, in which a deal of British capital is invested, must benefit considerably. Indeed, the agreement is practically the realization of James J. Hill's persistent agitation."

On the whole, Mr. Skinner thought the agreement advantageous to Canada, and though politically somewhat dangerous, he was perfectly confident of Canada's loyalty to the mother country.

FINE PROGRAM MINSTREL ENTERTAINMENT AT ODD FELLOWS HALL

A fine minstrel entertainment was given in Odd Fellows hall in Centralville last night by the members of Centralville lodge, I. O. O. F., for the benefit of the apron table at the coming fair to be held by the Odd Fellows on Feb. 8, 9 and 10.

The affair was very successful and the members received several encouragements. The program was as follows: Grand overture by the entire company; song, "Come After Breakfast," J. E. McNamara; song, "The Christening," H. M. Howard; song, "Just a Song at Twilight," John J. Myers; reading, "As Beeswax Men," Russell Fox; song, "Meet Me Tonight in Dreamland," Albert K. Harding; song, "On My Way to Home," Charles Wells; song, "Old Fashioned Roses," William Wilson; song, "Way Down in Georgia," Charles Trombley; song, "All I Want is Love," Eugene McCarthy; grand finale by the entire company.

The end men were J. E. McNamara and Charles Wells on the tambourines, and Charles Trombley and H. M. Howard on the bones; E. Y. Brown acted as intercomedian, while Miss Eva Thompson was the accompanist.

The minstrel was in charge of John F. McNamara, while the entertainment was in charge of a committee from the apron table of the coming fair, Mrs. Charles Parker, chairman.

FELL FROM PIER DROWNED MAN BELIEVED TO BE POSTMASTER ASHURST

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 4.—A man who disappeared from the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel and is supposed to have fallen from the million dollar pier on Monday night, was Richard L. Ashurst, postmaster of Philadelphia, according to a statement given out by the police officials here last night.

Postmaster Ashurst came to this resort on Monday, Stephen Lacy, a chair pusher, said that on Monday night he rolled the missing man from the hotel to the pier, but so far as can be learned the aged man never came back to the board walk after entering the pier. It is believed that he became faint and fell into the ocean. He was 72 years old.

BOARD OF CHARITIES

Engaged in Tilt With Supt. of the Department

Two Committees Appointed to Keep in Close Touch With Workings of the Department—The Matter of an Auto Ambulance Was Discussed

There was more than a ripple of excitement at the regular meeting of the board of charities held last night when the chairman, Dr. James J. McCarty, suggested that Supt. Martin Conley was ignoring the authority of the board. The chairman wanted to know if Dr. Conley, who he appointed Dr. A. E. Bertrand as a district physician to succeed Dr. Pierre Brunelle, without saying anything to the board about the appointment. The chairman wanted to know, too, why it was that the department estimates for the year had been prepared and submitted to the appropriations committee without any member of the board having seen them or having been consulted relative to them.

The board voted to organize two committees, one on maintenance and the other on finance, in order to keep more closely in touch with the workings of the department. As it is now, the chairman said, there is nothing for the board to do but to elect a superintendent and approve bills.

Supt. Conley said that so far as the estimates were concerned he had asked the chairman to look them over, and had left a copy of them at the office of the board, for the chairman, Dr. McCarty said he did not see the estimates.

As to the appointment of a city physician it was stated that the city solicitor had once furnished an opinion to the effect that the superintendent had the power of appointment.

Dr. McCarty said that if the superintendent had the power of appointment he must also have the right to discharge and that he could decide for himself what he would do in the matter.

There came a time in the meeting when Supt. Conley and Dr. McCarty had a sharp quarrel. He said it appeared to him as if the board was ignoring the superintendent, and he wanted an explanation. Something was wrong and he wanted to know what it was. No direct answer was made to his inquiry and the board proceeded to establish the new committee.

He then proposed the two committees whose duties should be to become fully informed as to all phases of the departmental work such as the supplies, the help, etc. The board agreed that some such action was desirable and voted that the chairman appoint two committees which were then named as follows:

Committee on maintenance: H. W. J. Howe, Matthew Coupe and the chairman.

Committee on finance: Frank Ricard, John F. Burns and the chairman.

Dr. McCarty said there was no objection to having the committees start right out at work in the morning. He could not see that thus far the board had an authority to do anything but elect a superintendent and approve bills. The only way to get out of this was to "dig."

The question of an automobile ambulance as suggested by Commissioner Burns was discussed at considerable length. Messrs. Burns and Howard were in favor of the ambulance. Chairman McCarty and Mr. Coupe rather balked at the expense of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Howe believed that if the police department needed an auto the ambulance department certainly needed it more. He thought, however, that it was a matter for more study.

Mr. Burns argued that a speedy answer to an emergency call might be the means of saving a life.

It costs about $2500 to keep the horse ambulances, and the chairman and Mr. Coupe allowed that it would cost anywhere from $7000 to $10,000 to install an auto ambulance. Mr. Coupe said he would stick to the horse ambulance and Dr. McCarty was of the same opinion as Mr. Coupe.

It was finally voted to have Mr. Burns correspond with dealers and with other cities and the board will take the matter up at a future meeting.

Dr. Pierre Brunelle, Jr., having resigned his position as district physician to accept the board of health position, was given a vote of thanks for his services. Supt. Conley has appointed Dr. A. E. Bertrand to succeed Dr. Brunelle as district physician.

There are now 434 patients at the Chalmers street hospital, and Supt. Conley declared he needed at least 13 more beds, as there is great need of them. It was voted to make a requisition for another dozen single beds.

Thomas Connors, employed at the department's yard, appeared to argue his claim to compensation for the number of hours he works—59 a week. He said that he has to put in seven days a week. He maintained that the department is now doing more overtime than at any time. He said that 37 deliveries had been made during yesterday by the two teams. There were 433 deliveries in one week. His work at the yard he felt had been efficient enough to save money for the city.

The board decided that Mr. Connors was entitled to his pay for Sunday, and voted $2 additional for his weekly pay.

All monthly bills were approved and the next meeting of the board will be held at the Chalmers street hospital on Thursday of next week when the board will inspect the institution.

Is the Charge Against Van Worner

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—A man giving the name Roy L. Van Worner, was arrested yesterday at the home of Elliot C. Lee, a retired banker, in Clyde street, Brookline, on charge of larceny of $5000 from Mr. Lee. The police are looking for another man accused by Mr. Lee in the same transaction.

Mr. Lee charges Van Worner and the other obtained the money from him on Jan. 27 for books which they declared to be worth $29,000. The men, Mr. Lee told the police, represented themselves as having a commission from a millionaire of Pittsburgh to buy a library for him to cost $225,000.

The two men were alleged to have explained the purchase of the books as an investment, in the profits of which all three were to share. They told him if he would advance the $5000 to buy the books they would dispose of them at the $29,000 figure to the man in Pittsburgh.

The money was given the men, it is alleged, and the books were shipped to Mr. Lee from New York. Mr. Lee thought they were not worth $5000. He called in a book expert, who told him they could be bought in any good bookstore for $400.

Yesterday morning one of the men appeared at Mr. Lee's by agreement. Inspector Gilbert Angell of Boston police headquarters and Lieut. Rutledge of the Brookline police, who had been notified by Mr. Lee, were arrested in the house. They looked the man in the city prison in Boston for a hearing today. He said he is 24 years old and gave his residence as New York city. The police have a good description of the other man.

FELL FROM PIER
DROWNED MAN BELIEVED TO BE POSTMASTER ASHURST
ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 4.—A man who disappeared from the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel and is supposed to have fallen from the million dollar pier on Monday night, was Richard L. Ashurst, postmaster of Philadelphia, according to a statement given out by the police officials here last night.

Postmaster Ashurst came to this resort on Monday, Stephen Lacy, a chair pusher, said that on Monday night he rolled the missing man from the hotel to the pier, but so far as can be learned the aged man never came back to the board walk after entering the pier. It is believed that he became faint and fell into the ocean. He was 72 years old.

LAWRENCE ST. CHURCH

THE LAWRENCE ST. PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH

Primitive Methodists Worship in Cosy Structure

The Lawrence street Primitive Methodist church was opened for service on April 15, 1909, by Rev. Mr. John T. Ullom, who is still in charge. When Rev. Mr. Ullom arrived in this city four years ago, he took charge of the old Berean church in Moore street, with 23 members attending. The membership gradually increased and finally it was decided to secure larger quarters, so a site was purchased in Lawrence street near Woburn street, and the new church was erected. Rev. Mr. Ullom stated this morning that 102 people attend his church regularly and a few new members will be received next Sunday.

The members of the church are going to hold a fair, beginning Tuesday night and continuing till Saturday, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the building fund. A concert will be given each night and the following will have charge: Tuesday and Wednesday, Mrs. Thomas E. Wildes; Wednesday, Mr. Samuel J. Burt; Thursday, Mr. Joseph Miller; and Saturday, Mr. Ullom.

regulars to join in the parade here on April 15th.

Alderman Barrett suggested a city appropriation of $5000, and the general committee voted to ask the city government's representatives on the committee to bring the matter before the city council.

Gov. Foss has already been spoken to concerning the Lowell project, and Sen. Denny is also under fire from the Lowell legislators, who wish him to use his influence to procure Lowell the lion's share of the state appropriation. The committee from Lowell to appear in favor of the bill consists of Mayor Meehan, City Solicitor Duncan, Alderman Barrett, Councilman Rogers, the three G. A. R. post commanders, E. H. Pierce and any others who can be present.

GREAT SUCCESS

Was Annual Party of Friendship Club

The Friendship club lived up to its reputation in providing good times last evening, when it conducted with conspicuous success its annual mid-winter dancing party in Lincoln hall. The club is composed of prominent young members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute, and are the proud possessors of a splendidly appointed camp on the banks of the Concord river, where during the summer many have partaken of the Friendship's hospitality. But the social side of the club's life is not the only feature that is commendable, for the members take an interest in athletics and improvement of themselves physically. To meet the growing demand for the furtherance of the physical culture side of the club, the members are planning for the erection of an addition to the camp, to be used exclusively as a gymnasium, fitted up in first class manner, with all the appointments one sees in an up-to-date "gym." That the club has always entertained, with lavish hand at its summer home, was strikingly demonstrated last evening in the splendid attendance at the party. Indeed the unsettled weather detracted nothing from its success and throughout the evening jollity and good cheer reigned supreme.

Last evening's affair was a pronounced success in every respect, over 300 couples enjoying the pleasures of the dance to the music of Gilmore's orchestra. A feature of the evening was the rendition of the popular ballad, "All That I Want is Love," by Mr. James Lyons of the famous Paragon quartet. Mr. Lyons sang with orchestral accompaniment as the dancers walked about. Needless to say the number made a distinct hit. The dance order embraced twenty engagements, and with the exception of a brief interim, dancing was on until 12 o'clock.

Those who offered the delightful affair are as follows: General manager, William J. Fahey; assistant general manager, James E. Burns; floor director, John J. Tansey; assistant floor director, James J. Donnelly; chief aid, William T. Duggan; aids, John W. Daly, John B. Kirwin, James McNulty, James J. Kirwin, Charles P. Daly, Frank A. Burns, Joseph E. McMenamin, John J. Coughlin, Chas. P. Smith, John P. Carney, Francis P. Duggan, Terrence D. Leonard, John J. Guthrie, treasurer, Albert F. Meehan.

DEBT OF $4000

ON POLISH NATIONAL CHURCH WILL SOON BE PAID

The members of St. Casimir's Independent Polish National Catholic church expect to consecrate their new church in May when the bishop is to come here. In the meantime they are collecting $4000 the amount of the remaining debt. Rev. Paul Kuznik, the new pastor of the church, desires to erect a new parish house where chronic invalids among the foreign poor may be cared for. In March he will hold a bazaar to raise funds toward building such a house.

SOMERVILLE POLICEMAN PAYS HIGH PRICE FOR ICE CREAM

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Ice cream has gone soaring in Somerville. Patrolman Patrick J. Doolin stands on record as having paid the highest price for a plate of it in Greater Boston. It cost him $70 and took him just one hour to "lick it away" under his belt.

Doolin, patrolman of the aristocratic Winter Hill section, yesterday he was before Mayor Burns charged with absconding himself from his route and with neglect of duty. It was brought out at the hearing that Doolin was the guest of a servant girl employed by a prominent Broadway physician last Monday evening for over an hour. The mistress of the house had occasioned to go into the kitchen where it is said, he caught the bluecoat at his ice-cream feast.

Indignant at the officer's presence in her house, the lady reported it to Chief of Police Kendall and later identified Doolin as the visitor.

Doolin pleaded not guilty yesterday, but was found guilty and fined ten days pay on each charge, amounting to $70.

MISS MARIE BUCKLEY
Buckley & Martin Co. Tonight at the Merrimack Square Theatre

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A special feature at the concert to be given Sunday at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is the Paragon Four, a quartet of well known young Lowell men, who have but recently gone into professional vaudeville. They have prepared a special repertoire of the latest songs for this appearance before their friends in their home city, and are sure to be given a great welcome.

The members of the quartet are Robert M. Lindsay, James Lyons, Andrew Doyle and Alfred Lindsay, every one of them known as soloists of ability, an unusual feature of even the best quartets.

Another of the features for Sunday will be the appearance of that well known song writer and comedian, Gus Williams, who has previously been seen only at the houses in the largest cities. There will be numerous other unusual offerings also.

The pictures will be all new and of the best. There will be three complete concerts, a matinee at 3 and two performances in the evening, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively.

For next week the bill is one which will appeal particularly to discriminating patrons. One of the notable offerings is that of Miss Mildred Jewel, a reader of the future and of the past, a seeress of seemingly supernatural mental powers. She can and will answer any question asked her, and patrons will be given every opportunity to test her ability, or to learn something of their own affairs.

The Reckless Racklows are a quartet of musical cyclists who do some hair-raising stunts, and others which are extremely amusing. It is said to be an unusually excellent act of its kind.

Other features on the program will be Frenchell & Lewis, operatic singers; Charles Frazier presenting a European novelty, and Fred Meek, a splendid soloist.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The final performances here at the Opera House of "At the Old Cross Roads" will be given today with a matinee at 2.15, and an evening performance at 7.15. The efforts of this company have met with local approval as the company will assemble on the stage of the Opera House, has been excellent and the advance sale indicates crowded houses at both performances today. The prices for this engagement are 10, 20 and 30 cents for the afternoons, and 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents at night.

SALE OF SEATS FOR STOCK CO.

Tickets for all performances of "The Charity Ball," which is to be the opening bill of the permanent stock company at the Opera House, will be on sale at the box office next morning.

The company will give its initial performances here with a matinee and evening performance Saturday, Feb. 11th, and the play will be given each afternoon and evening of the following week. Active preparations are now going on for this production, the company will assemble on the stage of the Opera House this morning for rehearsal and the mechanical force is hard at work preparing the sets to be used.

Unusual interest in the plays to be given has been made manifest by the numerous letters received by the company in this matter. A continued expression of opinion on this subject will be welcome and an endeavor will be made to comply with them. Prices for the stock company are to be 50, 30, 20 and 10 cents at night, and 10, 20 and 30 cents for the matinees. Reserved seats may be secured one week in advance.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today's exceptionally strong program at the Theatre Voyons will be followed Monday by a bill that contains not only one but many feature hits. The comedy, "Tientsin, Hanger and Happiness" is an American picture and one of the best. "The Curse of the Red Man" is a story picture of the fall of a graduate of the Sherman Industrial school for Indians from a well educated college graduate to a drunken fighting bad Indian. Anglers will be interested in "Trout Breeding." Disinterested is a strongly domestic drama.

COLONIAL THEATRE

This is the last day of John Barrett and Co. in their beautiful playlet, "A Bit of Blarney." Hob and Bertha Hyde, "The Stage Struck Rube," Wesley Norris, the funny man, and "The Sixty Pers," singers and character clowns, artists. Tomorrow afternoon and evening sacred concerts will be given. Monday there will be an entire change of vaudeville and pictures.

The show at the Academy is a very pleasing one, and one that is full of comedy. McRae and Levering are expert cyclists and perform many difficult stunts. Fagan, Merrick and Thurston, the merry trio, the cop, messenger boy and coachman, warble some timely melodies that keep you in the right humor. Lewis Norton & Co. in "Betty's Haul," is a laugh from start to finish. Commencing Monday, the "Ter Louisiana Blossoms" will entertain in a full colored act that will be sure to please. The Hurleys are sensational acrobats. Deloiver and Davis will be seen in a laughing skit called "Chatter Chats."

DONALD MECK
At the Hathaway Theatre Tonight

OPENING NIGHT

Of Meek Stock Co., at Hathaway's Tonight

This is opening night at the Hathaway theatre when the friends of Donald Meek and Severin DeDeyn will turn out in large numbers to greet them once more, and judging from the advance sale, the house will be packed. Messrs. Meek and DeDeyn have surrounded themselves with an exceptionally clever company of players and the best stock performances of years in Lowell are promised.

"Brown of Harvard," a comedy drama by Rida Johnson Young, is the play in which the company makes its initial bow to the Lowell public tonight and week of Feb. 6.

"Mr. Meek and Mr. DeDeyn are well known to Lowell patrons and will maintain the same high standards that won for them such wide popularity a few years ago at the Academy and the Opera House. With the principal object of providing a place and class of amusement for the whole family, and for their better tastes, a place where dramatic art will be maintained at a high level, and where women and children may go, with or without escort in the afternoon or evening, the tone and atmosphere of the Hathaway theatre will always be that of a refined and well-ordered playhouse. Realizing that there are still many people, while they themselves confess to enjoying the theatre immensely, still persist that the environment is such that they are loath to send or take their children; Mr. Meek has made and will continue to make it his special aim, to so conduct the Hathaway that all such objections will be removed. Only those plays that provide wholesome and uplifting entertainment, presented by a company composed of the best talent available, will be produced. In keeping with this set policy, the rights to such well known successes as "Charley's Aunt," "The Wife," "Told in Full," "Man of the Hour," "Our New Minister," several well known and popular comedies and many other high grade plays have been secured.

LEE SHUBERT

RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF THE NEW THEATRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Followers of the drama discussed with interest today the possible effects on the policies and progress of the New theatre likely to result from the resignations of Winthrop Ames as director of the theatre and of Lee Shubert as its business manager, reported late last night.

The resignations, it was stated, are to take effect at the end of the present season, but the founders have not yet acted upon them. While it is considered certain that the founders will ask Mr. Ames to reconsider his determination to retire from the post which he has held since the beginning of the New theatre enterprise, two years ago, the director has given no intention to alter his decision. He is quoted, however, as announcing himself in readiness to further the plans of the founders in any way in his power and this expression, it is thought, will be the basis for appeals to him to remain at his present post for a time at least.

Mr. Shubert pleaded necessity of giving his entire time to his own amusement enterprises as the reason for his withdrawal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt ate a 15-cent lunch yesterday. He was the guest of his cousin, James Roosevelt, general superintendent of the Third Avenue railroad, at the lunch room of the company's employees. This is what the colonel ate: Chop with Green Peas, Bread and Butter, Banana, Fitters, Cup of Coffee.

After the meal he exclaimed, "Bully."

NEARLY FROZEN

WOMAN FOUND ON VERANDA OF HOUSE AT DOVER

DOVER, N. H., Feb. 4.—A young woman, who later gave the name of Fanna Aiden of Exeter, was found nearly frozen yesterday on the veranda of a Central avenue residence near Garrison hill. She was taken into the house of Charles Smart and partially revived with coffee, when the police who had been notified by telephone, arrived and took her to the station. There she was examined by City Physician Young, who ordered her removal to the Wentworth hospital.

She told the police that she was 22 years old and had made her home in Exeter the past 14 years. Two weeks ago she went to Boston, and Thursday she boarded the 1.15 train at Boston for Portland. She stayed only a short time at Portland, leaving there at 6 o'clock and coming to this city. Her money was gone and she did not know where to go, so she wandered up the avenue and decided to spend the night on the veranda, where she was found.

It was a bitter night, the thermometer registering 4 below yesterday morning. Her escape from death by freezing was narrow. Miss Aiden gave the names of two sisters and a brother she said she had at Exeter, and the Exeter police were asked to look them up.

DR. CHAS. HASKINS

MAY BECOME HEAD OF JOHNS HOPKINS UNIVERSITY

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Dr. Charles Homer Haskins, dean of the Harvard graduate school since a year ago and professor of history in Harvard university since 1902, was yesterday invited to become president of Johns Hopkins university, Baltimore, to succeed Pres. Ira Remsen, who has resigned.

Whether he will accept the presidency of Johns Hopkins, from which he was graduated in 1887, when only 17 years old, was not known at Harvard university last evening.

Dr. Haskins left Cambridge the previous evening for an absence of four days, leaving word at Prescott hall, where he resides, that he intended to visit Philadelphia and would return to Cambridge Sunday evening.

CHANGE IN FIGURES

There was some mixup relative to the cut in department estimates by the committee on appropriations and the reduction that was still necessary to make. Corrected totals given out by the clerk of committees this forenoon show that the further reduction necessary is $11,273.22, instead of $15,175 as was given in the report of Thursday night's meeting of the committee. The next and perhaps the last meeting of the committee will be held Monday night.

PATROLMAN LANE

HELD IN $3000

Connected With Police Department for 32 Years

Patrolman Daniel W. Lane, the second oldest member of the police department, in point of service, has rounded out his 32d year as a member of the department, but is just as active as when he joined the force and is regarded by his superiors as one of the most efficient officers on duty today.

During his long term of service he has seen many changes both in the city and in the manner of conducting police affairs. He has also figured in many big arrests, but when questioned relative to some of the big police affairs in which he has taken an active part he is reticent.

Patrolman Lane was appointed a member of the police force January, 1879, by Mayor J. A. G. Richardson and on the first of February reported for duty. His first assignment was to a beat in Centralville. At that time there was an unlimited license in Lowell and liquor saloons in Centralville were very numerous, in fact, in one building near Centralville bridge there were four licensed places.

The beats were very large and the hours the officers had to work were long. There was no police telegraph system, neither was there a patrol wagon in those days and when an arrest was made the officer had to lead his prisoner as best he could to the police station. It was anything but an enjoyable task to escort an intoxicated person to the Market street building and especially was it hard in handling a person who wanted to fight from the time he was placed under arrest until landed in a cell.

While some persons refer to the olden days as the happy days, they were anything but happy ones for the overworked members of the police department.

Patrolman Lane has the proud distinction of being one of the three men who was ever appointed a regular patrolman without having to pass through a probationary period. The other two men were John Stevens who was for a time one of the trustees of the public cemeteries here and John Furlong, who at the present time is at the soldiers' home.

The only member of the department at the present time who has been in service longer than Patrolman Lane is Patrolman Antonio Fago who does police duty at city hall.

In 1884 when Capt. Michael E. McDonald, of the city solicitor's office, was city marshal, Mr. Lane was appointed an inspector, but after performing those duties for some time he preferred regular duty and when he made the request to City Marshal Jacob Fayer he was returned to one of the beats. He was on duty in Merrimack square for nine years, spent 15 years patrolling Belvidere and for the past four years has been on duty at Tower's corner and Central street. He covered various other beats in different parts of the city for shorter periods of time.

On various occasions he has been commended for his bravery and noble arrests. He succeeded in capturing a notorious harness thief a number of years ago and it is only several months ago that he captured Bogas Muckelan who is now serving a life sentence in state prison. Muckelan shot and killed one man and wounded another on the post office steps last August.

In 1882 while Patrolman Lane was doing night duty in Centralville he was shot by a man named McManney, who afterwards made his escape from Lowell and never since has been heard from. The bullet shattered the index finger of his left hand, but the injury did not prove to be dangerous. McManney was arrested the day before by Patrolman Lane and after leaving the court room informed several of his friends that he was going to kill the officer who arrested him, but the men with whom he had talked did not think he was serious in his intention. McManney purchased a revolver and while Patrolman Lane was passing through Coburn street, the former drew the revolver and fired at the officer, the bullet lodging in the finger. With the assistance of friends McManney managed to make his escape and since that time the police have been unable to locate him. Patrolman Lane for over 15 years was one of the inspectors of meat in this city and it was mainly through his vigilance that much bad meat and beef were seized and the proprietors of the stores where it was found prosecuted.

50 years, 3 months and 16 days. The deceased leaves to mourn her loss besides her husband, 4 children, Henry, Napoleon, Josephine, Laura and Jesse Furlong, and Joseph Gachlaw.

DEMOLITION—Mary Demou and infant son died yesterday at the Lowell General hospital, the former passing away a few hours after the death of the son. Mrs. Demou was the wife of Nicholas Demou. The remains were removed to the undertaking parlors of Charles H. Melley & Sons in Market street.

MONTREAL MEN

ARE EXPECTED IN LOWELL NEXT WEEK

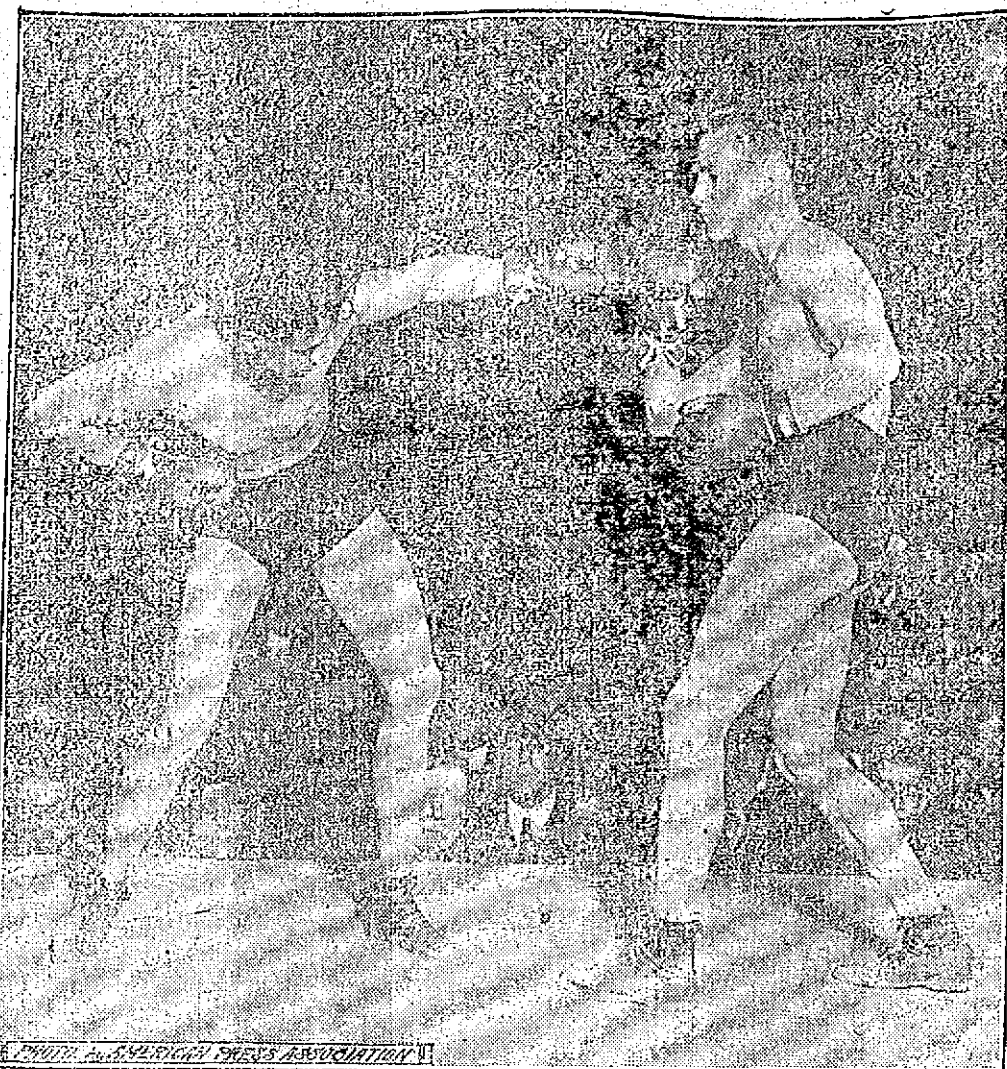

The officers general of La Societe Les Artisans Canadiens-Francais of Montreal, Que., arrived in Boston yesterday, where they were received by O. A. Bourke of Worcester, and organizer general of the organization. The officers will make a tour of different cities of Massachusetts and Rhode Island and they will be in Worcester, Thursday, Feb. 9, to attend the silver wedding of Mr. and Mrs. Bourke.

The Montreal visitors are expected in Lowell Monday or Tuesday of next week. Mr. Eugene Gravel, president general of the society will arrive in Lowell Wednesday, Feb. 8, and will visit the Artisans of this city a couple of days later.

FUNERALS

MORIER—The remains of the late William H. Morier, the second victim of last Saturday's accident, were tenderly laid in their last resting place yesterday. The funeral took place at 8:30 o'clock from the home of deceased's mother-in-law, Mrs. Albert Hamel, and was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased. A solemn high mass of requiem was sung at 9 o'clock at Notre Dame de Lourdes church by Rev. Fr. Lamotte, O. M. I., assisted by Rev. Frs. Chaput and Magan, O. M. I., as deacon and sub deacon. The choir, under the direction of Mr. H. A. Racicot rendered Perpetua's Requiem mass. Miss Alma Alexander presiding at the organ. As the body was being borne from the church, the choir sang De Profundis.

The bearers were: J. B. Julien, Joseph F. Montclair, Timothy Roy, Joseph Magras, Joseph Parent and Joseph Pelletier. The latter and the following assisted as a delegation of Court St. Antoine, C. O. P., of which deceased was a member: Donat Ducharme, Joseph Drainville and Wilfred Desmarais. The local Carpenters' union was represented by the following delegation: Michael Lee, D. St. Martin, Alfred Perron, Samuel Mitchell, Paul was in the family lot at St. Joseph's cemetery, Rev. Fr. Magan, O. M. I., reciting the committal prayers at the grave. The funeral arrangements were in charge of Undertaker Amelie Arthambault.

PAUL HOWARD

Fast Outfielder Wants to Return to Lowell

Manager James J. Gray of the Lowell team announced last evening that he had purchased Sellers, the Boston National outfielder, with the understanding that he is to swap him with the St. Paul team for Paul Howard, who is now in fine condition and desirous of returning to Lowell. Should the exchange fall through, Sellers will revert to the Boston Nationals. Sellers is a good man and undoubtedly St. Paul will make the swap as the management is aware of the fact that Howard does not care to play there. The Lowell team this far lines up as follows: Catchers—John Connolly, Chelsea; William Magee, North Andover; Edw.

J. Sullivan, Clinton, N. Y.; Sullivan and Huston, last season's catchers.

Pitchers—Frank Quinn, Albany, N. Y.; John Sullivan—New York city; Edward Managan, Manchester, N. H.; Sidney Sheridan, Hilon, N. Y.; Percy L. Still, Patchogue, N. Y.; Wolfgang Duval and Yount.

First base—W. H. Manning, Worcester; J. R. Shaw, Boston; John Luggan, Atlantic, Mass.; Alexander Taggart, East Orange, N. J.

Second base—Hypatrick Shortstop—Conney.

Third base—Albert Carroll, Uniontown, Pa.; Morgan Evans, Olyphant, Pa.; Bouttes.

Outfield candidates—Leon Sylvester, Brewster, Mass.; Charles Vaughn, Cambridge; John F. Witham, West Somerville; William Sney, Dorchester.

FANCY DANCES

GIVEN BY PUPILS OF MISS PERRIN

Miss L. B. Perrin, and her pupils gave a reception and ball last night in the Billerica town hall. There was a large and appreciative audience and the performance of the children, who executed the different dances in a manner that reflected great credit upon their teacher as well as themselves, was appreciated to the utmost.

The program of the fancy dances was as follows:

Spanish dance—Miss Dora Tutein. Irish reel—Miss Sybil Messer, Master Herbert Patterson, Miss Elizabeth Wright, Master Sumner Dole, Miss Ethel Dixon, Master Frederick Hadley, Miss Edna Dixon, Master Alison Dole, Miss Charlotte Prince, Master Raymond Morley.

Butterfly dance—Miss Helen Jones. Rose dance—Miss Margaret Lamprich, Misses Dora Tutein, Marion Williams, Doris Livingston, Bernice Dole.

The matrons were: Mrs. H. J. Patterson Mrs. N. H. Jones, Mrs. H. A. Lamprich.

Ushers: Albert—Sidney—Bull, Roy Loring Gleason, Harvey Percival Carr, Ernest Herick Weston, Robert Babbit Beers, Ralph Durgin Wright, Cleo Costello.

Floor director, Francis Raymond Lyons.

Music was furnished by Lavigne's orchestra, of Lowell, and during intermission lunch was served by Caterer Cruickshank.

DRACUT

The republican town committee of Dracut met last night in the town offices and the meeting was well attended.

The vote which was taken some time ago to set the time for the filing of signatures have been made as follows: Tuesday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, at Mahoney's barber shop, Collinsville; Thursday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, at those company's quarters, Navy Yard; Friday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, town office, Dracut Centre; Saturday afternoon, from 2 to 5 o'clock, at McManney's, Kenwood.

The sessions after the evening will be as follows: Feb. 21, at Mahoney's, Collinsville, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock p. m.; Feb. 22, at those company's quarters, Navy Yard, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock; Feb. 23, at town office, Dracut Centre, from 12 m. to 10 o'clock p. m.

Westford Man Pleaded Not Guilty to Another Conspiracy Charge

LAWRENCE, Feb. 14.—Fred Snow, of Westford, who was held for the grand jury on Wednesday last on a charge of larceny of $1275 and attempted larceny of $415 from the city of Lawrence in connection with the sale of paving blocks, yesterday pleaded not guilty in municipal court to a charge of conspiracy in the same connection. He was held in $3000 for a hearing on Feb. 10.

Snow is charged with conspiring to defraud the city in the paving block transaction. The other persons named as alleged conspirators were in court yesterday and were held for a hearing Feb. 10. They are Supt. of Streets Patrick Lyons, Phillip Holland, a contractor, John P. Kane, bookkeeper for Holland and Michael J. Flynn, a clerk in the street department.

WILLOWS LOST

N. Y., N. H. & H. Team Won Three Points

The N. Y., N. H. & H. team took three points from the Willows in a game in the minor league series last night. Croft of the winning team was the star performer with a single of 134 and a total of 310. In the game between the J. P. S. and L. E. L., the former team took two of the three points. Lateur of the J. P. S. was high man.

The Majestics captured two points and the total from the Pneumatics in the Lawson C. S. S. league. The scores were comparatively low.

The Clerks and Ledgers had it in a game in the Moody Bridge league series, the Ledgers winning two of the three points. The scores:

BOWLING LEAGUE GAMES

The league games scheduled for the Crescent alleys next week are as follows:

Catholic league: Monday, Y. M. C. U. vs. Alphies; Tuesday, K. of C. vs. M. A. C. (two games); Wednesday, Y. M. C. I. vs. St. Peter's.

Manufacturers' league: Tuesday, Boot vs. Lawrence; Tuesday, Bigelow vs. Lowell Machine shop; Thursday, Massachusetts vs. Appleton, and Tremont & Suffolk vs. Hamilton.

Minor league: Monday, Willows vs. J. P. S.; Tuesday, Cuckoos vs. Rambo; Wednesday, L. E. L. vs. Ironquels; Thursday, El Toros vs. N. Y., N. H. & H.; Friday, Rocklands vs. Lawrence Five.

A CLOSE FIGHT

The Y. M. C. I. and Alphies are still tied for first place in the Catholic league standing with the C. M. A. C. team in third position. The other three teams are hopelessly out of the race for first honors. Bryan Coleman retains first place in the individual standing, and Conn and Mullin are second and third respectively.

Joseph F. Donohoe broke a single string record by making 135 and also won the weekly prize with a total of 331.

The team standing follows:

SHRUBB WON

HE DEFEATED ST. YVES AND HAYES

BALTIMORE, Feb. 4.—At the Fifth Regiment Armory last night Alfred Shrubbs of England broke two professional running records. He made 10 miles in 32 minutes 55 seconds, beating the professional indoor record by 20 seconds. His time for the 16 miles was 1 hour 13 minutes and 1 second. The professional outdoor record was announced as 1 hour 20 minutes 4-5 seconds. Shrubbs ran against St. Yves of France and John Hayes of New York. He finished 3 1/2 laps on the eight lap track ahead of the former, who was second.

BOXING GOSSIP

Bill McKinnon has resumed training for his contest with Tommy Sullivan of Lawrence, which will be decided next Wednesday evening at the Queen City A. C. of Manchester, N. H. The Roxbury middleweight worked out in the gymnasium yesterday, before a large gathering of his friends. After going through his regular exercises of skipping the rope, shadow work, punching the bag, etc., he finished the day's work by sparring. He first went three rounds with Young Donahue, the clever Roxbury lightweight. He is using Donahue for speed and cleverness.

Actor Donahue took on Billy Rolfe, the South Boston middleweight, for three rounds. In Rolfe he has secured a cracking good partner for the South Boston boy boxes much after the style of Sullivan. Then came Andrew Morris, the New England heavyweight champion, who is training for his contest with Joe Thomas, which will take place at Portland, Me. tonight.

McKinnon and Morris went three rounds and it was not a friendly workout. They piled right into one another in the same fashion with which they would attack an opponent in a genuine contest. In this respect there was plenty of hard hitting and rough work. McKinnon's work greatly impressed the big crowd present. They left the gymnasium after the training stunts were over more than satisfied that their favorite would be in tip top condition when he entered the ring with the Lawrence crack. The entire program will be staged as originally announced. Johnny Gallant will keep his date with Kid O'Brien of Lawrence, and Jerry Heskill, the Roxbury soldier boy, will be on hand to encounter with Tommy Murphy who also battles from Lawrence.

NO CHANGE YET

IN THE NEW YORK SENATORIAL SITUATION

ALBANY, N. Y., Feb. 4.—William F. Sheehan talked with Gov. Dix yesterday concerning his candidacy for the United States senatorship and after ward left for New York. The governor said last night that there was no change in the situation, but he declined to discuss Mr. Sheehan's interview with him.

Mr. Sheehan is saying very little, but his friends say he intends to stick. Charles F. Murphy repeated only the governor's assertion that there is nothing new in the situation. Although surface indications are calm, efforts are still being made to win over enough insurgent votes to send Mr. Sheehan to Washington.

"Wait until Wednesday" was the word last night, but just what Wednesday would bring forth is problematical.

Yesterday's ballot was a perfunctory affair, with only 48 members present. Another ballot will be taken today, but no changes are expected.

EXTRA SESSION

Is Favored by Representative Wilson

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Congressman William B. Wilson favors an extra session of congress for the purpose of revising the tariff. Wilson, who represents the Fifteenth Pennsylvania district, has been for many years conspicuous in the labor world and became national secretary-treasurer of the

REP. W. B. WILSON

United Mine Workers. Mr. Wilson is the son of a miner and began toiling in the mines himself at the age of nine. He continued at gollyery work until he reached the age of twenty, when, because of his radical unionism he found it necessary to abandon the coal fields. Then he became a railway fireman and later helped to organize the United Mine Workers of America, for the presidency of which association he later became a candidate to succeed John Mitchell. When elected to congress for the first time, in 1906, Wilson caused surprise by defeating a millionaire lumber magnate.

DOWAGER QUEEN ALEXANDRA

ANGERED AT QUEEN MARY

QUEEN MARY OF ENGLAND

DOWAGER QUEEN ALEXANDRA

LONDON, Feb. 4.—It is stated that it has been definitely decided that the dowager Queen Alexandra will not attend the coronation of her son, King George. Almost immediately after the funeral of King Edward rumors of friction between the dowager queen and Queen Mary began to circulate in London. These rumors, of course, never got into print in the English newspapers, but they obtained wide currency nevertheless. Certain actions of Queen Alexandra have since then been regarded as of a character likely to try the patience of her daughter-in-law, if not of her son. She occupied Buckingham palace long after the time when, according to custom, the king and queen should have moved into it. She flew a specially designed, large and gorgeous flag, and she issued statements in proclamation form to her "dear people." Rumor has gone so far as to say that there will be two coronations in London and that Queen Alexandra she objected to the title of "queen mother," and it was dropped—aspire to outshine the wife of the sovereign.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Meeting to Discuss Them Called Next Tuesday

Those who want to get a word in relative to the traffic regulations proposed by the committee on municipal affairs of the board of trade would do well to attend the meeting to be held at the board of trade rooms on Tuesday evening of next week, when the new regulations will be discussed and, if necessary, amended before they are presented to the city council to become law.

There is a radical change in the proposed rules from what are now in existence. Under the proposed new rules no vehicle can stand in Merrimack street, between Kirk street and the Concord river bridge, longer than 20 minutes, while on Central street, the limit is from Merrimack to Warren street. All standing vehicles must face in the direction of the traffic on that side of the street. The new ordinance provides a substantial fine for violations. The committee is not trying to rush its ordinance through but desires a free expression of opinion before taking final action.

On Monday evening the executive committee of the board of trade will meet at five o'clock.

On Wednesday evening at 4:45 o'clock the regular monthly meeting of the directors will be held when four or five important matters pending will be discussed, while arrangements will be made to have a representation at the legislature on five or six bills of local importance.

PERSIAN MINISTER ASSASSINATED

TEHERAN, Persia, Feb. 4.—Sanied Dowleh, Persian minister of finance, was shot dead in the street today. His assassins, two Armenians, escaped for a time.

The assassination of Sanied Dowleh comes at a time of considerable political excitement in the Persian capital as a result of a bitter quarrel in parliament over the appointment of American financial advisers. Parliament voted on Thursday last to engage five financial experts from the United States to reorganize the country's fiscal system.

The minister of finance was one of the most influential of the Persian statesmen. He was president of the first parliament and has held the post of minister of commerce, minister of the interior, and minister of public instruction. He got into trouble with the shah, deposed in December, 1907, and was arrested. The following day he was released as a result of the intervention of the British minister. During the disorders in the summer of 1908 Sanied Dowleh took refuge in the Italian legation.

FATALLY INJURED BY LION

NAIROBI, British East Africa, Feb. 4.—George Grey, a brother of Sir Edward Grey, the British minister of foreign affairs, died during the night at the hospital to which he was removed following his encounter with a lion last Tuesday.

Mr. Grey, with several companions, was stalking lions near the Athi river when he separated from the others and was suddenly set upon by a large beast. He was badly injured before his friends could come to his rescue.

PLEADS GUILTY OF FORGERY

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—A plea of guilty to a charge of perjury was entered by Francis J. Wood before Judge Dodge in the United States district court today. Wood's arrest resulted from his testimony at the trial of William J. Kelley charged with aiding and abetting George Coleman in wrecking the National City bank in Cambridge. His alleged false testimony was to the effect that he had cashed a check of $200 for Mrs. Nellie A. Penn, which had been sent to Coleman in Kansas City and which Coleman had been unable to cash. Wood will be sentenced February 15.

KILLED HIS SISTER

EVANSTOWN, Ill., Feb. 4.—Confessing that he had deliberately fired the shot that killed his sister, Charles Mezell, aged 17, last night gave as his motive that he was enraged because the girl, who was 11 years old, had complained to him that her father had mistreated her. The girl was shot last night at the family home, after the father had been arrested, charged with an assault on her. Young Mezell then maintained that he shot his sister accidentally.

CHRISTMAS TAKES CHARGE

PUERTO CORTEZ, Honduras, Feb. 2, via wireless, New Orleans, Feb. 4.—General Lee Christmas, the revolutionary military leader, arrived here today with part of his forces to take over the administration of this city, evacuated several days ago by the government forces and held by the international troops pending the arrival of the revolutionists.

Christmas will remain in command at this place until the arrival of former President Bonilla, leader of the movement against the Davilla government.

The arrival of General Christmas and his men was marked by a cordial demonstration on the part of the populace.

ATTACKED WOMAN AND DAUGHTER

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 4.—August Wiers, a farmer, 27 years old, committed suicide by taking poison early today after shooting Miss Hattie Uplinger and cruelly beating the girl's mother, Mrs. Augusta Uplinger, with a hammer. Both women are in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital. The crime was due to jealousy.

SERIOUS CHINESE OUTBREAK

BATAVIA, Java, Dutch East Indies, Feb. 4.—There has been a serious outbreak among the Chinese on the island of Billiton. The capital, Tanjung Pandan, was looted and burned and the chief administrator and others murdered. Troops have been sent to the scene.

STOCK MARKET

Prices Were the Best of the Season—Increased Strength Shown by the Market in the Second Hour—Covering of Short Contracts Cause of the Increase

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The stock market showed an irregular tone at the opening with a mixture of gains and losses. American beet sugar, which advanced $\frac{1}{2}$ and Consolidated Gas, which was up $\frac{1}{2}$, were the strongest features. Reading and U. P. advanced fractionally. American Sugar lost $\frac{1}{2}$. Baltimore & Ohio $\frac{1}{2}$ and Central Leather and American Smelting $\frac{1}{2}$. Buying orders steadied the market after the opening and brought a general advance. American Beet Sugar was the feature, advancing two points. The market closed strong and at best prices of the session. Increased strength was shown by the market in the second hour, practically all of the active issues making material gains. The improvement was doubtless due to the covering of short contracts.

LEVEL BOULEVARD

To Unite Lowell and Lawrence, If Legislature Permits

Good Proposition From Lawrence Residents to Avoid the Big Hill on Lowell Street by Running Boulevard Along River's Edge

Work will be resumed on the state boulevard between Lowell and Lawrence in the early spring, and it is expected the road will be completed this year. The local labor unions are bringing up a movement by which none but American citizens shall be employed in the construction of that road.

The road extends from First street, Lowell, to Lowell street, Lawrence, and to avoid the Lowell street hill in Lawrence, which is a very steep one, a group of citizens of the down-river city, headed by L. E. Bonifant, have filed a petition in the legislature, which provides that a state road be built from Lawrence to Methuen. This road, if built, will run along the river's edge and through Glen Forest, to meet the boulevard at Methuen.

The members of the house and the senate will probably take a view of the place before taking any action on the question.

The act providing for this new road is as follows:

Section 1.—The county commissioners of Essex county are hereby authorized and directed to lay out and construct a highway commencing at the westerly terminus of Water street in the city of Lawrence and running thence westerly along the North bank of the Merrimack river to a point in Lowell street in the town of Methuen about one thousand feet east of Bartlett brook, so called. The said highway shall be completed within one year after the passage of this act.

Section 2.—The said commissioners may widen, straighten or relocate said way, and any person or corporation whose property is injured by any act done under the provisions hereof may have his damage assessed by a jury in the manner provided by chapter forty-eight of the Revised laws.

Section 3.—Upon the completion of the said way, the county commissioners of said county shall file in the office of the clerk of courts in that county a detailed statement of the cost of the said way in that county and of any land damages resulting therefrom, including an estimate of any damages not yet determined and within thirty days after the filing of said statements the city of Lawrence shall pay into the treasury of the county of Essex forty-five per cent and the town of Methuen shall pay into the treasury of the county of Essex fifteen per cent of the cost of constructing the said way and of the land damages resulting therefrom.

Section 4.—The county commissioners of Essex county are hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the said county, for a period not exceeding two years, such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act, and to issue notes and bonds therefor.

Section 5.—Upon the completion of the laying out and constructing of said way of the Massachusetts highway commission is hereby directed to accept and lay out as a state highway the way so constructed.

Section 6.—This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Hardly had we stopped reading the glad news of the groundhog and the prospect of a bright spring when we woke up this morning to the toughest day of the entire winter. A little snow, followed by a little hail, and finally a whole lot of plain rain which made ice for pedestrians on the sidewalks, and slush, knee deep in the streets, particularly at the crossings.

There was danger of falling, as one proceeded along the sidewalks and greater danger of wet feet which breed pneumonia. This was the kind of a day when the man who boasts of his $7 waterproof shoes and pool-pools the idea of wearing rubbers, found that there is no such thing as waterproof shoes on a slushy day.

The electric cars were badly handicapped this morning by the storm and most of them were off schedule time. The catch basins were overflowed and the water was running down the streets as a result the streets could not be drained and the puddles of slush and water collected at every corner.

DEATHS
GARD—Edward P. Gard, aged 25 years, died today at his home, 70 Rock street. He is survived by his mother, Mary J. Gard, his wife, Rose, one sister, Mrs. Arthur M. Kane, one step-sister, Madeline Mahoney, and two step-brothers, William and James Mahoney.

BRENNAN—Mary A. Brennan, aged 64 years, died this morning at her home, 224 South street. The deceased was an old resident of this city and was a devout and constant attendant at St. Peter's church. She is survived by one sister, Bridget.

FUNERAL NOTICE
BRENNAN—The funeral of Mary A. Brennan will take place Monday morning from her home, 224 South street. High mass of requiem at St. Peter's church. Time to be announced later. M. H. McDonough Sons in charge.

STRICKEN FROM ARMY ROLLS
LONDON, Feb. 4.—The name of Lieut. Former-Hesketh of the Ninth Lancers, who strangely dropped out of sight last fall, today was stricken from the rolls of the British army because of absence from duty without leave.

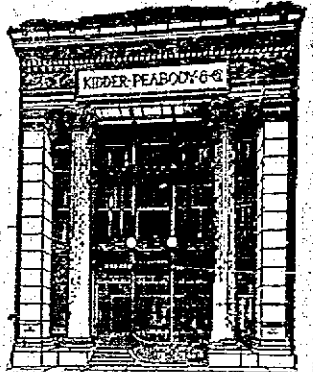

The lieutenant is the second son of Sir Thomas George Ferner and Lady Ferner-Hesketh and a grandson of the late William Sharon, United States senator from Nevada.

A world-wide search for the lieutenant instituted soon after his disappearance failed to reveal any clue as to his whereabouts. He is 28 years of age.

HELD IN $7500
BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Bail of $7500 was fixed today in the municipal court in the case of Roy Van Warner, the New York man who is charged with the larceny of $5000 from Elliot C. Lee of Brookline, through an alleged book swindle. Van Warner will be given a continued hearing next Thursday, by which time the police expect to have in custody his alleged confederate.

Van Warner and another man for whom search is being made are alleged to have obtained $5000 under false pretenses for the purchase of rare books for a Pittsburg millionaire.

At present prices conservative bonds net the investor from 4 to 5 $\frac{1}{4}$ %. We will send a list of such investments on request.

ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Reported to be Resting Comfortably at the Local Hospitals

Irene Bordeleau, the 15-year-old girl who was badly injured by the fall of a dumb waiter at the French American orphanage yesterday morning, and who is being treated at St. John's hospital, is reported a little better today, although her condition is still critical.

May Recover
Bertha Coutu, who sustained severe burns about the body on Dec. 31, while playing around the kitchen stove at her home in Woburn street, is resting comfortably at the Lowell hospital.

Gaining Strength
P. Noe Chaput, the only survivor of last Saturday's accident at Tyler park, where A. Hamel and W. H. Morice lost their lives, is gaining strength every day and is now on his way to recovery. He is still confined to St. John's hospital.

FINED $2400 FOR SMOKING

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 4.—A fine of $2400 for smoking—the heaviest fine ever decreed in Massachusetts for the offense—was imposed by Judge Henry W. Bosworth in the district court today upon the Springfield Street Railway Co., the chimneys of whose power house have aroused the ire of the city officials. For more than a year the city authorities have endeavored to compel the company to take some steps to put an end to the belching of dense clouds of smoke from the power house chimneys by invoking a local city ordinance dealing with the alleged smoke nuisance. The company claimed that the city ordinance was not legal and that the local court had no jurisdiction. The supreme court of Massachusetts settled the question of jurisdiction and a few days ago the company through its counsel pleaded guilty to violating the smoke laws. Today Judge Bosworth imposed fines of $600 on each of four counts. It is understood that the company will appeal to the superior court.

REVOLUTIONISTS SCORE VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The revolutionists in Haiti, according to a rumor which has reached Port Au Prince, the capital of the country, have captured Fort Liberty, Onanaminat, and Trou. This information was conveyed to the state department today in a telegram from American Minister Furness at Port Au Prince.

Two ministers of the Haiti cabinet, the minister adds, have left the capital to lead the government forces against the revolutionists. The secretary of war has departed from Port Au Prince on a gunboat with troops for Gonaives and the secretary of the interior is on his way to Cahobas.

DOCTOR RETRACTS CONFESSION

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—Dr. Pantchenko, the self-styled poison expert, today in court retracted his confession that he had deliberately murdered Count Vassili Boulurlin at the instigation of the latter's brother-in-law, Count O'Brien DeLassy. The accused physician asserted that he had been induced to make the admissions of guilt by promises made him by the examining magistrate at the original inquiry.

"AGED" EGGS SEIZED

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Five tons of "aged" eggs, shipped here from Chicago, were seized at the Boston & Maine freight terminal by federal officers today after a complaint had been made by pure food inspectors. The 10,000 dozen ripe eggs were shipped here by the Charles B. Ford Co. of Chicago to be sold to local bakers. The eggs will be destroyed.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 4.—Her clothing catching fire by coming in contact with a red hot stove, Mrs. Margaret Murdock, aged 79, was burned to death at her home here today. Mrs. Murdock was alone in her kitchen cooking at the time. Two young men tried to quench the flames by wrapping her in quilts but the bed clothing was of cotton and burned quickly. Mrs. Murdock was a widow and is survived by a son.

The republicans are showing the democrats how to play some smart political stunts.

It is reasonable to assume that the driven wells on the boulevard do draw from the wells on Varnum avenue. To forestall future suits for damages the city will have to extend the city water service to that district.

LET US CELEBRATE

It is well to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the march through Bulti-more in which Lowell gave the first martyrs to the cause of union. But it would be well also to celebrate the 75th anniversary of Lowell as a city which falls on April 11. The observance may well be postponed till later in the season when the weather is more favorable. It is desirable that this event should be properly observed in order to show the rising generation and our residents of recent arrival how fast we have grown and how great will be our city in the future if the same spirit of progress is shown by our citizens. It is well anyhow to stop and review our past while at the same time deducing lessons that will guide us to a glorious destiny.

FOR GREATER THOROUGHNESS IN THE SCHOOLS

With the variety, we might say multiplicity, of subjects crowded into the school curriculum, some of them non-essential or unnecessary, it is very difficult to attain thoroughness which alone will count when the school days are long gone by.

There are unimportant matters forced upon the attention of the pupils who are always ready to change from a difficult study to one that is more inviting. But the teacher in spite of every demand must not forget the superior importance of the great essentials, reading, writing, arithmetic, language and we might add drawing.

It is of very little use to cram the minds of the children with facts or knowledge over which they have little or no control. What is of supreme importance, however, is mental development, the training of the reasoning power, the memory and the perceptive faculties. Progress in arithmetic or in any of the essentials will depend upon the amount of work intelligently done. In most cases thoroughness comes only as a result of repetition continued until it becomes tiresome and then interrogation to ascertain whether the rules are properly understood or firmly fixed in the mind. It is in language studies that we find the most noticeable lack of thoroughness in our schools. That has long been the weak point of the schools, probably because of the limited number of exercises correctly executed. This is due to the lack of time, the large number of pupils that each teacher has to attend to; and, in some cases, to the fact that errors are not corrected in a manner that will prevent the pupils from repeating them.

It is not very pleasant for any teacher to keep the pupils working until weary on the same thing; but that must be done in many cases if we are to attain thoroughness. A great deal may be accomplished by individual teaching that is impossible in some of our schools where children are taught in the mass. In the little country school where one teacher has to attend to several grades, she has to do a lot of individual teaching, and as a result her pupils make good progress and are thoroughly grounded in the studies as far as they have gone.

It is all nonsense to suppose that the teacher can make studies so easy and so clear that the pupils can make progress without any hard work on their part. When the teacher tries to do this she will not attain the results work she ever so hard.

That "there is no royal road to learning" is just as true today as it was centuries ago, and the pedagogical methods that would make progress easy by a lot of theorizing are all wrong. The pupil makes the greatest progress in arithmetic, for instance who solves correctly the greatest number of problems that call for the exercise of his reasoning power and the rules he has already learned. Children do not follow a teacher in explaining the reason of any new process. Better teach the rule first and explain the reason afterwards. The same principle holds good in all other studies, and if this and the development of the mental faculties be kept in view rather than stuffing the mind with facts that soon slip the memory, there will be more real progress and more thoroughness.

So important is the matter of individual teaching considered in most other countries that many of them have a system under which pupil teachers are employed to work under the direction of regular teachers in closely following the work of children so as to correct quite promptly every mistake made. The plan is attended with good results. The pupil teachers are merely apprentices in the teaching profession and devote a part of their time to study, receiving enough pay to support them.

Another means of obtaining thoroughness is close inspection by officials appointed for the purpose. They may enter a school at any hour of the day, make note of what is going on, whether the work of the curriculum is being followed according to the time table and then examine classes to ascertain the progress made. At the annual examinations, the inspectors, not the teachers, conduct the examinations and mark the papers.

It is generally found that if thoroughness in any branch or number of branches be firmly insisted upon it will be forthcoming unless the number of studies be so great as to make this absolutely impossible. In the management of the schools now divided between the superintendent and a number of supervisors, it would seem that there is ample room for improvement in the line of increased thoroughness, and the more systematic development of the reasoning power, the memory and other mental faculties. If it be necessary to eliminate some of the non-essential or ornamental branches in order to secure greater thoroughness, that should be done. Nobody knows as well as the supervisors just where the knife can be used to reduce the number of subjects and increase the progress in all those that remain.

Let it be remembered too that some teachers make a hobby of particular studies at the expense of others equally important, while some others fall into the costly error of wasting valuable time by dilating upon every casual incident that comes up during the progress of the lesson.

If these two faults were corrected there would be more time left for effective work on the essential branches.

ROBERT WATSON SHOT HIMSELF

Admitted to Bar in Washington, D. C. Prominent Physician a Suicide

Mr. Robert Watson of this city has been admitted to the bar in Washington, D. C., where he passed the examinations, obtaining a high rank. Mr. Watson is employed as a stenographer by the government. As stated in last evening's Sun, Mr. Watson attended the Georgetown law school at the capital, graduating therefrom with honors. Mr. Watson is a capable, clean-cut young man, who has been eminently successful at the capital, and who will undoubtedly make a success in the legal profession. His friends in Lowell, who are legion, are gratified to learn of his success.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—Leaving a note asking forgiveness, Dr. Stanley Curran, a prominent and well-to-do Harlem physician, shot himself in the head today in his residence. His wife found him lying dead on a couch, a bullet hole in his temple and a revolver at his side.

Dr. Curran suffered an attack of illness recently but had completely recovered, it was thought, and no reason could be assigned by his family or friends for his act.

FIREMEN'S FUND

COMMITTEES OF THE ASSOCIATION WERE APPOINTED

The members of the Firemen's Fund association met last night in the Central Fire station in Palmer street and elected members of various committees. W. P. Maher, J. J. McCarthy and T. A. Kappeler were chosen to the finance committee. The relief committee was made up of the following named: Ward 1, T. S. Mansur; Ward 2, J. J. Carthy; Ward 3, F. A. Abbott; Ward 4, J. McGuinness; Ward 5, J. H. Spence; Ward 6, J. M. Bernier; Ward 7, F. J. P. Cunningham; Ward 8, H. S. Gardner; and Ward 9, W. A. Dolan. Drs. J. V. Meigs, J. B. O'Connor and F. H. Smith were chosen to the board of surgeons. The vote on the amendment to article 15, of the by-laws, taken two weeks ago, was announced, as follows: Number of ballots cast, 143; number necessary to a choice 72; number voting "yes," 127; number voting "no," 16.

ADMIRAL SPERRY

WAS LAID TO REST IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, retired, who died at the naval medical hospital here on Wednesday, was buried in Arlington cemetery yesterday. President Taft and the secretary of the navy, Mr. Meyer, as well as a number of army and navy officials, attended the funeral services. The casket was covered with the United States flag on which were the admiral's sword, belt, cap and epaulettes. The casket was taken to Arlington cemetery on an artillery caisson and was escorted by a battalion of sailors and marines.

POLICE OFFICER

WAS ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF LARCENY

SOMERVILLE, Feb. 4.—Patrolman William E. Taylor, of the Somerville police force was taken from the line of duty on a charge of larceny this morning and was locked up in the station charged with larceny. It is alleged he took a number of storage batteries from the Boston elevated railroad and secured $5 from a local store.

WELLS GOING DRY

Varnum Ave. Residents Want City Water

At the meeting of the water board last evening a petition was received from residents of Varnum avenue for an extension of the water mains from the present terminus to the city line in Varnum avenue. Appearing in behalf of the petition several of the residents of that section complained that their wells have gone dry and attribute the cause to the driven wells along the boulevard. The board postponed action until the next meeting.

The board considered a request from the Engineers' union that the pay of assistant-engineers be raised from $2.50 a day to $3 a day, and instead of a seven day schedule a six day schedule be put into effect. Action was postponed.

The monthly bills were approved.

CHELMSFORD

The Boys' club of the Centre was successfully inaugurated at its rooms in the Odd Fellows building. Three of the rooms have been adequately furnished and present a most inviting appearance. The gymnasium is equipped with punching bags, dumbbells, boxing gloves, etc.

At the progressive game tournament yesterday afternoon there were about 20 boys present. The first prize, a box of candy, was won by Harry Russell, who made six points. Louis Lovering was second with five points.

Thirty-six boys attended the evening gathering from 6.15 to 8.30. Progressive games were played and the first prize, a box of candy, was won by Everett Harris, who made 17 points. Frank Shanahan was second with 16 points.

The boys were much pleased with the success attending the opening and expressed their pleasure to Principal E. E. Harris, under whose charge they were.

The educational side of the club is not to be left out, and it is intended to devote Friday evenings to a lecture on some practical subject.

Tournaments of some sort will be arranged every two or three weeks. This morning a party of the boys visited the Lowell Textile school, accompanied by Principal Harris.

LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL

THE LOWELL HIGH SCHOOL

Its History, Principals and List of Carney Medal Scholars

The Lowell High school is an institution of which Lowell may well feel proud. It has the honor of having been the first permanent educational high school in Massachusetts. The general high school of today must, in accordance with the law, prepare for colleges, scientific schools, and Normal schools, and the Lowell High school has a splendid record in this direction. With its manual training and commercial courses it offers a splendid opportunity to boys and girls who are industrious and ambitious students.

From the Lowell High school went great men and brilliant characters, including Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, Gov. Straw of New Hampshire, Gustavus V. Fox, assistant secretary of the navy during the Civil war; Hon. Frederick T. Greenhalge and others.

The time has arrived when more room is required at the high school and the school board has recommended to the city council the purchase of land on the north side of the city for the purpose of enlarging the main building. It is believed that a building on this land will double the capacity of the main building and the next development which will make the school of more practical service to the people will be a broad course in domestic arts and sciences.

The early days of the school are well described in the following extract from a history of the school written by the present superintendent of schools, Arthur K. Whitcomb, and further on Principal Cyrus W. Irish tells of its recent development:

School's Early History

In 1824 statute law, which had once required a high school for every town of 100 households, had been changed to make such a school obligatory only where there were 4000 people, and an investigation of Lowell's population was made in 1829 to see if there were that number in the town. It appeared that there were not, but the sanguine and progressive school committee prophesied that there would be by the next year, and recommended a high school. They did not get it in 1830, but in 1831 such a school was opened in a small building on the corner of Middlesex and Eliot streets, a building which had previously been the counting room of the Hamilton corporation. Thomas M. Clark, afterwards for many years Episcopal bishop of Rhode Island, was chosen teacher, and his salary was fixed at $700, a sum surprisingly large when we remember that the late Joshua Merrill had just finished a grammar school in the same building at $300. Forty boys and girls had passed the examination given by the school committee, "after due public notice," and comprised the school. Outwardly there was little of which to boast. The house which could have cost no more than three or four hundred dollars, was so small that its forty pupils, a six-plate stove, and a small desk left scant room for the teacher; the school judged by our standard was high only in name, yet on one bench in the room sat Gen. Benjamin F. Butler, on another sat Gov. Straw of New Hampshire, on another sat Gustavus V. Fox, assistant secretary of the navy during the Civil war, and of the first class of eight there was no one who lived to manhood, who did not afterwards become eminent in his chosen profession or business.

The school thus established has the high honor of having been the first permanent educational high school in Massachusetts, and perhaps in New England, and the first of any kind outside of Boston, established under the law of 1826. The school was absolutely free to all who were competent to attend it and many who were not, and in it corporal punishment was never allowed.

The next year the school had eighty students, an assistant was engaged, and to get more room the location was changed to the upper floor of the Mason school. Driven from this place by the needs of the grammar school it tested the comforts, or lack of them, of temporary quarters in a half dozen different places to find at last a permanent home in a new house built for its use on Kirk and Anne streets, in 1840. The new house, which was proudly declared to be "one of the largest, most convenient and beautiful buildings which have anywhere been consecrated to the cause of common schools," was six and a half stories high, and so finished that each floor had one large room in which the pupils sat for study and for recitation to the principal, and two small rooms in which assistants might hear recitations. Previous to this time the two sexes had occupied the same room, but they were now divided into separate departments. Moody Currier, afterwards governor of New Hampshire, who had been principal of the whole school since 1836, was made principal of the male department, and Lucy B. Bennett, principal of the female department. The girls entered from Anne street and occupied the upper floor, while the boys entered from Kirk street and had the lower room all to themselves. Why the girls were chosen to do the climbing while the boys were permitted to saunter in on the first floor is not stated. Besides the two principals there were two assistants, Mr. J. S. Russell, teacher of mathematics, first elected in 1836 to serve until 1850, and J. W. Brown, teacher of languages. For a part of the year there was also a temporary woman teacher. These assistants taught alternately up stairs and down, the sexes being at first kept apart in recitation as well as study, but a little later they recited together, though still rigidly separated in study periods. Two writing teachers, both men, were also employed "out afternoons" per week. The sessions of the school were from 9 to 12 a. m. and from 2 to 5 p. m. and the school year lasted, with brief breathing spaces at Christmas and in April, from the first Monday in September to the last Saturday in July. Recitation periods were short, thirty minutes at the most, and each teacher was obliged to have many classes. Happily, however, their long school years, their extended sessions, and their many recitations were compensated for by increased and liberal salaries. The male principal had $1000 per year, the woman principal $600, and the two men assistants $700 each.

With a better house and better school came larger classes, as is always the case. In 1838 the whole number on the time books was 232, the average belonging 119, and the average attending 91. In 1842 the first full year in the new house there were 333 names on time books, 200 for average belonging and 170 for average attendance. In 1852 the committee state that the average attendance for the past ten years had been 255.

With the high school, however, as with most things, it was the darkest just before the dawn. In 1852 the two department system was abolished, Mr. C. C. Chase, who had been principal of the boys' department since 1845, was made principal of the whole school, only annual examinations were allowed, and studies were arranged in two courses, an English course of three years and a classical of four. Four years later the committee note that six young men had entered college from the high school, the first record of the kind. The qualifications of those who were allowed to enter the school continued to be pitifully low. For this fact the committee scold parents who push their children too fast, grammar masters who outdo them but poorly, everybody indeed except themselves, although the fact which they mention as a matter of credit to others, the fact that of 110 admitted to the high school, but 36 had an average of more than 50 per cent, and 67 had an average of less than 38 per cent, is really a proof that the blame is wholly theirs, since the examination was conducted by them and the standard of admission was wholly in their hands. However, in 1858 the standard of admission was raised to 60 per cent, and a little later to 65 per cent, arithmetic having credit for 25 of the 100 points which would constitute a perfect rank. Diplomas were given this year for the first time, the graduates numbering 24 in the first year, and 31 in the second. In 1860 the committee boast of 13 men in college of whom all are in the first half of their class, and three are class leaders. The folly of making arithmetic so prominent was remedied by the committee of 1865, which gave twenty points each to arithmetic, grammar, history, geography, reading and spelling, and 10 to penmanship. All entrance examinations were conducted by the committee.

In 1891 it was decided to enlarge the building on Kirk and Anne streets, and the school was removed to the Mann school house and the annex thereto. In these cramped quarters numbers decreased rather than increased, the average number being 102 in 1892 being 449, yet 91 were graduated, being over 20 per cent of the number belonging, a proportion exceptionally large. A happy return to a new house was made in 1893, and numbers picked up at once, no less than 311, the largest number ever known, entering from the grammar school. The new building had fifteen school rooms, two laboratories, and two lecture rooms, the regular school rooms alone having 735 seats. This number, however, became inadequate in only a year or two; in 1897 it was found necessary to utilize land at the head of stairways for recitation purposes, and in 1899 the library and chemical lecture room were dismantled to give space for regular class room work. The average number belonging had increased to 314, a gain of almost 100 per cent in eight years, with 95 as a per cent of attendance. Evidently the annex now building on Paige street can come none too soon.

Manual Training

Although manual training is only one of the several courses which may be taken in regular high school work it is different enough from anything the city has had heretofore to make it merit a separate paragraph.

In the broadest use of the term any work done with the hands is manual training, and penmanship, drawing, etc., are all included in it. In the restricted sense in which the term is generally used, it means wood-working of various kinds, forging and machine shop practice. Its object is not to make craftsmen, but wholly to train the mind through the hand. Educators are now practically unanimous that some phases of mental discipline can be reached better through hand work than in any other way, and that some manual training is a necessity if the best results are to be obtained. A course in manual training was first opened in Lowell in December, 1893, with evening classes of grammar school pupils, in a room in the old city hall. It was popular and successful from the start. In 1895 manual training as a part of high school work was made obligatory by statute, and in loyal compliance with the same a course was arranged here, a special teacher was employed, and work was begun at the beginning of the fall term in two rooms in the Old Fellows block. The course combined two academic studies with the hand work, and has been popular and successful. In 1896 it was necessary to seek for more roomy quarters, and for a new home the old Moody school house was first rented and then purchased. This fall we confidently expect to see the department housed in still better quarters in the annex now building on Paige street. Such courses in other cities which have good equipment for the work usually attract about one-third of all male students; they are in line with the best thought of our best men, and we believe ours is second to none. In equipment, in fact, as far as we are gone, the school has no superior in New England.

Recent Development

Principal Cyrus W. Irish spoke interestingly of the establishment of the manual training and commercial courses in the high school. He also spoke of the school board's recommendation to the city council for the purchase of land on the north side of the city for the purpose of enlarging the main building. In part, he said, the first movement in the direction of industrial training was the establishment of the manual training course which was, at first, of two years' duration. On its removal to more commodious quarters, on the completion of the annex, the course was increased to four years, the central work in forging, blacksmithing, chipping, filing and machine work was added.

"The manual training department is so well planned that it could easily be made a basis for development along the lines of trades."

The next important step in increasing the usefulness of the school was taken with the establishment of a commercial course, at the time when the annex was completed.

"Many commercial courses had been established in various high schools throughout the country, and most of them were far from successful. Lowell had the opportunity of studying the causes of failure, and avoiding those causes as far as possible."

"The commercial course was established as a four years' course, in which bookkeeping, penmanship and spelling comprise one of the subjects for three years. The work in bookkeeping is all done through well constructed business offices. The shorthand and typewriting begins the third year, and continues through the fourth. During the first year of this course, the pupils receive five periods each week, but the second year recite ten periods a week, five in shorthand and five in typewriting."

"Those taking the complete course are able to do from 100 to 125 words a minute in shorthand, while the exceptional pupils do much better. In typewriting, the average is from 30 to 50 words a minute at graduation."

"There are careful and thorough courses in allied subjects, like commercial law, commercial arithmetic and commercial geography. The work in French in this department is much more practical than in the other departments of the school, and at this close of the second year's commercial work in French, pupils are able to write ordinary business letters in the French language."

"The history taught in the commercial course is taken up from the commercial point of view, with emphasis laid on the part the business world has had to do with the rise and fall of the big nations of the earth."

"The equipment of this department is very complete. There are fifty new typewriters, as well as the usual devices for duplicating, manifold, letter filing, etc."

"Boys and girls who are industrious, careful students, and remain the entire four years, are earning wonderfully good wages. The girls are getting as high as from $15 to $18 a week, after two or three years' experience, and there are a few boys from this department who have positions in Washington, paying them from $1000 to $1500 a year."

"The general training required in this course, in addition to the special commercial work, renders the course an ideal one in preparing for the civil service examinations."

"The next step to be taken in the development of the high school will evidently be as revolutionary as any change in the past. The school board has unanimously recommended to the city council the purchase of land on the north side of the city for the purpose of enlarging the main building. It is believed that a building on this land will double the capacity of the main building."

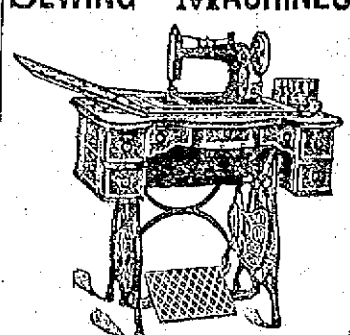

"With so much interest centered upon industrial and vocational training, it is difficult to say, at just this time, in what direction the high schools of the country are likely to develop in the near future. The policy of the state board of education seems to be to establish separate trade and industrial schools. Still, the first function of the high school will always be to serve, in the best way possible, all of the different needs and desires of the young people in the community. The general high school of today must, in accordance with the law, prepare for colleges, scientific schools, and Normal schools."

"In addition to this, they may, and do, have courses of a more practical kind which will appeal more directly to the interests of those who are not able, or do not desire to go to the higher institutions. It is probable that with an enlarged building, the next development which will make the school of more practical service to the people, will be a very broad course in domestic arts and sciences."

Principal Irish

Mr. Irish is a graduate of the Lowell high school in the class of 1881. In the fall of that year, he entered Harvard college, where he remained four years, winning distinction in chemistry, and graduating with the degree of bachelor of arts.

In October, 1885, he became principal of the Pawtucket grammar school, retaining this position until April, 1889, when he was elected a teacher of science in the high school, becoming head-master of that school May 1, 1897.

Mr. Irish has written many articles on educational topics for different journals of education, and has addressed many teachers' organizations. He is also the author of a textbook on chemistry.

At a recent meeting of the high school principals of the state, Mr. Irish was made chairman of a committee of five, for an investigation of the high school curriculum, with the view of re-organization, to better meet the needs of the community.

STILL ON PROBE

More Arrests May be Made in Lawrence

That the state police have not stopped their investigation into local municipal affairs with the arrests of Lyons, Holland, Flynn and Kane, is indicated by the further probing that was made by State Officers Flynn and Barrett at the city hall Thursday afternoon, says the Lawrence Eagle.

The two state officers spent some time, it is understood, at City Auditor R. J. Shea's office, looking over bills paid by the city.

They were active again Friday morning and remained several hours at the district attorney's office in the local county court house, presumably deliberating on a further plan of action.

It is probable that more arrests will be made before the trial of the conspiracy cases next Friday.

A rumor is current that the state police are inquiring into the methods that were employed by candidates for city elective offices, in canvassing and securing votes at the democratic caucus on the day before the new city council was inaugurated.

At 12:30 P. M. State Officer Flynn departed hurriedly from the court house, leaving State Officer Barrett in the district attorney's office. Mr. Flynn was seen taking a train for Salem, and it developed that he had gone to the district attorney's office at Salem, where he was in conference with District Attorney Atwell. It is assumed that the district attorney was made acquainted with the evidence gathered by the state police. As the evidence is said to be of a greater latitude than what the district attorney had expected, it is now understood that he is seriously considering the calling of a special grand jury session to probe the matter to the bottom, just as soon as he cleans up the criminal cases in superior court at Salem.

"Unwarranted and unjust," was the way in which Paying Inspector Barry characterized the attack on the paving bill of Contractor Philip Holland for $165 which was held up at the meeting of the city board Thursday night.

Mr. Barry said he made out that bill myself for Mr. Holland; and I know that it was a just one, and that the amount which was charged in the bill was no more than fair pay for the work which was done.

"The bill was for repaving around hydrants. These hydrants were in a wretched condition and they are still leaky. When the original paving was done, the hydrants were leaking, and before the grouting between the pipes had a chance to set, the water filled in the crevices and the result was that there was nothing to hold the stones in place."

"Noticing the condition of affairs, I ordered Mr. Holland to do the work and after a work was done, I told him what I thought he ought to charge."

"Those hydrants are still in a wretched condition. They were responsible for the repaving that had to be done about them because the water spilled the fresh paving."

THREE HEARINGS

ON SCHOOL MEASURES HELD IN BOSTON

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—The committee on education had three hearings yesterday.

Representative Bothfield of Newton appeared in favor of his bill to provide that children may attend school in cities or towns where they reside, if they are without parents or guardian.

He explained that such children might under the present law be denied admittance to the schools.

The petition that the town officials of Sherborn may make an arrangement with the officials of Buxton Academy to provide a high school course and may compensate therefor, was favored by ex-Superintendent of Schools, Robert C. Malden and Norman B. Douglass of Sherborn. The opinion of the attorney-general will be asked as to the legality of the proposed arrangement.

Representative Leonard F. Hardy of Huntington favored his bill to provide that the board of education shall reimburse the state for less than $1,000,000 valuation for high school buildings.

Mrs. Frank W. Page of Boston opposed the bill on the ground that it would give the state board of education supervision over more high schools and she did not think their power should be extended.

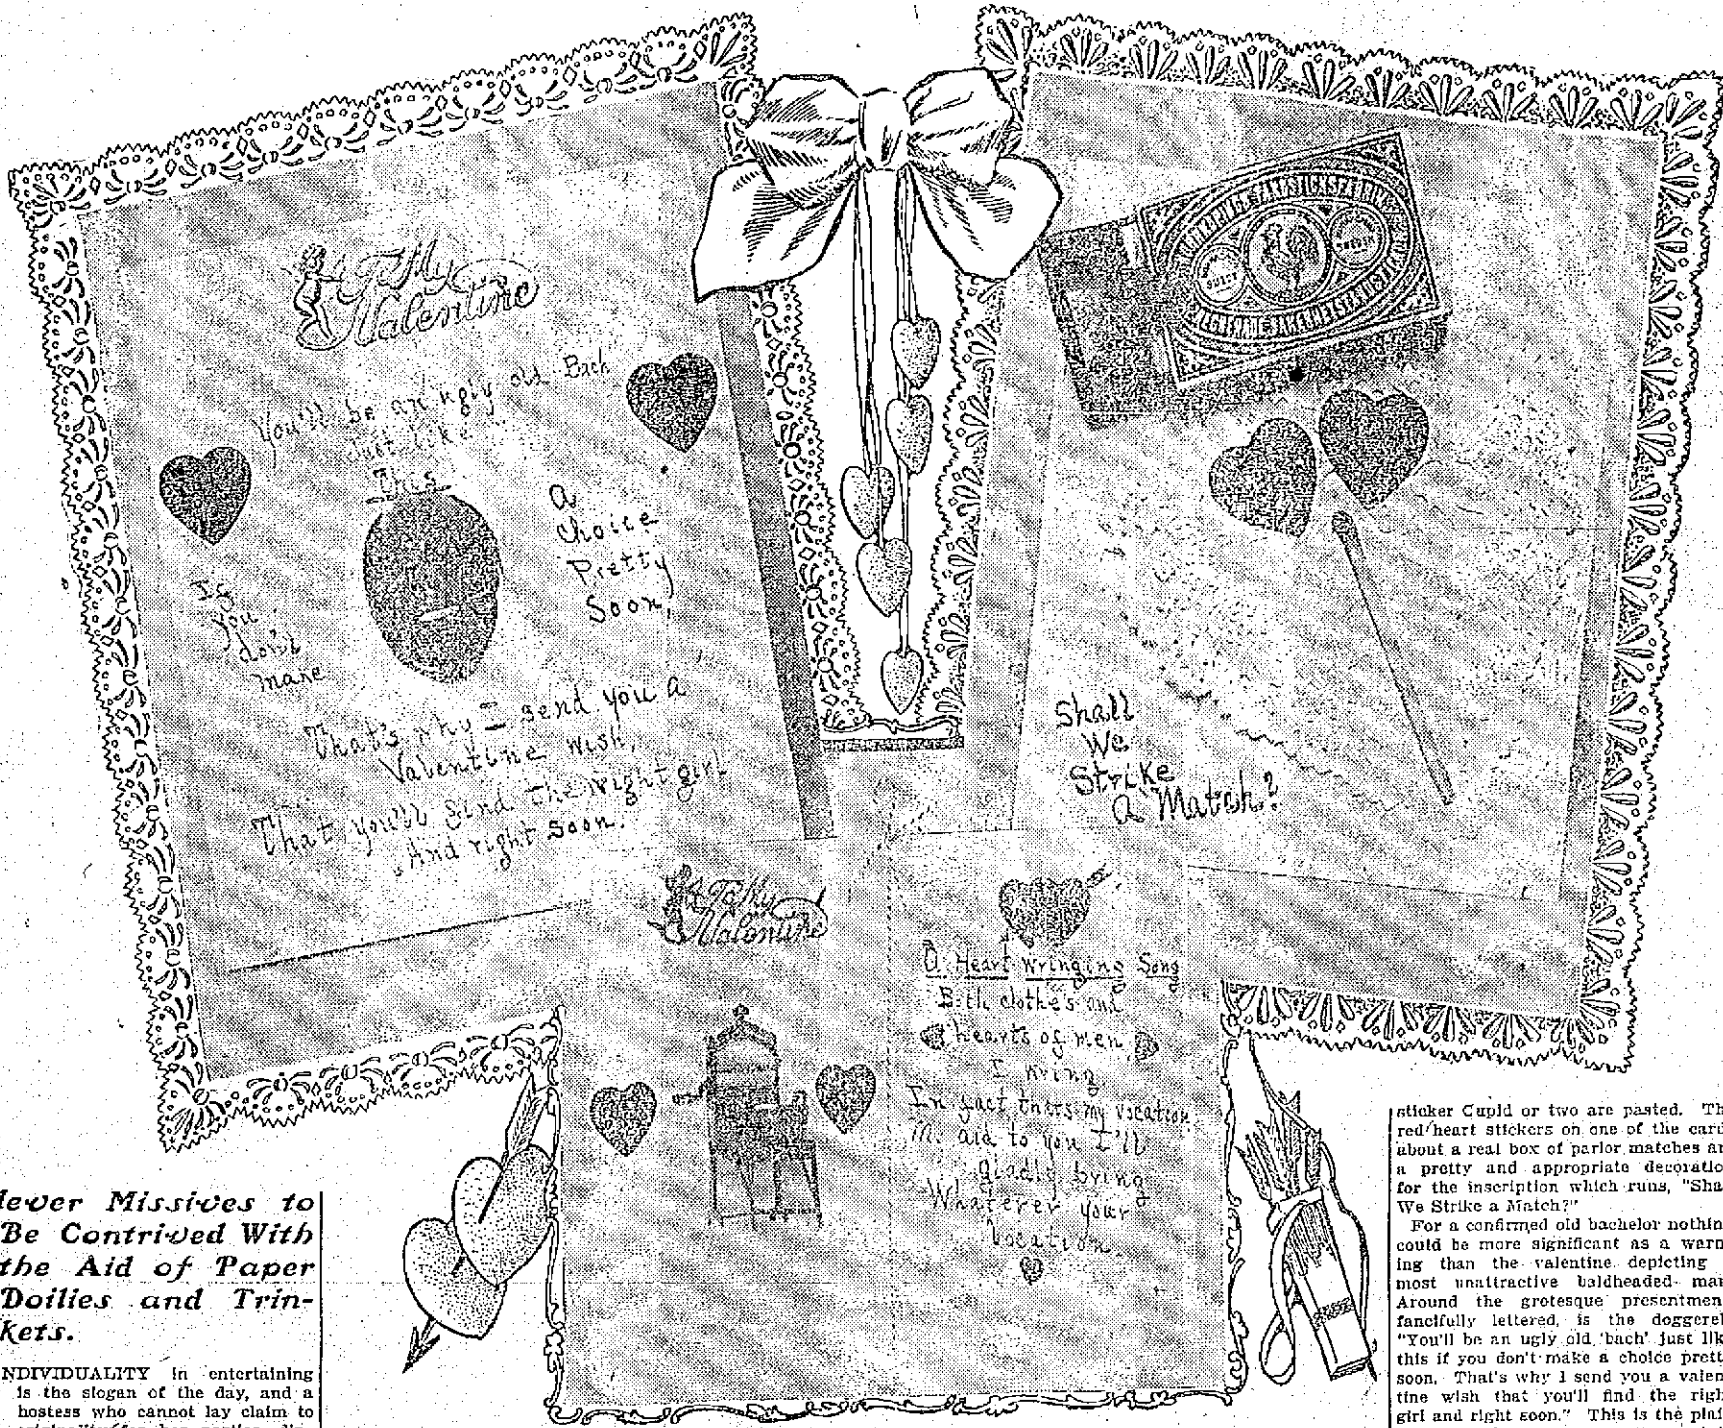

FUNERALS

HAWES—The funeral of Mrs. Martha J. Hawes took place yesterday from her residence in Cambridgeport. Services were conducted by Rev. H. A. Greene, D. D., and there was singing by the Grace Universalist church quartet. The bearers were John J. Highland, Charles S. Tewksbury, Olin Byam and Wm. O. Dickinson. Burial was in the East Cambridge cemetery, under the charge of Undertaker Geo. W. Healey.

CANNON—The funeral of the late Miss Alice E. Cannon took place Friday afternoon from the undertaking rooms, 115 Bridge street. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery, where Rev. John J. Shaw, pastor of St. Michael's church, read the committal service at the grave. Funeral Director James W. McKenna in charge.

TAYLOR—The funeral of George Taylor took place yesterday afternoon from his home in Tewksbury, where W. Stephan, pastor of the Worthen Street Methodist church, officiated, and the bearers were: Fred O. Marshall, George A. Willey, George E. Doty and Leonard L. Steele. Miss E. Stearns and Mrs. W. L. THE WAY TO MAKE CUPID FAVORS AND VALENTINES Clever Missives to Be Contrived With the Aid of Paper Dollies and Trunkets.

INDIVIDUALITY in entertaining is the slogan of the day, and a hostess who cannot lay claim to originality for her parties, dinners and teas is dismissed by her ungrateful guests with rather curt criticism as "slow." The valentine party must inevitably be an affair of the heart, but Cupid should be given an up to date role to perform in the sentimental drama.

At a valentine party this fortnight evening of February he is to assume the role of aviator and will "blow in" to the company aboard an airship decked in all the trappings of his dangerous art—hearts, arrows and wedding slippers—held to the craft with bright red ribbons. The airship to be used is one of the handsome big machines that are designed as toys for the little children of the rich. By the ingenious construction of pulley strings attached to the gasoline tank under this particular airship the guests by pulling the ribbons will send down a shower of Cupid favors.

As this hostess is familiar with the fads and follies of her guests the supper menu cards will be in valentine form suitable to each of them.

It is not necessary for a hostess to spend much money or time on the making of these missives, but she must have clever original ideas. The homemade valentine requires only the following materials: Some white cards, lace paper heart shaped doilies, one package of red sticker hearts, white sticker hearts and a package of Cupids. In addition to these she will need whatever little toy objects she decides upon using for her valentine motif. These may be purchased at shops where a specialty is made of holiday goods.

One of the girl guests at this party an avowed suffragette of the very militant type, will receive a card on which is pasted the cut out picture of a pair of loudly checked trousers. Cupid hovers at the top of the card waving a banner inscribed: "To My Valentine, Who Will Wear the Trousers, Dear, You or I?"

The illustrations give some original notions for the home valentine product. The heart shaped lace doilies are mounted in several instances over the square white cards, and in the center of the sentence "To My Valentine" a sticker Cupid or two are pasted. The red heart stickers on one of the cards about a real box of parlor matches are a pretty and appropriate decoration for the inscription which runs, "Shall We Strike a Match?"

For a confirmed old bachelor nothing could be more significant as a warning than the valentine depicting a most unattractive baldheaded man. Around the grotesque presentment, fancifully lettered, is the doggerel: "You'll be an ugly old 'bach' just like this if you don't make a choice pretty soon. That's why I send you a valentine wish that you'll find the right girl and right soon." This is the plain unvarnished text—not put up into poetical form. The illustration best shows how it is done.

The coquette will probably send to some poor suffering victim of Cupid the heart wringing valentine. In this device a toy patent clothes wringer is pasted between two red hearts, and the heart wringing song is as follows:

Both clothes and * of men I wring—
In fact, that's my vocation.
My aid to you I'll gladly bring
Whatever your vocation.

*Here red heart stickers take the place of the written word.

History of the Common Pin

The common, ordinary garden variety of pin has been quaintly and pointedly termed "the emblem of attachment," and it is a wonder to think that women ever lived without these attachments, for there is hardly an hour of the day when we do not have the need of pins. They hold many of our hats together, and a woman has even been known to keep an obstreperous shoe button in place with their aid. The ordinary pin was first invented and brought into use about the beginning of the sixteenth century, though there were pins made of metal in their present form as early as 1545, and in that year an English statute was passed called "an act for the true making of pynnes," which limited their cost not to exceed 6 shillings and 8 pence a thousand.

Previous to this pins were made of boxwood, bone and silver, but only the rich, of course, could afford to buy these. The poorer classes having to use pins made them of common wood, like our skewers.

When pins first came into use they were a favorite New Year's gift. Men presented them to the girls of their acquaintance much as they do flowers in these days, or husbands gave their wives an equivalent in money, which was called "pin money," an expression which later on grew to be known as the amount of money which a husband laid aside for his wife for her private expenses.

OUR FRIEND THE MIRROR.

A girl's mirror is a wise and candid friend if she studies it with an honest desire to remedy what she finds amiss. Dull eyes and a rough fallow skin are nature's plea for more fresh air and exercise, and no cosmetics can take the place of these, but a careful survey of herself will show her many small ways in which the "general effect" of her appearance may be improved. It would be well if women talked occasionally before a looking glass, for this would cure them of many mannerisms which annoy their friends. Vivacious girls often make quite unnecessary display of teeth and gums when speaking. Some twist their lips into all kinds of fantastic shapes or frown ferociously. If they talked before their looking glasses, they would soon mend their ways.

Blouses For the Coming Season

GRAY CHIFFON OVER PINK SILK.

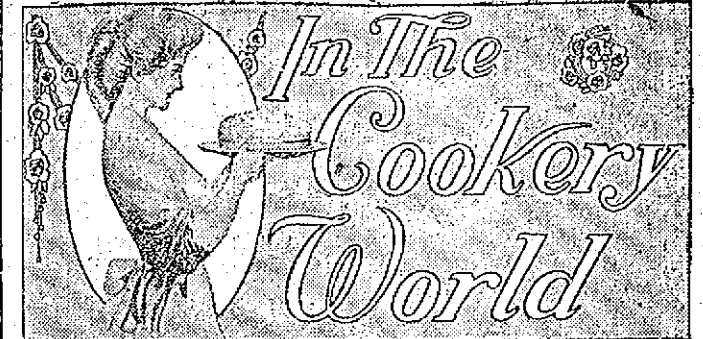

THE separate waist matching the coat and skirt suit has this season taken the place so long occupied by waists of lingerie materials. Now that the peasant style is such a favorite it is possible for any woman clever with her needle to have several of these waists at small expense. This model is easy to fit and make and has the added advantage of requiring a small amount of goods.

The blouses illustrated are four of the best creations of their kind turned out by French dressmakers and are models that will be copied extensively for spring waists. The cluny lace blouse is a chic confection, the new of the other blouses are of silk and two of chiffon. Very smart is the waist of soft finished taffeta in a rich shade of grass green, a fashionable color now. It is made on peasant lines, with tiny buttons set in rows on front and sleeves. The arrangement of pin tucks in front to give fullness over the bust is a good idea.

One of the chiffon blouses is mounted over lace and trimmed with self colored satin and buttons, the yoke being made of rows of this silk put together with entro dext of shantilly lace. The other blouse, of gray chiffon over pink silk, is exquisitely graceful and is trimmed with folds of pink chiffon in collar and cuff style.

A DELICIOUS CAKE.

A DELICIOUS cake is made by using English walnuts and raisins together. The recipe calls for half a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, half a cupful of milk, two eggs, a cupful each of raisins and chopped nuts and two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted several times with half a level teaspoonful of soda and a rounded teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Beat the butter to a cream, add the sugar gradually and continue beating until a light creamy mass is formed. Add the yolks of the eggs, beat again and stir in the milk. Sift the flour several times with the soda and cream of tartar and add the raisins and walnuts. Then gradually stir the moist mixture into it, and when a smooth batter has been formed fold the whites of the eggs through it after beating them to a stiff froth. Bake the cake in broad shallow pans for thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. One teaspoonful and a half of baking powder may be used instead of the soda and cream of tartar.

TURKEY SCRAMBLE.

One-half pound of the meat left after slicing; fry crisp; pour over this five well beaten eggs to which have been added one-half a cup of milk (scant) and a pinch of salt. Scramble this in a hot skillet until firm. Serve on browned crackers.

LIVER, SPANISH STYLE.

Place in a baking dish a layer of sliced onions, then slices of liver cut thin and rolled in flour, on liver a layer of onions, a medium sized tomato sliced, two small green peppers chopped fine and pepper to season. Two or three slices of bacon or a tablespoonful of lard may be substituted for the bacon. Cover with boiling water and bake in a moderate oven for an hour, adding water if necessary.

CINNAMON TOAST.

Cinnamon toast is a Quaker tidbit. Prepare thin slices of moist fresh toast and spread them while hot with a mixture of butter and sugar, half and half, and a sprinkling of cinnamon. Serve very hot.

COMPANY ICE CREAM.

A high authority gives the following recipe for company ice cream: Prepare about a quart of ordinary white ice cream, adding to it two tablespoonfuls of scraped and melted chocolate (sweetened) and a teaspoonful of vanilla. While freezing stir in a cupful of preserved chestnuts—the kind put up in sirup. Serve the cream in a neat mold with plain whipped cream through which a small quantity of chestnuts minced very fine has been folded.

A PIQUANT SAUCE.

A piquant mustard mixture for cold meats, fish and the like has a tablespoonful of olive oil to every four tablespoonfuls of dry mustard. This is blended until the mixture is smooth, and then a tablespoonful each of paprika, onion juice and sugar are worked in. When the mixture has been beaten until it is light it should be bottled.

GROWING OLD

Why do some women grow old and others keep the secret of perpetual youth? Here is the answer.

One reason why the average woman wears out, grows plain before her husband, is that, through a mistaken idea of duty, she lays out for herself at the beginning of her married life a scheme or plan of duty and employment for her time, every hour filled with work, with rare and short periods of relaxation.

This she follows religiously for years, feeling that she has done her duty, because every household event occurs regularly, and on time, while she soon becomes a mere machine, a thing without life or soul or volition. She settles into a rut and goes round and round and round on the same track.

everlastingly in the same tiresome way. Can any woman keep brightness, originality of thought or speech or even mere Prattiness with such a life? And without these things how can she keep her husband and growing children full of loving admiration, which is the strong chain by which she can bind them to her? How bright and jolly the neighbor's wife seems when she calls. In nine cases out of ten it is because the surroundings and talk of your home are variety to her and rouse her to originality and brightness of speech.

Cultivate a broad attitude toward the world and its people. Let your interests be far reaching and there will be renewed vigor when it comes to solving the problem of the home.

PRACTICAL BUREAU COVERS

WITH the old mahogany furniture which every woman aspires to in these days the flimsy little bureau scarf of lace and sheer linen is decidedly out of the picture, and from a hygienic standpoint the fewer fluffs in the sleeping room the better.

Bureau covers that are meeting with favor this season are of pique in shades to match the coloring of the apartment, or they are of pure white, and each cover for bureau, chest or table is of the same material. This gives an individual touch to the room not afforded by the covers of lace and linen.

A pique is chosen of a fine but firm weave, and the covers are cut to fit the tops of the pieces they are designed to adorn. The ends do not hang over as they did in other years. The cushion top may be cut from the corners.

One design is used on all the covers, that of a buttonhole scallop for the edges done in mercerized cotton after the scallop has been heavily padded with darning cotton. White is, of course, the most serviceable color, but the shade harmonizing with the room is much liked. The newest idea is to work the scallops in white and use the room tint as an outline. Old blues, Chinese red, dull rose or warm browns give pleasing results.

Most women take their sets to the shops to be stamped. And it is well to remember that about a half inch of material should be allowed for shrinking above the regular dimensions of the covers and enough of the edge to work the scallop nicely. And, by the way, do not cut the scallop until the work is completed, and to insure the life of the scallop the edge should be first run on the sewing machine before buttonholing.

The monogram or initials of the owner appear on these covers. For a dressing table or bureau the marking of the monogram should go across the front so it comes in the middle of the length or it can go immediately in the middle of the cover.

For a table the marking goes across the front edge in the middle or diagonally across the front right hand corner. Pincushions this year are smaller than they have been. Those four or five inches square or three and a half by six are in good proportions. The edges are scalloped like the covers and the monogram placed directly on top in the center of the cover. The pincushion is usually of satin, and the pique top buttons over it so that laundering of the piece is easy work.

TOO MUCH RUBBISH.

It is a blessed thing indeed that none of us can take our rubbish to another world, for if we could some of the many mansions would be little better than lumber rooms.—Jean Ingelow.

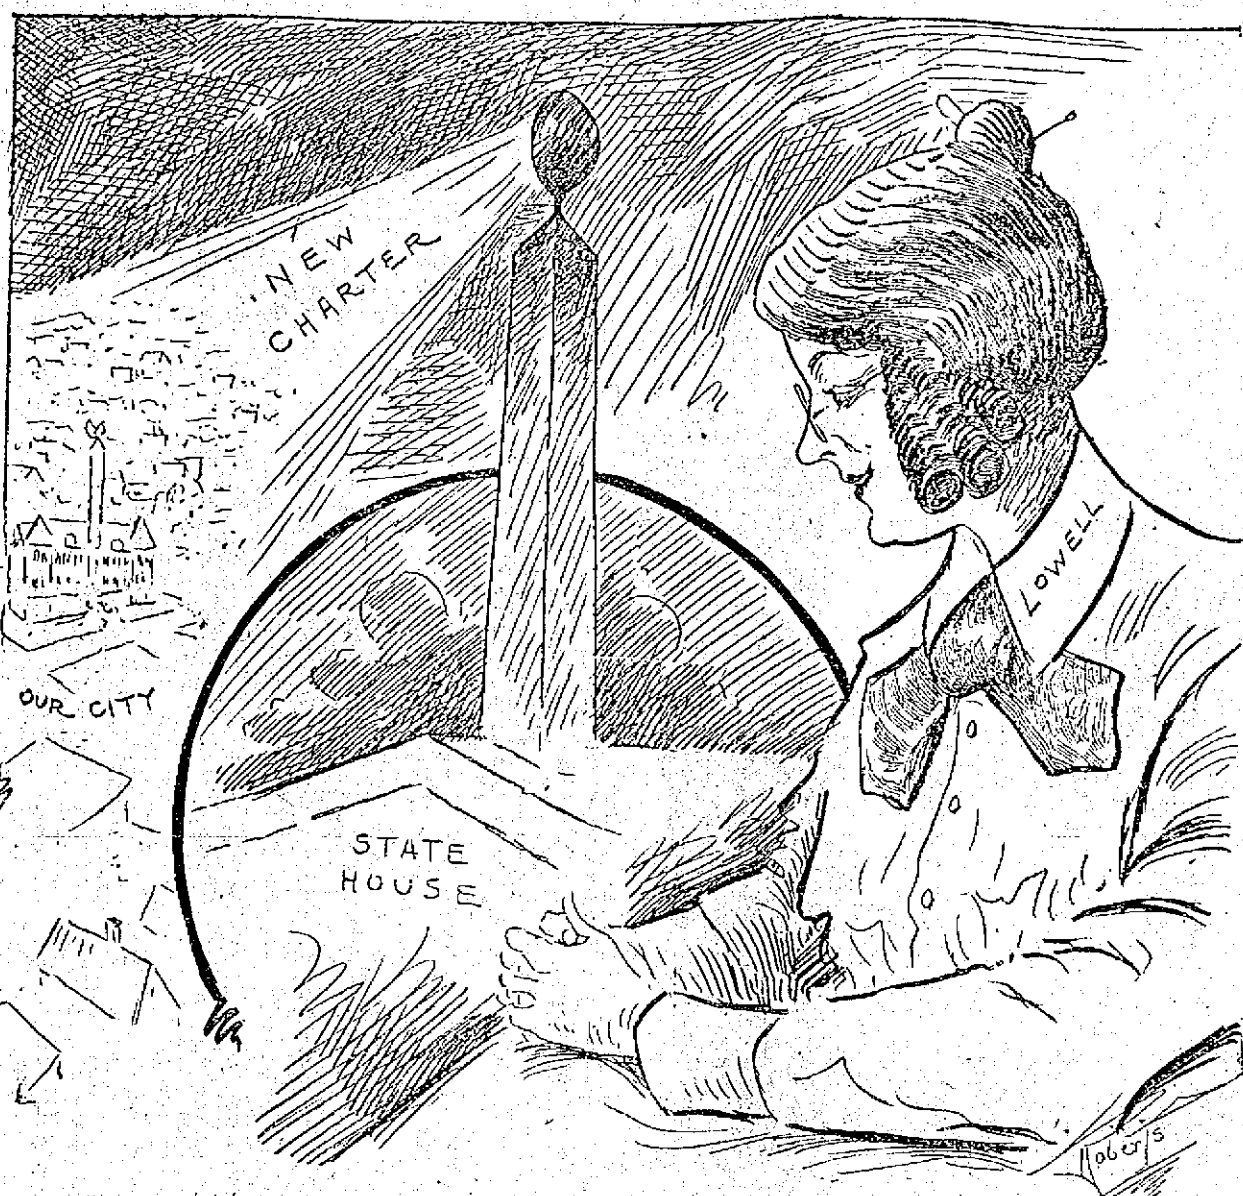

Dame Fashion's Plans For Spring

OF FOULARD SILK AND CHIFFON.

THE dainty frock pictured shows the new fad for combining foulard silk with other fabrics. The lower part of the skirt of this frock is of green and white foulard, the silk appearing in various trimming touches and on the tunic of pale green chiffon yelling pale gray satin. Rows of green and silver trimming braid show through the green chiffon, and silver gimp edges the foulard trimmings.

The turban is of pale gray straw, with silver trimmings and green plumes at one side.

POPULAR LEGISLATION AT BEACON HILL WILL GIVE OUR CITY A BEACON LIGHT WHICH WILL ILLUMINE THE WAY TO MODERN, PROGRESSIVE AND UP-TO-DATE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

KILLED BY FUMES

Man Was Found Dead Under His Automobile

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—William Winrow, aged 41, who lived with his wife and child at 134 Willow avenue, Somerville, met with a peculiar and tragic death yesterday afternoon.

Winrow, who conducted a small grocery store at the corner of Willow and Morrison avenues, Somerville, left his place of business between 3 and 4 in the afternoon, leaving a small boy in charge of the store.

He did not say where he was going or what his mission was, and when he did not put in an appearance at 5 the youngster became uneasy and remarked the absence of his employer to several of the customers.

Inquiries at his home revealed the fact that he had not been there, and some neighbors suggested that perhaps he had visited a small shed in the rear of the grocery store and in the shed was Winrow's automobile.

The boy was dispatched to the garage to notify Mr. Winrow that his presence was needed at the store because of the usual rush of business at that hour.

Loud pounding upon the door brought no response and the boy then tried the windows. Every window was closed and the door bolted on the inside.

In the meantime a man sent in an alarm from box 428 which summoned the fire department.

Before the arrival of the fire apparatus, however, the neighbors who had gained admittance to the garage, after searching through the semi-darkness, discovered the body of Mr. Winrow lying upon the floor beneath the machine.

The unfortunate man was pulled from under the auto and every means employed to bring back consciousness.

Capt. Hutchins of ladder 2, one of the first places of apparatus to arrive in response to the alarm, brought the body of Winrow out into the open air and resorted to every known means of resuscitation.

There was no response and medical aid was summoned, but it was too late, as the man had been dead for some time.

Medical Examiner Durell, who was notified, gave it as his opinion that death was caused by inhaling the gasoline fumes, which caused suffocation.

The theory was advanced last night that Winrow, in tinkering with the machine, started the motor, and the gas from the cylinders, having no means of egress because of the tightly closed windows and doors, suffocated him as he lay beneath the automobile.

AT ST. PETER'S

"Holy Hour" Service Largely Attended

The "Holy Hour" service at St. Peter's church last evening was attended by a large congregation, notwithstanding the inclement weather.

The theory was advanced last night that Winrow, in tinkering with the machine, started the motor, and the gas from the cylinders, having no means of egress because of the tightly closed windows and doors, suffocated him as he lay beneath the automobile.

The program was excellent, both choir and organ. The hymn, "O Salutaris," sung sweetly by the choir, was a beautiful English hymn to the Sacred Heart, rendered by Miss Margaret Knowles, a rising young soprano from the Immaculate Conception choir.

Mrs. J. W. McKennedy presided at the organ. The program offered by the sanctuary choir was of a high order of excellence, reflecting much credit on the work of the director, Rev. John P. Burns. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament was given and the services closed with the singing of the hymn of praise.

SUPT. WELCH

ENTERTAINED Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS LAST EVENING

Intensely interesting stories of police life, and anecdote after anecdote, that kept the young men of the "Get Together Club," at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., till after 10 o'clock last night, placed the meeting as the banner one in the many good and instructive addresses given this season by the management of the club.

Supt. Redmond Welch of police department was at his best, and was never more appreciated. His fund of reminiscences seemed inexhaustible, and each event described increased the interest and suggested others. The time when Supt. Welch can be the best guest again.

The next meeting of the club will be held next Friday night, when Mr. Lewis E. MacBrayne will be the speaker.

MOTORS BURNED OUT

And Caused Great Trouble for Boston & Northern Road

Water Was Thrown Against the Fields by the Wheels Which Short Circuited the Motors—The Cars Ran on Very Good Time

The snow, sleet and rain storm this morning caused a great deal of inconvenience, trouble and delay on the local lines of the Boston & Northern, but the company had nearly all the snow plows out and with the assistance of a big gang of men who were kept busy keeping the switches and rails clean the public was given much better service than was expected. The principal source of trouble was the burning out of motors caused by the water thrown by the wheels against the fields which short circuited the motors.

With the exception of the early morning traffic the cars on the different lines made very good time. Every now and then a car would be disabled but the starters had foreseen that there would be considerable motor trouble and just as soon as a crippled car entered the square there was another car to take its place.

The Boston & Northern kept several plows running all night over the different routes in order to keep the rails clear and shortly after four o'clock there were 14 plows in commission, each being an average of one plow on each route.

These plows did good work in clearing the rails of snow, but considerable trouble was caused by the sleet which froze on the rails and greatly impeded the progress of the cars. Then the rain started to fall and in a short time the rails were covered with water. The water was thrown against the fields of the motors and in many instances the motors were short circuited and "grewled" into the square.

This afternoon four of the largest plows were kept running over the different routes and inquiry at the Boston & Northern office brought out the information that the different lines were running on good time.

The only thing that the officials fear is that a cold snap will set in and if it does grow up very cold the company will have more trouble than it had this morning.

MILITARY HIKE

Will Be Held on Patriots' Day

The annual O'Sullivan military hike from Boston to Lowell which was successfully inaugurated last year will be held under the auspices of Company C, Sixth regiment, and will take place on April 19th, whether the big celebration takes place or not. Suitable prizes will be offered and already there is great interest in the affair.

MINER DUG OUT

AND HE IS NOT SERIOUSLY INJURED

LEAD, S. D., Feb. 4.—Larry Nicoll, a miner who was imprisoned in the Homestead workings by last night's cave-in which killed Shift Boss Lee Thomas, was dug out today and removed to a hospital. He is not seriously injured. Several other imprisoned miners escaped through other workings.

GOING TO RUSSIA

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Colonel Samuel Colt, president of the United States Rubber Co., will leave for Russia on Wednesday next, calling on the Louisiana. He will stop in London and also in Amsterdam. Mr. Colt, who is going abroad on a trip containing business and recreation, expects to be away altogether about two months.

ARCHBISHOP RYAN IMPROVED

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 4.—After a bad night Archbishop Ryan showed improvement early today, which is attributed by the attending physicians to his iron constitution, wonderful vitality and indomitable will-power. Archbishop Ryan's heart is still very weak. Archbishop Ryan maintained the improvement shown earlier in the day and was quite cheerful. At noon the following physician's bulletin was given out: "The archbishop's condition shows a little further improvement. The heart action is somewhat stronger."

Mr. Alfred Prince, formerly of Lowell, of this city, and now at L'Etoile, of New Bedford, Mass., is visiting his Lowell friends.

Miss Aurelia Seward of Fitchburg has accepted a position of bookkeeper at L'Etoile. Miss Seward will take up her new duties in a few days.

The Attack on Juarez is Expected at Any Moment

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—The Da-moclean sword of insurrection was still suspended over the city of Juarez this morning. Just when Pascual Orozco and his followers could cut the thread was a little indefinite, but it was very definite indeed that the attack of the young revolutionary leader on the border city, which, according to his own statement, he intends making the provisional capital of Mexico, would not be long delayed.

Official notice of the intended attack reached the American consul at 10:30 last night, when Orozco said he would attack within 24 hours. Couriers from his camp about ten miles from Juarez this morning said he expected to reconnoiter the town before striking and that he was awaiting reinforcements. Juarez, too, was looking for reinforcements for the federal garrison, but revolutionists said none might be expected from the south, where Col. Robago and his shattered command were.

The revolution leader told friends yesterday that he expected to attack Juarez late Saturday evening or early Sunday. He declared that he intended making Juarez the capital of Mexico and rallying all his followers there start on a march south against Chihuahua city and ultimately against the capital, Mexico City.

A renewed exodus from Juarez took place late last night when the official notice of intended attack reached the American consul. The notice was at once made public and within a few minutes the international bridge bore a long string of refugees.

AMERICAN CONSUL EDWARDS

WARNED OF AN ATTACK

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—The official notice to American Consul Edwards at Juarez, Mexico, of the revolutionists' intention to attack the city was received at the consulate shortly before midnight.

The notice was courteously worded and said the attack would be made within 24 hours from the time it was received by the consul. The message was delivered by special courier from Orozco's camp. The tone of the notice was taken to show that the attack would probably come within the next few hours. The American consul was instructed by Gen. Orozco to notify such other consuls as might be in Juarez, as the insurrection leader had no means of reaching them. General information of the intended attack was given out by the American consul and it was followed by a renewed exodus from Juarez.

HAVE LEFT THE CITY

FORT WORTH, Texas, Feb. 4.—A staff correspondent of the Fort Worth Record sends the following despatch from El Paso, Texas:

The insurrectionists although within range of Juarez show little intention of an immediate attack. They were camped today in the foothills 30 miles south of Juarez and flanked the city on three sides.

Four howitzers of ancient model and four rapid fire guns captured recently from the federals comprise the artillery of the besieging forces.

Juarez is practically depopulated. The chief of police of Juarez and six customs officials have announced that hereafter they would have their residence in El Paso.

GENERAL OROZCO'S FORCES

HAVE JOINED DEBLANCOS

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—At five o'clock this morning Juarez is lined with soldiers, police, guards, federal and state rurales expecting an attack any moment. Orozco's forces are at the foot of the Juarez and are expected to reach the city about sunrise.

No reinforcements for the federals are in sight. General Orozco and General Deblanco are reported to have made a juncture at Baucha, 11 miles south of Juarez.

The insurrectionists are said to have four rapid fire guns, one long tom and four howitzers. They are reported to be all armed with Krag-Jorgensen rifles of the latest pattern.

AUTHOR BURTON SMITH

MEETS REBEL CHIEF

EL PASO, Texas, Feb. 4.—Thrown in contact with Orozco during the four days in which the Mexican Central trains were in possession of the Mexican insurrectionists, Burton Smith, author and playwright, last night gave his impressions of the rebel chief. Smith was granted an audience with Orozco in a stateroom aboard the train and was authorized by him to tell anything which he had seen or heard while with the command, providing that it was told exactly as he heard or saw it. Regarding his impressions Smith said:

"The younger Orozco, who shares the command equally with his father, is a most remarkable man and displays the most conservative and seldom if ever utters an unnecessary word. When asked a question he will study for a moment and then give answer in short, sharp sentences which ring with confidence in his judgment. At all times he is mixing freely with the men but rarely talks unless questioned. 'A Mauser rifle, which he carries, never leaves his hands and when he sleeps it is with his fingers clutched about the stock of the gun. He never hesitates to aid the men to perform any kind of work, and is always present where there is the most danger. 'When we first arrived at Motesuma last Monday,' said Smith, 'we were greatly surprised to hear shouts of 'Viva Madero' issuing from hundreds of throats. Many of the passengers thought that the insurrectionists would open fire on the train but we were soon assured that all was safe when the men entered the coaches and the officers times to be careful and not shoot. 'In the Pullman cars the insurrectionists unbent the berth curtains, striking matches each time so as to be able to detect the nationality of the occupants.

An assurance that the occupant was an American was sufficient to cause them to pass on after first fastening the curtains again.

"Pascual Orozco, the chief, accompanied the men through the entire train, quieting the fears of the passengers and searching for government men whom he believed were aboard. It was he who gave money to Mexican women, whose husbands he retained when the train was finally relieved and it was he who paid for everything which was obtained from small stores along the line."

THE FIGHTING RENEWED

IN VICINITY OF GOYAME

PRESIDIO, Texas, Feb. 4.—Fighting between insurrectionists and federal soldiers under Donantes has been renewed around Goyame, according to reports received here this morning. The insurrectionists attacked the federals when Donantes attempted to lead his command back to Ojinaga. It is declared Donantes' troops looted the town of Cucullari Parado during the fight following the insurrectionist attack.

More than 100 insurrectionists were camped yesterday near Mula. They are commanded by Emilio Salgado, a famous frontier character.

American cavalrymen are enroute from Marfa, Texas, to this point and are expected to arrive tonight. At present Deputy Marshal Warren is the sole representative of the United States in more than 100 miles of the Rio Grande.

Single-handed, he has arrested several hands of insurrectionists, who were using the American side of the river as a highway.

AN OLD RESIDENT

Noe Lussier, Well Known Boarding House Keeper, Passed Away

Noe Lussier, one of the oldest and best known citizens of this city passed away this morning at his home, 83 Miller avenue.

Mr. Lussier was born at St. Isidore, Que., April 11, 1839, and at the age of 24, that is 45 years ago, he emigrated to this city, and immediately after his arrival, he opened a boarding house at 28 Arkwright street in the Tremont & Suffolk corporation. This was the refuge of many mill operatives and whether they had money or were penniless, they were always welcomed by the "Pete." Mr. Lussier as he was commonly called, boarding house was later renamed "Noah's Ark" and it was known ever since. Mr. Lussier was a charter member of L'Union St. Joseph, but later severed his connections with this organization. He was a pioneer of St. Joseph's parish and always took an active part in its work, doing the catering at all the banquets held in the parish, and also rendering financial aid.

The deceased retired about five years ago, after acquiring considerable real estate property in Centralville. He turned his business over to his daughter, Mrs. Edmond Belanger, who is still running the old stand. Mr. Lussier was apparently in good health till last Monday when he was stricken with a paralytic shock. He lost consciousness and the end came this morning at 8:15 o'clock. Besides a large number of friends and his beloved wife, deceased leaves to mourn his loss, four children, Rosalie and Ferdinand Lussier, Mrs. Edmond Belanger and Rosanna Lussier of this city; five sisters, Mrs. Ernest Smail, Mrs. Jean Baptiste Roberge, Miss Domitille Lussier and Miss Alphonsine Lussier, all of Chelmsford Centre, and Mrs. Alfred Dietz of Chicago, Ill., and a brother, Louis Lussier of Valleyfield, Que. Deceased was a member of the Holy Family sodality of St. Joseph's parish.

IN HOMINY STORE

Firemen Were Called to Queen Street Today

At 2:45 o'clock this morning fire was discovered under the flooring of a store in Queen street and a telephone alarm was sent to Chief Hosmer who in turn dispatched several pieces of apparatus to the scene. The blaze was under the flooring of a store in a building owned by the heirs of M. J. Maguire. The occupant of the store makes hominy and a large quantity of that food produce will prove to be a total loss inasmuch as huge volumes of smoke poured through the store.

There is no cellar under that portion of the store where the fire started, there being a space of about a foot between the earth and the flooring. The cause of the fire is not known but Chief Hosmer is of the opinion that it had been smouldering for several days because when the firemen chopped the flooring away they found the stones on which the floor timbers rested were sizzling with the heat.

After about 15 minutes work the blaze was extinguished.

Thawing Water Pipes While thawing out water pipes in the Harris block in Academy street shortly after six o'clock last night, the workmen near the pipes caught fire. Word was sent to Hose 8 in Merrimack street and the members of that company extinguished the blaze before any material damage was done.

Chimney Fire

A portion of the department was called at 8:49 o'clock last night to a chimney fire in a house in Bowers street belonging to the P. Whiting estate.

Italian Customs Officer Did Not Know How to Put Out the Gas—He Was on a Visit to Friends in Boston

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Gaetano Del Gas, a customs officer in Bari, Italy, was asphyxiated by illuminating gas here today and Mr. and Mrs. Fiorillo, local hospital as the result of inhaling the poisonous fumes. Del Gas, who was visiting his son-in-law Giannello, did not understand how to put out the gas and when he retired last night after turning out the light, apparently he opened the gascock again allowing the gas to fill the room. Early today Mrs. Theodore Del Gas, a sister of Mrs. Giannello, smelled the escaping gas and upon investigation found that her father was dead. Mr. and Mrs. Giannello, who were sleeping in an adjoining room, were found in an unconscious condition. They were removed to a hospital, where it was stated that they could not live. Del Gas was 53 years old. Mr. and Mrs. Giannello are aged 51 and 55 years respectively.

PLEA OF NOT GUILTY

Robin is Charged With the Larceny of $207,000

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Despite vigorous protests from former District Attorney Jerome, Joseph Robin, the indicted banker, was put on record today in the court of general sessions as entering a plea of not guilty to eight indictments charging him with the larceny of $207,000 from banking institutions with which he was connected. The entry was ordered in by Justice Swann, upon Robin's refusal to plead after the court had over-ruled Jerome's demurrers to the indictments. The case was placed on the preferred calendar, being set ahead of several hundred other cases, and Robin will be tried at the February term, which begins shortly.

Mr. Jerome was visibly surprised and annoyed. When Robin was called on to plead Jerome made a long objection, stating among other things that Robin was mentally unbalanced and not able to direct his counsel. Jerome was willing, he said, to present affidavits of all sorts to this effect. "That has already been passed upon by a jury," Justice Swann replied.

OLD GUARD BEATEN BOY NEARLY FROZEN

Democrats and Progressive Re-Little Chap Found in Yard in publicans Defeat the Regulars Rear of His Home

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Senator Borah of Idaho, supported by progressive republican and democrat senators, yesterday defeated the old guard republicans and got the resolution for the election of senators by direct vote of the people in a most advantageous position.

Despite a number of rebuffs, by a persistence not often witnessed in the senate, he landed his measure on the legislative program, so that must come up every day as the unfinished business.

The moment the Lorimer case was laid aside yesterday, Senators Nelson and Borah clamored for recognition. Vice President Sherman saw Mr. Nelson first and gave him the floor. He moved action on the bill to regulate the leasing of Alaskan coal land whereupon Mr. Borah moved that that motion be tabled. This failed, 36 to 11. Most senators thought this settled the question and that the Borah resolution had been successfully shelved for the rest of the short period of the present congress remaining. After the senate had proceeded with the Alaskan bill for some time, Mr. Nelson gave way to Senator Warren, who was to move that the senate adjourn until Monday. But Mr. Borah said he would object to that he did so because it had become apparent that senators opposed to his resolution would not give consideration to it if they could help it. He demanded a roll call on the motion to adjourn until Monday and he won by a small margin.

Thus encouraged, he asked that his resolution be made the unfinished business of the senate.

From the previous roll it appeared that this resolution might be given this preference, and Senator Penrose hurriedly moved an executive session. Such a motion under the rules of the senate may be made at any time and Mr. Borah again found himself elbowed out of the way.

As the executive session motion was being put to the senate, Mr. Borah made a demand for a roll call, got a sufficient number of seconds and the call was ordered.

On what was regarded as the most significant vote of the day the executive session was denied by a vote of 55 to 40. All of those who voted in the affirmative are regarded as lined up against popular election of senators and those who voted in the negative are known to be in favor of this policy.

All of the affirmative votes were cast by republicans, but a number of rep-lican senators voted with the democrats against the closed session, as follows: Beveridge, Borah, Bristow, Brown, Burkett, Clapp, Crampton, Cawkins, DeLoach, Gronna, Jones, LaFollette, Perkins and Nixon.

Recognizing that Mr. Borah had the votes, no further objection was made by the opponents of popular election of senators and the resolution became the unfinished business of the senate without a roll call.

Senator Hale even aided the supporters of the resolution in accomplishing the parliamentary proceedings necessary to that end. Good feeling was restored and Senator Borah announced that he had no disposition to prevent any senator from taking the time required to prepare speeches on the question. He also withdrew his objection to an adjournment until Monday.

Captain Peary May Not be Promoted This Session

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Consideration of the senate bill promoting Captain Robert E. Peary to be a rear admiral in the navy was indefinitely postponed in the house yesterday because of the illness of Rep. Bates of Pennsylvania, who has the measure in charge.

When the bill was passed over on the private calendar, Representative Mann of Illinois served notice that the matter "in all human probability" would not be reached again this session. He said that the public calendar was clogged with important legislation; the next private calendar day is two weeks away and, according to precedent, is always dispensed with at so late a date in a short session.

Mr. Mann endeavored to call up the bill himself so as to permit Representative Macon of Arkansas to deliver an address he has prepared on the Peary matter in opposition to the proposed reward to the explorer, but he was appealed to by friends of Mr. Bates and withdrew his motion.

Mr. Macon succeeded in getting recognition on another bill, but when he announced that he proposed to say a few things about Mr. Peary a point of order was made against him, which was sustained by the chair.

Wesley Watts, aged five years, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Watts, of 14 Marginal street, was found nearly frozen in the yard in the rear of his home about 11 o'clock last night by Patrolman Peter T. Corcoran. The child had been missing since one o'clock in the afternoon, but his parents did not worry about him until six o'clock, as it was thought that after leaving school he had gone to the home of one of his playmates.

If the little boy had been exposed to the cold much longer he undoubtedly would have been frozen. After being found he was taken into the house where restoratives were administered, and it is thought that he will be none the worse for his exposure.

The boy attends the Dover street primary school and left his home for school at one o'clock in the afternoon. When six o'clock came and the boy had not put in an appearance at his home the parents became worried and notified the police.

Shortly before 11, Officer Corcoran, who had been searching the railroad yards in the rear of the Watts home, decided that he would look over the back yards connected with the houses, when he got into the Watts yard he thought he could see something which resembled a figure huddled up in a corner, near the high board fence. He went to it and was surprised to find the heavily clothed body of a boy, his head dropped on his chest leaning against the fence. He spoke to the boy, but there was no response. He then picked him up and ran with him to the house. All endeavors to rouse the boy from his stupor failed, and at once he was rubbed and given hot drinks. Then he opened his eyes and spoke.

THE LIBERALS take a contented view of the situation regarding the agreement with the dominions, after the agreement has been signed, the death blow to the protectionist movement. Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, speaking at Bristol last night, said he was rejoiced to see free trade principles conquering all over the world. He contended that Canada was perfectly free to make the best bargain she could.

"Our business," he added, "is to wish her well in her enterprise."

Thomas Skinner, a director of the Canadian Pacific railway, in an interview, confessed that he views the agreement with mixed feelings. It would have a disturbing effect on the Canadian trans-continental railways; but the growth and development of the northwestern provinces of Canada were so great and rapid that he had no misgivings that this would more than meet the leakage arising from the agreement.

"The principal United States trans-continental railways," Mr. Skinner added, "such as the Great Northern and Northern Pacific, in which a deal of British capital is invested, must benefit considerably. Indeed, the agreement is practically a triumph for James J. Hill's persistent agitation."

On the whole, Mr. Skinner thought the agreement advantageous to Canada and though politically somewhat dangerous, he was perfectly confident of Canada's loyalty to the mother country.

RECIPROCITY

Has Stirred Up the British Public

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The British public today through the morning newspapers will make its first acquaintance with the full text of the United States-Canada reciprocity agreement. It was communicated to the Colonial office at the end of last week by the governor-general of Canada and made available to the board of trade, but for some unexplained reason it was not communicated to the press until yesterday.

The unexpectedly wide scope and sweeping character of the agreement causes surprise and arouses the perturbation of the unionist newspapers. These organs exhort the unionists to drop all differences and to realize the gravity of a situation that calls for the greatest energy.

The Morning Post says: "Let the unionists drop all their schemes for the reform of the house of lords and fight to the death for imperial and national union."

The Daily Telegraph looks to Arthur J. Balfour as the only man of the party able to deal with the difficult situation. "Mr. Balfour," the Daily Telegraph says, "is greatest with his back to the wall, and he knows the height and breadth of this crisis."

All hopes that the agreement will not be ratified appear to have vanished from the minds of the political writers here whose utterances now are confined to the means of dealing with the new situation.

The liberals take a contented view of the situation regarding the agreement with the dominions, after the agreement has been signed, the death blow to the protectionist movement. Augustine Birrell, chief secretary for Ireland, speaking at Bristol last night, said he was rejoiced to see free trade principles conquering all over the world. He contended that Canada was perfectly free to make the best bargain she could.

"Our business," he added, "is to wish her well in her enterprise."

BOARD OF CHARITIES

Engaged in Tilt With Supt. of the Department

Two Committees Appointed to Keep in Close Touch With Workings of the Department—The Matter of an Auto Ambulance Was Discussed

There was more than a ripple of excitement at the regular meeting of the board of charities held last night when the chairman, Dr. James J. McCarty, suggested that Supt. Martin Conley was ignoring the authority of the board. The chairman wanted to know of Mr. Conley why he appointed Dr. A. B. Bertrand as a district physician to succeed Dr. Pierre Brunelle without saying anything to the board about the appointment. The chairman wanted to know, too, why it was that the department estimates for the year had been prepared and submitted to the appropriations committee without any member of the board having seen them or having been consulted relative to them.

The board voted to organize two committees, one on maintenance and the other on finance, in order to keep more closely in touch with the workings of the department. As it is now the chairman said, there is nothing for the board to do but to elect a superintendent and approve his plans.

Supt. Conley said that so far as the estimates were concerned he had asked the chairman to look them over and had left a copy of them at the office of the board, for the chairman, Dr. McCarty said he did not see the estimates.

As to the appointment of a city physician it was stated that the city solicitor had once furnished an opinion to the effect that the superintendent had the power of appointment.

Dr. McCarty said that if the superintendent had the power of appointment he must also have the right to discharge and that he could decide for himself what he would do in the matter.

There came a time in the meeting when Supt. Conley waxed warm. He said it appeared to him as if the board was ignoring the superintendent, and he wanted an explanation. Something was wrong and he wanted to know what it was. No direct answer was made to his inquiry and the board proceeded to establish the new committees. This is what Chairman McCarty had to say about it:

"I wish it distinctly understood by each member of the board that although I am chairman and appear to be, in a way, in control of all that goes on, it is quite a mistake to entertain such an idea. I am a member of the board and I have a vote. You also have a vote each and you have your responsibility for this department just as I have. For us to become familiar with all the details of this department is part of our duty and for that reason I believe that we should take a more active interest in the department."

He then proposed the two committees whose duties should be to become fully informed as to all phases of the departmental work such as the supplies, the help, etc. The board agreed that some such action was desirable and voted that the chairman appoint two committees which were then named as follows:

Committee on maintenance: H. W. J. Howe, Matthew Coupe and the chairman.

Committee on finance: Frank Bland, John P. Burns and the chairman.

Dr. McCarty said there was no objection to having the committees start right out at work in the morning. He could not see that thus far the board had an authority to do anything but elect a superintendent and approve his plans. The only way to get out of this was to "dig."

The question of an automobile ambulance was suggested by Commissioner Burns as discussed at considerable length. Messrs. Burns and Alford were in favor of the ambulance. Chairman McCarty and Mr. Conley rather balked at the expense of an automobile ambulance. Mr. Howe believed that if the police department needed an auto the ambulance department certainly needed it more. He thought, however, that it was a matter for more study.

Mr. Burns argued that a speedy answer to an emergency call might be the means of saving a life.

It costs about $2500 to keep the horse ambulances, and the chairman and Mr. Conley allowed that it would cost anywhere from $7000 to $10,000 to install an auto ambulance. Mr. Coupe said he would stick to the horse ambulance and Dr. McCarty was of the same opinion as Mr. Coupe.

It was finally voted to have Mr. Burns correspond with dealers and with other cities and the board will take the matter up at a future meeting. Dr. Pierre Brunelle, Jr., having resigned his position as district physician to accept the board of health position, was given a vote of thanks for his services. Supt. Conley has appointed Dr. A. B. Bertrand to succeed Dr. Brunelle as district physician.

There are now 434 patients at the Chelmsford street hospital, and Supt. Conley declared he needed at least 12 more beds, as there is great need of them. It was voted to make a requisition for another dozen single beds.

Thomas Connors, employed at the department's yard, appeared to argue his claim to compensation for the number of hours he works—59 a week. He said that he has to put in seven days a week. He maintained that the department is now doing more delivering than at any time. He said that 37 deliveries had been made during yesterday by the two teams. There were 453 deliveries in one week. His work at the yard has been of great benefit enough to save money for the city.

The board decided that Mr. Connors was entitled to his pay for Sunday, and voted $2 additional for his weekly pay.

All monthly bills were approved and the next meeting of the board will be held at the Chelmsford street hospital on Thursday of next week when the board will inspect the institution.

ALL DRUGGISTS

The last meeting of the board of health to be presided over by Dr. G. Forrest Martin was held yesterday afternoon and Dr. J. Murphy was elected to succeed him as chairman.

Dr. Martin read the annual report of the department. He read some of it from notes which he did not have time to transcribe. The report will be ready for the printer in a day or two.

Among the recommendations contained in the report is an auto for the department in order that the agent and others connected with the board could get somewhere in a hurry when their time was limited.

The report deals largely with the milk question. Tenement house inspection is spoken of at considerable length and mention is made of the bean house built in Perry street by the American Hide & Leather company.

After reading the report Dr. Martin said he had a personal favor to ask of the board and of Mr. Osgood in particular. He wished to resign as chairman at once and would ask the board to accept his resignation. His own resignation accepted, Dr. Martin asked that Mr. Murphy be elected.

Dr. Martin put his request in the form of a motion, and it was seconded by Dr. Osgood. The election was unanimous.

The report read by Dr. Martin was the 33rd annual report of the board and in connection with this question the report dealt at length with the recent typhoid fever scare, which Dr. Martin said would have been an epidemic but for the fact that the board succeeded in nipping it in the bud. He said that if three weeks had elapsed before the board succeeded in checking the source of contagion there would have been at least 1000 cases of typhoid. The board discovered the source within two weeks.

The report read by Dr. Martin was, in brief, as follows:

"The board of health organized Jan. 6, 1910, by choosing Dr. Martin as chairman. It is a pleasure at the end of another year's work, to know that politics has not entered into the work in any way, and that the board has been a unit in its action. We wish to

FINE PROGRAM

MINSTREL ENTERTAINMENT AT ODD FELLOWS HALL

A fine minstrel entertainment was given in Odd Fellows hall in Centralville last night by the members of Centralville lodge, I. O. O. F., for the benefit of the apron table at the coming fair to be held by the Odd Fellows on Feb. 8, 9, 10 and 11.

The affair was very successful and the performers received several encouragements. The program was as follows:

Grand overture by the entire company; song, "Come After Breakfast," J. F. McNamara; song, "The Christening," H. M. Howard; song, "Just a Song at Twilight," John J. Myers, reading, "As Beeswax Melts," Russell Howard; "Sweet Me Tonight in Dreamland," Albert K. Harding; song, "On My Way to Reno," Charles Wells; song, "Old Fashioned Reels," William Wilson; song, "Way Down in Georgia," Charles Trombley; song, "All I Want is Love," Eugene McCarthy; grand finale by the entire company.

The members were J. F. McNamara and Charles Wells on the tambourines, and Charles Trombley and H. M. Howard on the bones; E. Y. Brown acted as interlocutor, while Miss Eva Thompson was the accompanist.

The minstrel was in charge of John P. McNamara, who in the entertainment was in charge of a committee from the apron table of the coming fair, Mrs. Charles Parker, chairman.

$5000 SWINDLE

Is the Charge Against Van Worner

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—A man giving the name Roy L. Van Worner, was arrested yesterday at the home of Elliot C. Lee, a retired banker, in Clyde street, Brookline, on charge of larceny of $5000 from Mr. Lee. The police are looking for another man accused by Mr. Lee in the same transaction.

Mr. Lee charges Van Worner and the other obtained the money from him on Jan. 27 for books which they declared to be worth $29,000. The men, Mr. Lee told the police, represented themselves as having a commission from a millionaire of Pittsburgh to buy a library for him to cost $225,000.

The two men are alleged to have explained the purchase of the books as an investment, in the profits of which all three were to share. They told him if he would advance the $5000 to buy the books they would dispose of them at the $29,000 figure to the man in Pittsburgh.

The money was given the men. It is alleged, and the books were shipped to Mr. Lee from New York. Mr. Lee thought they were not worth $6000. He called in a book expert, who told him they could be bought in any good bookstore for $100.

Yesterday morning one of the men appeared at Mr. Lee's by agreement. Inspector Gilbert Angel of Boston police headquarters and Lieut. Rutherford of the Brookline police, who had been notified by Mr. Lee, were secreted in the house. They looked the man in the city prison in Boston for a hearing today. He said he is 34 years old and gave his residence as New York city. The police have a good description of the other man.

THE LAWRENCE ST. PRIMITIVE METHODIST CHURCH

Primitive Methodists Worship in Cosy Structure

The Lawrence street Primitive Methodist church was opened for service on April 18, 1909, by Rev. Mr. John P. Ullm, who is still in charge. When Rev. Mr. Ullm arrived in this city four years ago, he took charge of the old Berean church in Mead street, with 23 members attending. The membership gradually increased and finally it was decided to secure larger quarters, so a site was purchased in Lawrence street near Woburn street, and the new church was erected. Rev. Mr. Joseph Miller, and Saturday, Mr. Mr. Ullm stated this morning that 102 people attend his church regularly and a few new members will be received next Sunday.

The members of the church are going to hold a fair, beginning Tuesday night and continuing till Saturday, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the building fund. A concert will be given each night and the following will have charge: Tuesday and Wednesday, Mrs. Thomas E. Wildes; Wednesday, Mr. Samuel J. Burt; Thursday, Mr. Joseph Miller; and Saturday, Mr. Mr. Ullm.

BIG CELEBRATION

Planned for Lowell on Patriots' Day This Year

To Commemorate 50th Anniversary of March of Sixth Regiment Through Baltimore — A Mammoth Parade is Planned

The general committee appointed to arrange for the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the memorable march of the Sixth Mass. regiment through Baltimore in 1861, held an enthusiastic meeting at city hall last evening, and judging from the plans outlined, the observance will be one of the grandest in the history of the city.

That Lowell can lay special claim to the chief celebration of the event in the state is the theory of those promoting it. The committee consists of Maj. C. S. Proctor, chairman; George E. Worthen, secretary; Mayor John P. Barrett, Aldermen Barrett and Jodoin and Councilmen John Jacob Rogers, Achin and Royal, George L. Adams, Martin L. Bassett, J. H. Caverly and Franklin S. Povey of Post 155, G. A. R.; William L. Dickey, Thomas Regan, Charles H. Stickney and Daniel B. H. Bartlett of Post 120, G. A. R.; Earl A. Thiesell, E. B. Pierce, and Major Chas. A. Stott of Post 42, G. A. R.; George E. Sutherland and Capt. Colby T. Kirtledge of the U. S. W. V.; A. C. Blaisdell and Lucius A. Derby of Admiral Farragut Encampment, Sons of Veterans; Capt. W. R. Joyce of Co. G, Capt. Geo. W. Peterson of Co. C, Capt. Philip McNulty of Co. M, and Capt. James N. Greig of Co. K, of the militia.

While in all probability the event will be observed throughout the state, the main celebration should be held in this city.

The Sixth regiment had eight companies and four of these came from Lowell. The first to fall in the defense of the Union were three men in the Lowell companies, who lost their lives in the memorable march through Baltimore.

It is planned to make the event by far the most brilliant of anything similar ever held here. The state militia, the regulars and the veterans and affiliated organizations will parade. Gov. Foss and Adj. Gen. Pearson know of the plan and favor it.

The committee organized last evening and voted to appear before the legislative committee to favor Sen. Denny's bill which appropriated $25,000 to be spent by the governor and council for the celebration in the state. It is the hope of the local committee that the bill will pass and that Lowell will receive a generous share of the total.

Congressman Ames was telegraphed to for his assistance and he has replied that he will induce the secretary of war to order a large detachment of regulars to join in the parade here on April 19th.

Alderman Barrett suggested a city appropriation of $5000, and the general committee voted to ask the city government's representatives on the committee to bring the matter before the city council.

Gov. Foss has already been spoken to concerning the Lowell project, and Sen. Denny is also under fire from the Lowell legislators, who wish him to use his influence to procure Lowell the lion's share of the state appropriation. The committee from Lowell to appear in favor of the bill consists of Mayor Meehan, City Solicitor Duncan, Alderman Barrett, Councilman Rogers, the three G. A. R. post commanders, E. B. Pierce and any others who can be present.

GREAT SUCCESS

Was Annual Party of Friendship Club

The Friendship club lived up to its reputation in providing good times last evening, when it conducted with conspicuous success its annual mid-winter dancing party in Lincoln hall. The club is composed of prominent young members of the Young Men's Catholic Institute, and they are the proud possessors of a splendidly appointed camp on the banks of the Concord river, where during the summer many have partaken of the Friendship's hospitality. But the social side of the club's life is not the only feature that is commendable, for the members take an interest in athletics and improvement of themselves, physically. To meet the growing demand for the furtherance of the physical culture side of the club, the members are planning the erection of an addition to the camp, to be used exclusively as a gymnasium, fitted up in first class manner, with all the appliances one sees in an up-to-date "gym." That the club has always entertained with lavish hand at its summer home, was strikingly demonstrated last evening in the splendid attendance at the party. Indeed the unsettled weather detracted nothing from its success and throughout the evening jollity and good cheer reigned supreme.

Last evening's affair was a pronounced success in every respect, over 300 couples enjoying the pleasures of the dance to the music of Clarence's orchestra. A feature of the evening was the rendition of the popular ballad, "All That I Want is Love," by Mr. James Lyons of the famous Pargson quartet. Mr. Lyons sang with orchestral accompaniment as the dancers waited about. Needless to say the number made a distinct hit. The dance order embraced twenty engagements, and with the exception of a brief intermission, dancing was on until 12 o'clock.

Those who officered the delightful affair are as follows: General manager, William J. Fahy; assistant general manager, James E. Burns; floor director, John J. Tansey; assistant floor director, James J. Donnelly; chief aid, William T. Duggan; aids, John W. Daly, John B. Kirwin, James McNulty, James P. Kirwin, Charles P. Daly, Frank A. Burns, Joseph P. McElmohr, John J.oughlin, J. P. Smith, John F. Carney, Francis P. Duggan, Terrence D. Leonard, John J. Githrie; treasurer, Albert F. Meehan.

ON POLISH NATIONAL CHURCH WILL SOON BE PAID

The members of St. Casimir's Independent Polish National Catholic church expect to consecrate their new church in May when the bishop is to come here. In the meantime they are collecting $4000 the amount of the remaining debt. Rev. Paul Kuznik, the new pastor of the church, desires to erect a new parish house where chronic invalids among the foreign poor may be cared for. In March he will hold a bazaar to raise funds toward building such a house.

$70 A DISH

SOMERVILLE POLICEMAN PAYS HIGH PRICE FOR ICE CREAM

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Ice cream has gone soaring in Somerville. Fairman Patrick J. Doolin stands on record as having paid the highest price for a plate of it in Greater Boston. It cost him $70 and took him just one hour to "tuck it away under his belt."

Doolin patrols the aristocratic Winter Hill section. Yesterday he was before Mayor Burns charged with absconding himself from his route and with neglect of duty. It was brought out at the hearing that Doolin was the guest of a servant girl employed by a prominent Broadway physician last Monday evening for over an hour. The mistress of the house had occasion to go into the kitchen where, it is said, she caught the bluecoat at his ice-cream feast.

Indignant at the officer's presence in her house, the lady reported it to Chief of Police Kennard and later identified Doolin as the visitor.

Doolin pleaded not guilty yesterday, but was found guilty and fined ten days' pay on each charge, amounting to $70.

MISS MARIE BUCKLEY
Buckley & Martin Co. Tonight at the Merrimack Square Theatre

MERRIMACK SQUARE THEATRE

A special feature at the concert to be given Sunday at the Merrimack Square theatre this week is the Pargson Quartet, a quartet of well known young Lowell men, who have but recently gone into professional service. They have prepared a special repertoire of the latest songs for their appearance before their friends in their home city, and are sure to be given a great welcome.

The members of the quartet are Robert M. Lindsay, James Lyons, Andrew Doyle and Alfred Lindsay, every one of them known as soloists of ability; an unusual feature of even the best quartets.

Another of the features for Sunday will be the appearance of that well known song writer and comedian, Gus Williams, who has previously been seen only at the houses in the largest cities. There will be numerous other unusual offerings also.

The pictures will be all new and of the best. There will be three complete concerts, a matinee at 3 and two performances in the evening, at 7 and 9 o'clock respectively.

For next week the bill is one which will appeal particularly to discriminating patrons. One of the notable offerings is that of Miss Mildred Jewel, a reader of the future and of the past, a seeress of seemingly supernatural mental powers. She can and will answer any question asked her, and patrons will be given every opportunity to test her ability, or to learn something of their own affairs.

The Reckless Backslaws are a quartet of unusual cyclists who do some hair-raising stunts, and others which are extremely amusing. It is said to be an unusually excellent act of its kind. Other features on the program will be Frenchell & Lewis, operatic singers; Charles Frazier presenting a European novelty; and Fred Meek, a splendid soloist.

LOWELL OPERA HOUSE

The final performances here at the Opera House of "The Old Cross Roads" will be given today with a matinee at 2:15, and an evening performance. The efforts of this company have met with local approval as the attendance at each of the performances so far given, has been excellent and the advance sale indicates crowded houses at both performances today. The prices for this engagement are 10, 20 and 30 cents for the afternoons, and 10, 20, 30 and 50 cents at night.

SALE OF SEATS FOR STOCK CO.

Tickets for all performances of "The Charity Ball," which is to be the opening bill of the permanent stock company at the Opera House, will be on sale at the box office next Monday morning. The company will give its initial performances here with a matinee and an evening performance Saturday, Feb. 11th, and the play will be given each afternoon and evening of the following week. Active preparations are now going on for this production, the company will assemble on the stage of the Opera House this morning for rehearsal and the mechanical force is hard at work preparing the sets to be used. Unusual interest in the plays to be given has been manifested by the numerous letters received by the management as to the preference of the patrons in this matter. A continued expression of opinion on this subject will be welcome and an endeavor will be made to comply with them. Prices for the stock company are to be 30, 20 and 10 cents at night, and 10, 20 and 30 cents for the matinees. Reserved seats may be secured one week in advance.

THEATRE VOYONS

Today's exceptionally strong program at the Theatre Voyons will be followed Monday by a bill that contains not only one but many feature hits. The comedy, "Hearts, Hunger and Happiness" is an American picture and one of the best. "The Curse of the Red Man" is a story picture of the fall of a graduate of the Sherman Industrial school for Indians from a well educated college graduate to a drunken fighting bad Indian. Anglers will be interested in "Trout Breeding." "Disinherited" is a strongly domestic drama.

COLONIAL THEATRE

This is the last day of John Barrett and Co. in their beautiful playlet, "A Bit of Barney." Bob and Bertha Hyde, "The Stage Struck Rube," Wesley Norris, the funny man, and "The Skipper," singers and character change artists. Tomorrow afternoon and evening sacred concerts will be given. Monday there will be an entire change of vaudeville and pictures.

The show at the Academy is a very pleasing one, and one that is full of comedy. McRae and Levering are expert cyclists and perform many difficult stunts. Pagan, Merriek and Thurston, the merry trio, the cop, messenger boy and coachman, warble some tuneful melodies that keep you in the right humor. Lewis, Norton & Co. in "Betty's Haul," is a laugh from start to finish. Commencing Monday, the Ten Louisiana Blossoms will entertain in a big colored act that will be sure to please. The Hurleys are sensational acrobats. DeMoyer and Davis will be seen in a laughing skit called "Chatter Chats."

DONALD MEEK

Of Meek Stock Co., at Hathaway's Tonight

This is opening night at the Hathaway theatre when the friends of Donald Meek and Severin DeDeyn will turn out in large numbers to greet them once more, and judging from the advance sale, the house will be packed. Messrs. Meek and DeDeyn have surrounded themselves with an exceptionally clever company of players and the best stock performances of years in Lowell are promised.

"Brown of Harvard," a comedy drama by Rida Johnson Young, is the play in which the company makes its initial bow to the Lowell public tonight and week of Feb. 6.

Mr. Meek and Mr. DeDeyn are well known to Lowell patrons and will maintain the same high standards that won for them such wide popularity a few years ago at the Academy and the Open House. With the principal object of providing a place and class of amusement for the whole family, and for their better tastes, a place where dramatic art will be maintained at a high level, and where women and children may go, with or without escort in the afternoon or evening, the tone and atmosphere of the Hathaway theatre will always be that of a refined and well-ordered playhouse. Realizing that there are still many people, who, while they themselves confess to enjoying the theatre immensely, still persist that the environment is such that they are loath to send or take their children; Mr. Meek has made and will continue to make it his special aim, to so conduct the Hathaway that all such objections will be removed. Only those plays that provide wholesome and uplifting entertainment, presented by a company composed of the best talent available, will be produced. In keeping with this set policy, the rights to such well known successes as "Charley's Aunt," "The Wife," "Paid in Full," "Man Of The Hour," "Our New Minister," several well known and popular comedies and many other high grade plays have been secured.

LEE SHUBERT

RESIGNS AS MANAGER OF THE NEW THEATRE

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Followers of the drama discussed with interest today the possible effects on the policies and progress of the New theatre likely to result from the resignations of Winifred Ames as director of the theatre and of Lee Shubert as its business manager, reported late last night.

The resignations, it was stated, are to take effect at the end of the present season, but the founders have not yet acted upon them. While it is considered certain that the founders will ask Mr. Ames to reconsider his determination to retire from the post which he has held since the beginning of the New theatre enterprise, two years ago, the director has given no intention to alter his decision. He is quoted, however, as announcing himself in readiness to further the plans of the founders in any way in his power and this expression, it is thought, will be the basis for appeals to him to remain at his present post for a time at least.

Mr. Shubert pleaded necessity of giving his entire time to his own management enterprises as the reason for his withdrawal.

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Theodore Roosevelt ate a 15-cent luncheon yesterday. He was the guest of his cousin, James Roosevelt, general superintendent of the Third Avenue railroad, at the lunch room of the company's employees. This is what the Colonel ate: Chop with Green Peas, Bread and Butter, Banana Fritters, Cup of Coffee.

After the meal he exclaimed, "Bully."

FATAL ACCIDENT

One Killed and Several Hurt at East Jaffrey, N. H.

EAST JAFFREY, N. H., Feb. 4.—One passenger was killed, another was seriously injured and two railroad employees were slightly hurt when two cars of a Boston & Maine train left the rails and rolled down a bank at a sharp turn, known as Crows curve, three-quarters of a mile south of this station. Ethel Boynton of East Jaffrey was killed. The seriously injured person is John H. Kramer, a peddler of Winchester, Mass. Conductor Naven and brakeman Dimick of the train crew received minor cuts and bruises. The wreck occurred about 7 a. m.

The train was running from Winchendon, Mass., for Concord, N. H., over the Peterboro branch of the Fitchburg division of the Boston & Maine road. There were only three passengers on the train and one of them, Morris Wheeler, escaped with nothing more serious than a shaking up. When the train took Crows curve the combination coach and a day coach left the rails and overturned on the side of the embankment. The locomotive did not leave the track. Both derailed cars cleared the track in such a manner that the roadbed was not torn up and traffic was not blocked.

YELLOW FEVER

THREE CASES AMONG THE MARIETTA MEN

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 4.—The following wireless despatch from Capt. Cooper of the U. S. cruiser Marietta was received here today:
"The Associated Press."
"Please deny all sensational reports regarding the appearance of yellow fever on board the Marietta. There are probably three cases of yellow fever among the Marietta's men at this time and are doing well. No new cases have developed since Monday. The danger of further cases is very slight."
(Signed) "Cooper."

DESTROYED BY FIRE

HALIFAX, N. S., Feb. 4.—A building here owned by the National Drug & Chemical company was destroyed by fire today, causing a loss estimated at $25,000, fully covered by insurance. A portion of the building was occupied by the local agency of the Merchants bank of Canada.

Two Men Held on Charge of Stealing Copper

Bernard Bradley and Louis Duchesnoe, who were arrested yesterday afternoon by inspectors Maher and Walsh after the police had received complaints to the effect that considerable copper and brass had been stolen from the Massachusetts Mohair Plush Co. in Western avenue, were arraigned before Judge Hadley in police court this morning on two complaints of larceny. In the first complaint they were charged with the larceny of 20 pounds of copper valued at $2.40, the property of the Mohair company, and in the second complaint with the larceny of eight valves and four globe valves, all of the value of $105, the property of the Appleton company. Lawyer A. S. Goldman, who has been practicing law in New York, appeared for the defendants and after entering pleas of not guilty to each complaint asked the court to postpone the hearing of the case till next Tuesday. The continuance was granted, each defendant being held under $700 bonds for appearance at that time.

He Stole a Punch

Michael McQuade pleaded guilty to the larceny of a punch valued at 75 cents, the property of Ernest Chambers. McQuade claims to have a residence in Boston but recently came to this city. The day before yesterday he entered a restaurant conducted by Mr. Chambers and when he left Mr. Chambers found that a ticket punch had disappeared. The matter was reported to the police and yesterday Patrolman Jeremiah Dooley found McQuade trying to dispose of the punch. The court found the defendant guilty and ordered him to pay a fine of $10.

Sent to Reformatory

Herbert Emerson, the young man who it is alleged has been entering and rifling houses in the Greek colony of their contents, and who was also given a hearing yesterday on a complaint of larceny preferred against him, was called upon this morning to plead to another complaint of larceny. The charge being that he stole a razor belonging to John Gunures. Emerson said that despite the fact that the razor had been found in his possession he was innocent of the charge, claiming to have found the razor on the street.

Gunures, who resides at 1 Little street, informed the court that when he left the house Monday morning he left his razor on a shelf and later when he returned found that it was missing. A young man who also occupies a room in the same house with the complainant testified to seeing Emerson leaving the house Monday afternoon. Patrolman Gunures testified to finding the razor on the defendant's person. The court after considering the evidence in the case found Emerson guilty on both complaints, the one heard yesterday and the one this morning, and sentenced him to the Massachusetts reformatory.

Kicked His Wife

John Coyle was charged with being drunk, and he admitted his guilt. Mrs. Coyle said that while her husband was under the influence of liquor he entered the house of a neighbor, where she was visiting, and kicked her. She said, however, that she did not care about pressing an assault and battery charge against him. After being cautioned as to his actions in the future by Judge Hadley, Coyle was allowed to depart upon the payment of a fine of $2.

Other Offenders

The four out-of-town men who were arrested the night before last and arraigned in court yesterday morning on charges of drunkenness and whose cases were continued until today in order to ascertain if they knew anything about the larceny of some clothing, were this morning fined $2 each. The police upon making an investigation found that none of the quartet had anything to do with it.

Neglected Her Children

Mrs. Lillian Molloy was charged with failing to send her children to school in violation of the statute law. Truant officer William F. Thornton informed the court that the boy had been absent 78 half days during the present school term and that the girl had been absent 64 half days. Both had been excluded from the school at different times on order of the medical inspector.

Funerals

GRALA.—The funeral of the late Marion Grala took place this morning at 9 o'clock from his home, 35 Charles street. At 7:30 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung at the Holy Trinity church, High street. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. At the offertory, "O Meritum Passionis" was rendered and at the conclusion "De Profundis" was sung. Burial was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Undertaker J. F. O'Donnell & Sons in charge.

SULLIVAN.—The funeral of the late ex-Councilman Dennis A. Sullivan, a well known and most popular resident of the old "Acres" district, took place at 8:30 o'clock this morning from the funeral parlors of Undertaker Peter H. Savage and was largely attended. The lengthy funeral cortege proceeded to St. Patrick's church where at 9 o'clock a mass of requiem was sung by Rev. John J. McHugh. The choir under the direction of M. J. Johnson sang the Gregorian chant, and as the remains were being borne from the church the choir sang "De Profundis." Andrew A. McCarthy sustaining the solos. Among the many beautiful floral tributes and upon the grave were the following: pilgrows, inscribed "Brother," from the brother of the deceased; wreaths from the Cawley family and Mr. D. J. Hart. Present at the funeral service was a delegation from Court Merrimack, F. of A., consisting of William H. Sullivan, Owen O'Neill, Daniel Reading and Daniel Crowley. The bearers were Messrs. Simon Flynn, William Tighe, John Conley, John McCarthy, Stephen Garrity and Daniel H. Crowley. Interment was in St. Patrick's cemetery. Rev. John J. McHugh read the committal service at the grave, and burial was in charge of Peter H. Savage.

McKENNA.—The funeral of the late Mrs. Elizabeth J. McKenna took place this morning at 8:30 o'clock from her late home, 26 Keene street, and was largely attended by sorrowing relatives and friends. The funeral cortege proceeded to St. Peter's church where, at 9 o'clock, a solemn mass of requiem was sung by Rev. Fr. McGuinness. The choir sang the Gregorian mass. During the mass Mrs. Frederick A. Leahy and Miss Mary E. Whiteley sustained the solos, and Mrs. John McKenna presided at the organ.

Among the many floral tributes was a sheaf of wheat and plinks inscribed, "Godmother." Miss Annie Green, standing wreath. Mrs. John J. Donnelly and family; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Slattery, Kate and Gus Slattery and Mrs. Gallagher; wreath inscribed "Gods Will be Done." Mr. and Mrs. Daniel J. McLaughlin; spray, Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Molloy; wreath, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Lowmyer; spray, sympathy of the friends in the office; wreath from a friend; spray, No 2 dressing room, Hamilton mill. The bearers were Philip J. Hughes, John Moran, Thomas Coleman, Michael Connor, Philip Riley and Patrick Rourke.

Burial was in the family lot in St. Patrick's cemetery, where the committal prayers were read by Rev. William A. Connor of St. Paul's church, Dorchester, Mass. Undertakers M. H. McDonough Sons had charge.

O'HARA.—The funeral of Margaret A. O'Hara took place from the home

MANY WASHOUTS

NEWPORT, R. I., Feb. 4.—With the exception of sunshine and calm, Newport was treated to about everything in weather since the time today. The snow had fallen in intervals throughout the night changed to rain, thunder rumbled, lightning flashed and wind attained the greatest velocity of the winter. Today this city and Narragansett bay shore were in the grip of a howling southeaster with a wind of between 70 and 75 miles velocity. Shipping was tied up in the harbor.

DRACUT

The republican town committee of Dracut met last night in the town offices and the meeting was well attended.

The vote which was taken some time ago to set the time for the filing of names of candidates at last night's meeting was recorded and the time extended to next Wednesday evening, when the committee will meet in the town office.

While several appeared at the meeting to present their names as candidates, only one contest has developed, and that is between Clarence Richardson and J. Chester Fox, for the office of road surveyor.

The board of registrars will hold sessions for the registration of voters during the coming week, and the assignments have been made as follows:

Tuesday evening, from 7 to 9 o'clock, at McManis' barber shop, Colchester; Thursday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, at home company's quarters, Navy Yard; Friday evening, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock, town office, Dracut; Saturday afternoon, from 3 to 5 o'clock, at McManis' barber shop.

The sessions after the caucus, at Colchester, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock p. m.; Feb. 23, at home company's quarters, Navy Yard, from 7:30 to 9 o'clock; Feb. 25, at town office, Dracut Centre, from 12 m. to 10 o'clock p. m.

SEARCH FOR BODY

OF THE MISSING POSTMASTER OF PHILADELPHIA

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., Feb. 4.—There was no news early today regarding Richard L. Ashhurst, postmaster of Philadelphia, who disappeared on the Strand last Monday night, leaving behind not the slightest clue by which he can be traced. The family to the aged postmaster refuse to be interviewed and are conducting their search for him through the police.

Chief of Police Woodruff, who says he was notified of the disappearance of Mr. Ashhurst the night he dropped out of sight, today expressed the belief that the man is dead. The last person to see him was the chair pusher, who wheeled him to the million dollar pier at 8:45 o'clock Monday night. Mr. Ashhurst, according to this man, appeared cheerful and when he walked on to the pier he told the chairman that he needed a bath. As this was the last sight of him, Chief Woodruff concluded that Mr. Ashhurst either fell or jumped from the pier into the ocean. The portion of the pier extending far out into the ocean is unfrequented and not lighted in winter and it could not be difficult for anyone to walk out to the end without being observed.

It is known that Mr. Ashhurst, who was not well, came to the shore for rest. He had apartments at the Marlborough-Blenheim hotel with several members of his family. Dragging of the ocean about the pier was continued today, but without any hope of finding the body of the missing man.

The beach for a distance of about ten miles also is being searched.

NEW TRAFFIC RULES TODAY'S STOCK MARKET

Meeting to Discuss Them Called Next Tuesday

Those who want to get a word in relative to the traffic regulations proposed by the committee on municipal affairs of the board of trade would do well to attend the meeting to be held at the board of trade rooms on Tuesday evening of next week, when the new regulations will be discussed and, if necessary, amended before they are presented to the city council, to become law.

There is a radical change in the proposed rules from what are now in existence.

Under the proposed new rules no vehicle can stand in Merrimack street, between Kirk street and the Concord river bridge, longer than 20 minutes, while on Central street the limit is from Merrimack to Warren street. All standing vehicles must face in the direction of the traffic on that side of the street. The new ordinance provides a substantial fine for violations. The committee is not trying to rush its ordinance through but desires a free expression of opinion before taking final action.

On Monday evening the executive committee of the board of trade will meet at five o'clock.

On Wednesday evening at 4:45 o'clock the regular monthly meeting of the directors will be held when four or five important matters pending will be discussed while arrangements will be made to have a representation at the legislature on five or six bills of local importance.

STOCK MARKET

WAS STRONG AT THE CLOSE THIS NOON

Prices Were the Heat of the Season—Increased Strength Shown by the Market in the Second Hour—Covering of Short Contracts Cause of the Increase

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—The stock market showed an irregular tone at the opening with a mixture of gains and losses. American beet sugar, which advanced 1/2 and Consolidated Gas, which was up 1/2, were the strongest features. Reading and U. P. advanced fractionally. American Sugar lost 1/2. Baltimore and Ohio 1/2 and Central Leather and American Smelting 1/2. Buying orders steadied the market after the opening and brought a general advance. American Beet Sugar was the feature, advancing two points. The market closed strong and at best prices of the session. Increased strength was shown by the market in the second hour, practically all of the active issues making material gains. The improvement was doubtless due to the covering of short contracts.

Money Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Money on call nominal; no loans. Time loans firmer; 60 days 3 3/4 per cent and 90 days 3 1/2 per cent. Prime mercantile paper 4 to 4 1/2 per cent. PERSIAN MINISTER ASSASSINATED

TEHERAN, Persia, Feb. 4.—Sanjed Dowleh, Persian minister of finance, was shot dead in the street today. His assassins two Armenians, escaped for a time.

The assassination of Sanjed Dowleh comes at a time of considerable political excitement in the Persian capital as a result of a bitter quarrel in parliament over the appointment of American financial advisers. Parliament voted on Thursday last to engage five financial experts from the United States to reorganize the country's fiscal system.

The minister of finance was one of the most influential of the Persian statesmen. He was president of the first parliament and has held the post of minister of commerce, minister of the interior, and minister of public instruction. He got into trouble with the since deposed shah in December, 1907, and was arrested. The following day he was released as a result of the intervention of the British minister. During the disorders in the summer of 1908 Sanjed Dowleh took refuge in the Italian legation.

FATALLY INJURED BY LION

NAIROBI, British East Africa, Feb. 4.—George Grey, a brother of Sir Edward Grey, the British minister of foreign affairs, died during the night at the hospital to which he was removed following his encounter with a lion last Tuesday.

Mr. Grey, with several companions, was stalking lions near the Athi river when he separated from the others and was suddenly set upon by a large beast. He was badly injured before his friends could come to his rescue.

PLEADS GUILTY OF FORGERY

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—A plea of guilty to a charge of perjury was entered by Francis J. Wood before Judge Dodge in the United States district court today. Wood's arrest resulted from his testimony at the trial of William J. Kellier charged with aiding and abetting George Coleman in wrecking the National City bank in Cambridge. His alleged false testimony was to the effect that he had cashed a check of $200 for Mrs. Nellie A. Penn, which had been sent to Coleman in Kansas City and which Coleman had been unable to cash there. Wood will be sentenced February 15.

KILLED HIS SISTER

EVANSTOWN, Ill., Feb. 4.—Confessing that he had deliberately fired the shot that killed his sister, Charles Mezell, aged 17, last night gave as his motive that he was enraged because the girl, who was 11 years old, had complained to him that her father had mistreated her. The girl was shot last night at the family home, after the father had been arrested, charged with an assault on her. Young Mezell then maintained that he shot his sister accidentally.

CHRISTMAS TAKES CHARGE

PEURTO CORTEZ, Honduras, Feb. 2, via wireless, New Orleans, Feb. 4.—General Leo Christmas, the revolutionary military leader, arrived here today with part of his forces to take over the administration of this city, evacuated several days ago by the government forces and held by the international troops pending the arrival of the revolutionists.

Christmas will remain in command at this place until the arrival of former President Bonilla, leader of the movement against the Davilla government.

The arrival of General Christmas and his men was marked by a cordial demonstration on the part of the populace.

ATTACKED WOMAN AND DAUGHTER

MOUNT CLEMENS, Mich., Feb. 4.—August Wiers, a farmer, 27 years old, committed suicide by taking poison early today after shooting Miss Hattie Uplinger and cruelly beating the girl's mother, Mrs. Augusta Uplinger, with a hammer. Both women are in a critical condition at St. Joseph's hospital. The crime was due to jealousy.

SERIOUS CHINESE OUTBREAK

BATAVIA, Java, Dutch East Indies, Feb. 4.—There has been a serious outbreak among the Chinese on the island of Billiton. The capital, Tanjung Pandan, was looted and burned and the chief administrator and others murdered. Troops have been sent to the scene.

LEVEL BOULEVARD

To Unite Lowell and Lawrence, If Legislature Permits

Good Proposition From Lawrence Residents to Avoid the Big Hill on Lowell Street by Running Boulevard Along River's Edge

Work will be resumed on the state boulevard between Lowell and Lawrence in the early spring, and it is expected the road will be completed this year. The local labor unions are bringing up a movement by which none but American citizens shall be employed in the construction of that road.

The road extends from First street, Lowell, to Lowell street, Lawrence, and to avoid the Lowell street hill in Lawrence, which is a very steep one, a group of citizens of the down-river city, headed by L. E. Benniman, have filed a petition in the legislature, which provides that a state road be built from Lawrence to Methuen. This road, if built, will run along the river's edge and through Glen Forest, to meet the boulevard at Methuen.

The members of the house and the senate will probably take a view of the place before taking any action on this question.

The act providing for this new road is as follows:

Section 1.—The county commissioners of Essex county are hereby authorized and directed to lay out and construct a highway commencing at the westerly terminus of Water street in the city of Lawrence and running thence westerly along the North bank of the Merrimack river to a point in Lowell street in the town of Methuen about one thousand feet east of Bartlett brook, so called. The said highway shall be completed within one year after the passage of this act.

Section 2.—The said commissioners may widen, straighten or relocate said way, and any person or corporation whose property is injured by any act done under the provisions hereof may have his damage assessed by a jury in the manner provided by chapter forty-eight of the Revised laws.

Section 3.—Upon the completion of the said way, the county commissioners of said county shall file in the office of the clerk of courts in that county a detailed statement of the cost of the said way in that county and of any land damages resulting therefrom, including an estimate of any damages not yet determined and within thirty days after the filing of said statements the city of Lawrence shall pay into the treasury of the county of Essex forty-five per cent. and the town of Methuen shall pay into the treasury of the county of Essex fifteen per cent. of the cost of constructing the said way and of the land damages resulting therefrom.

Section 4.—The county commissioners of Essex county are hereby authorized to borrow on the credit of the said county for a period not exceeding two years, such sums as may be necessary to carry out the provisions of this act, and to issue notes and bonds therefor.

Section 5.—Upon the completion of the laying out and constructing of said way, the Massachusetts highway commission is hereby directed to accept and lay out as a state highway the way so constructed.

Section 6.—This act shall take effect upon its passage.

Hardly had we stopped reading the glad news of the groundhog and the prospects of an early spring when we woke up this morning to the thought that the winter was not over. A little snow followed by a little rain and finally a whole lot of plain rain which made ice for pedestrians on the sidewalks, and slush, knee-deep, in the streets, particularly at the crossings.

There was danger of falling as one proceeded along the sidewalks, and greater danger of wet feet which breed pneumonia. This was the kind of a day when the man who boasts of his 77 waterproof shoes and pool-pools the idea of wearing rubbers, found that there is no such thing as waterproof shoes on a slushy day.

The electric cars were badly handicapped this morning by the storm and most of them were off schedule time.

The catch basins were overloaded throughout the town being stopped up and as a result the streets could not be drained and the puddles of slush and water collected at every corner.

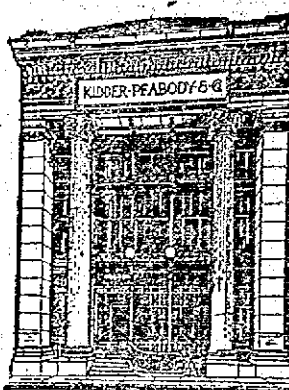

DEATHS

ACCIDENT VICTIMS

Reported to be Resting Comfortably at the Local Hospitals

Irene Bordeleau, the 15-year-old girl who was badly injured by the fall of a dumb waiter at the French American orphanage yesterday morning, and who is being treated at St. John's hospital, is reported a little better today, although her condition is still critical.

May Recover
Bertha Coutin, who sustained severe burns about the body on Dec. 31, while playing around the kitchen stove at her home in Woburn street, is resting comfortably at the Lowell hospital, John's hospital.

Gaining Strength
F. Noe Chaput, the only survivor of last Saturday's accident at Tyler park where A. Harnett and W. H. Morley lost their lives, is gaining strength every day and is now on his way to his home in Woburn street, is resting comfortably at the Lowell hospital, John's hospital.

FINED $2400 FOR SMOKING

SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 4.—A fine of $2400 for smoking—the heaviest fine ever decreed in Massachusetts for the offense—was imposed by Judge Henry W. Bosworth in the district court today upon the Springfield Street Railway Co., the chimneys of whose power house have aroused the ire of the city officials. For more than a year the city authorities have endeavored to compel the company to take some steps to put an end to the belching of dense clouds of smoke from the power house chimneys by invoking a local city ordinance dealing with the alleged smoke nuisance. The company claimed that the city ordinance was not legal and that the local court had no jurisdiction. The supreme court of Massachusetts settled the question of jurisdiction and a few days ago the company through its counsel pleaded guilty to violating the smoke laws. Today Judge Bosworth imposed fines of $600 on each of four counts. It is understood that the company will appeal to the superior court.

REVOLUTIONISTS SCORE VICTORY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—The revolutionists in Haiti, according to a rumor which has reached Port Au Prince, the capital of the country, have captured Fort Liberty, Onanaminat, and Tron. This information was conveyed to the state department today in a telegram from American Minister Furness at Port Au Prince.

Two ministers of the Haiti cabinet, the minister adds, have left the capital to lead the government forces against the revolutionists. The secretary of war has departed from Port Au Prince on a gunboat with troops for Gonaives and the secretary of the interior is on his way to Cahobas.

DOCTOR RETRACTS CONFESSION

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 4.—Dr. Pantchenko, the self-styled poison expert, today in court retracted his confession that he had deliberately murdered Count Vasilii Bouturkin at the instigation of the latter's brother-in-law, Count O'Brien DeLassy. The accused physician asserted that he had been induced to make the admissions of guilt by promises made him by the examining magistrate at the original inquiry.

"AGED" EGGS SEIZED

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Five tons of "aged" eggs, shipped here from Chicago, were seized at the Boston & Maine freight terminal by federal officers today after a complaint had been made by pure food inspectors. The 10,000 dozen ripe eggs were shipped here by the Charles B. Ford Co. of Chicago to be sold to local bakers. The eggs will be destroyed.

WOMAN BURNED TO DEATH

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Feb. 4.—Her clothing catching fire by coming in contact with a red hot stove, Mrs. Margaret Murdock, aged 70, was burned to death at her home here today. Mrs. Murdock was alone in her kitchen cooking at the time. Two young men tried to quench the flames by wrapping her in quilts but the bed clothing was of cotton and burned quickly. Mrs. Murdock was a widow and is survived by a son.

The republicans are showing the democrats how to play some smart political stunts.

It is reasonable to assume that the driven wells on the boulevard do draw from the wells on Varnum avenue. To forestall future suits for damages the city will have to extend the city water service to that district.

LET US CELEBRATE

It is well to celebrate the 50th anniversary of the march through Baltimore in which Lowell gave the first martyrs to the cause of union. But it would be well also to celebrate the 75th anniversary of Lowell as a city which falls on April 11. The observance may well be postponed till later in the season when the weather is more favorable. It is desirable that this event should be properly observed in order to show the rising generation and our residents of recent arrival how fast we have grown and how great will be our city in the future if the same spirit of progress is shown by our citizens. It is well anyhow to stop and review our past while at the same time deducing lessons that will guide us to a glorious destiny.

FOR GREATER THOROUGHNESS IN THE SCHOOLS

With the variety, we might say multiplicity, of subjects crowded into the school curriculum, some of them non-essential or unnecessary, it is very difficult to attain thoroughness which alone will count when the school days are long gone by.

There are unimportant matters forced upon the attention of the pupils who are always ready to change from a difficult study to one that is more inviting. But the teacher in spite of every demand must not forget the superior importance of the great essentials, reading, writing, arithmetic, language and we might add drawing.

It is of very little use to cram the minds of the children with facts or knowledge over which they have little or no control. What is of supreme importance, however, is mental development, the training of the reasoning power, the memory and the perceptive faculties. Progress in arithmetic or in any of the essentials will depend upon the amount of work intelligently done. In most cases thoroughness comes only as a result of repetition continued until it becomes tiresome and then interrogation to ascertain whether the rules are properly understood or firmly fixed in the mind. It is in language studies that we find the most noticeable lack of thoroughness in our schools. That has long been the weak point of the schools, probably because of the limited number of exercises correctly executed. This is due to the lack of time, the large number of pupils that each teacher has to attend to; and, in some cases to the fact that errors are not corrected in a manner that will prevent the pupils from repeating them.

It is not very pleasant for any teacher to keep the pupils working until weary on the same thing; but that must be done in many cases if we are to attain thoroughness. A great deal may be accomplished by individual teaching that is impossible in some of our schools where children are taught in the mass. In the little country school where one teacher has to attend to several grades, she has to do a lot of individual teaching, and as a result her pupils make good progress and are thoroughly grounded in the studies as far as they have gone.

It is all nonsense to suppose that the teacher can make studies so easy and so clear that the pupils can make progress without any hard work on their part. When the teacher tries to do this she will not attain the results worth she ever so hard.

That "there is no royal road to learning" is just as true today as it was centuries ago, and the pedagogical methods that would make progress easy by a lot of theorizing are all wrong. The pupil makes the greatest progress in arithmetic, for instance who solves correctly the greatest number of problems that call for the exercise of his reasoning power and the rules he has already learned. Children do not follow a teacher in explaining the reason of any new process. Better teach the rule first and explain the reason afterwards. The same principle holds good in all other studies, and if this and the development of the mental faculties be kept in view rather than stuffing the mind with facts that soon slip the memory, there will be more real progress and more thoroughness.

So important is the matter of individual teaching considered in most other countries that many of them have a system under which pupil teachers are employed to work under the direction of regular teachers in closely following the work of children so as to correct quite promptly every mistake made. The plan is attended with good results. The pupil teachers are merely apprentices in the teaching profession and devote a part of their time to study, receiving enough pay to support them.

Another means of obtaining thoroughness is close inspection by officials appointed for the purpose. They may enter a school at any hour of the day, make note of what is going on, whether the work of the curriculum is being followed according to the time table and then examine classes to ascertain the progress made. At the annual examinations, the inspectors, not the teachers, conduct the examinations and mark the papers.

It is generally found that if thoroughness in any branch or number of branches be firmly insisted upon it will be forthcoming unless the number of studies be so great as to make this absolutely impossible. In the management of the schools now divided between the superintendent and a number of supervisors, it would seem that there is ample room for improvement in the line of increased thoroughness, and the more systematic development of the reasoning power, the memory and other mental faculties. If it be necessary to eliminate some of the non-essential or ornamental branches in order to secure greater thoroughness, that should be done. Nobody knows as well as the supervisors just where the knife can be used to reduce the number of subjects and increase the progress in all those that remain.

Let it be remembered too that some teachers make a hobby of particular studies at the expense of others equally important, while some others fall into the costly error of wasting valuable time by dilating upon every casual incident that comes up during the progress of the lesson.

If these two faults were corrected there would be more time left for effective work on the essential branches.

ROBERT WATSON SHOT HIMSELF

Admitted to Bar in Washington, D. C.

Mr. Robert Watson of this city has been admitted to the bar in Washington, D. C., where he passed the examinations, attaining a high rank. Mr. Watson is employed as a stenographer by the government. As stated in last evening's Sun, Mr. Watson attended the Georgetown law school at the capital, graduating therefrom with honors. Mr. Watson is a capable, clean cut young man, who has been eminently successful at the capital, and who will undoubtedly make a success in the legal profession. His friends in Lowell, who are legion, are gratified to learn of his success.

Smith were chosen to the board of surgeons. The vote on the amendment to article 15, of the by-laws, taken two weeks ago, was announced as follows: Number of ballots cast, 143; number necessary to a choice 72; number voting "yes," 127; number voting "no," 16.

ADMIRAL SPERRY

WAS LAID TO REST IN ARLINGTON CEMETERY

WASHINGTON, Feb. 4.—Rear Admiral Charles S. Sperry, retired, who died at the naval medical hospital here on Wednesday, was buried in Arlington cemetery yesterday. President Taft and the secretary of the navy, Mr. Meyer, as well as a number of army and navy officials, attended the church services. The casket was covered with the United States flag on which were the admiral's sword, belt, spurs and cap.

POLICE OFFICER

WAS ARRESTED ON A CHARGE OF LARCENY

SOMERVILLE, Feb. 4.—Patrolman William F. Taylor, of the Somerville police force was taken from the line of bluecoats at roll call early this morning and was locked up in the station charged with larceny. It is alleged he took a number of storage batteries from the Boston elevated railroad and secured $5 from a local store.

Prominent Physician a Suicide

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Leaving a note asking forgiveness, Dr. Stanley Curran, a prominent and well known physician, shot himself in the head today in his residence. His wife found him lying dead on a couch, a bullet hole in his temple and a revolver at his side.

Dr. Curran suffered an attack of illness recently but had completely recovered, it was thought, and no reason could be assigned by his family or friends for his act.

WELLS GOING DRY

Varnum Ave. Residents Want City Water

At the meeting of the water board last evening a petition was received from residents of Varnum avenue for an extension of the water mains from the present terminus to the city line in Varnum avenue. Appearing in behalf of the petition several of the residents of that section complained that their wells have gone dry and attribute the cause to the driven wells along the boulevard. The board postponed action until the next meeting. The board considered a request from the Engineers' union that the pay of assistant engineers be raised from $2.50 a day to $3 a day, and instead of a seven day schedule a six day schedule be put into effect. Action was postponed.

The monthly bills were approved.

CHELMSFORD

The Boys' club of the Centre was successfully inaugurated at its rooms in the Odd Fellows building. Three of the rooms have been adequately furnished and present a most inviting appearance. The gymnasium is equipped with punching bag, dumbbells, boxing gloves, etc.

At the progressive game tournament yesterday afternoon there were about 20 boys present. The first prize, a box of candy, was won by Harry Russell, who made six points. Louis Lovering was second with five points.

Thirty-six boys attended the evening gathering from 6.45 to 8.30. Progressive games were played and the first prize, a box of candy, was won by Everett Harris, who made 17 points. Frank Shanahan was second with 16 points.

The boys were much pleased with the success attending the opening and expressed their pleasure to Principal E. E. Harris, under whose charge they were.

The educational side of the club is not to be overlooked, and it is intended to devote Friday evenings to a lecture on some practical subject.

Tournaments of some sort will be arranged every two or three weeks. This morning a party of the boys visited the Lowell Textile school, accompanied by Principal Harris.

SOCIAL AND FRATERNAL

At the meeting of Emulus Thompson commandery, U. O. G. C. held last night the following officers who were recently elected were inducted into office:

Noble commander, Charles W. Cook; vice commander, Angle L. Wallace; prelate, Mary A. Cowdrey; keeper of records, Walter H. Gilman; financial officer, Edward J. Pierce; herald, Chester G. Ingalls; warden of the lodge, Julia Patterson; and warden of the outer gate, Alice M. Cowdrey.

D. G. C. Myrtle M. Currier; P. G. C. Maud Phinney and D. G. H. Lillian Noyes, all members of Pentecost commandery of Haverhill, were the installing officers. After the installation ceremonies, a banquet was served, present as visitors were: C. N. C. Hector Turnbull; P. N. C. Lady Turnbull; P. N. C. George F. Tilton; V. G. Lena Curtis; C. C. N. Curtis, all of Washington commandery of Lowell.

Pilgrim Fathers

Garfield Colony, U. O. P. F., visited Columbian council, in Lawrence, last night, about 30 members of the local council making the trip.

Following the meeting, which was very largely attended, refreshments were served and there was much socializing. Among the officers of the local colony who made the trip were the governor, Miss Grace I. Aspinall; lieutenant governor, Miss Florence Hartwell, and the secretary, Miss Martha J. Aspinall.

The Eagles

Four propositions were received and ten applications for membership were received at the regular meeting of the Lowell aerie, Fraternal Order of Eagles, held in Foresters hall. The committee having charge of the ball to be held next week presented an encouraging report. Among the invited guests at the affair will be Deputy G. W. P., Martin J. Carney of Waltham, Mayor Cahill of Lawrence, a member of Lawrence aerie, Grand Trustee Frank Garland of Boston, and Pres. John J. Moriarty of Chicopee Falls.

A special committee of 25 was appointed to make arrangements for a social at the class initiation, March 18.

The New England association of Eagles will hold its field day at Lawrence, July 11, and a committee of 50 was appointed by the local aerie to make arrangements to attend the same. There are now 137 aeries in New England affiliated with the association, and the coming field day promises to be the largest ever held.

Knights of Pythias

Vernon lodge, Knights of Pythias, held their regular meeting last evening with the newly installed officers in their respective offices. Much enthusiasm was displayed and several applications for membership were received. A new entertainment committee was appointed as follows: John McLeod, Adelbert H. Abbott and Leon B. Berry. They promise some good times in the near future and all members are requested to attend the meetings. The lodge holds its last whist party in the present series next Friday evening.

Patriarchs Militant

The regular meeting of Canton Pawtucket, Patriarchs Militant, was held last night in their hall. During the first of the meeting considerable routine business was transacted after which the recently elected officers were installed by Col. W. D. McFee, Lieut. Col. E. D. Small, Major Charles T. Glover, Major Arthur Rowe, of Haverhill; Major F. H. Reynolds of Lawrence; Captain Charles F. Johnson, Haverhill; Lieut. Fred G. Baldwin of Lowell; Captain F. L. Whitcomb, Lowell; Sergeant Frank M. Jackson, Haverhill.

The officers of Canton Pawtucket are as follows: Commander, Horace V. Kittredge; Lieutenant, Frank H. Gunther; ensign, Stephen E. Pelton; clerk, Fred G. Baldwin; accountant, Charles A. Parker.

The local canton has received an invitation to attend the annual concert and ball of Canton Eagle of Haverhill, Feb. 22 at Haverhill. Speeches were made by Col. McFee, who attended to the department conference and field day to be held in Lowell, June 17th.

The Owls

At the meeting of Lowell Nest of Owls held at Ellys hall in Middle street the committee of five which was appointed at the last meeting, nominated a committee of 30 to make arrangements for a concert and ball to be held during the month of April. During the meeting several applications were received and referred to the investigating committee and the degree work was conferred upon a large number of candidates. It is estimated that by April 30th, the local nest will have

THE WAY TO MAKE CUPID FAVORS AND VALENTINES

Clever Missives to Be Contrived With the Aid of Paper Doilies and Trin- kets.

INDIVIDUALITY in entertaining is the slogan of the day, and a hostess who cannot lay claim to originality for her parties, dinners and teas is dismissed by her ungrateful guests with rather curt criticism as "slow." The valentine party must inevitably be an affair of the heart, but Cupid should be given an up to date role to perform in the sentimental drama.

At a valentine party this fourteenth evening of February 1911 is to assume the role of aviator and will "blow in" to the company aboard an airship decked in all the trappings of his dangerous art—heart, arrows and wedding slippers—held to the craft with bright red ribbons. The airship to be used is one of the handsome big machines that are designed as toys for the little children of the rich. By the ingenious construction of pulley strings attached to the gasoline tank under this particular airship the guests by pulling the ribbons will send down a shower of cupid favors.

As this hostess is familiar with the fads and follies of her guests the supper menu cards will be in valentine form suitable to each of them.

It is not necessary for a hostess to spend much money or time on the making of these missives, but she must have clever original ideas. The home-made valentine requires only the following materials: Some white cards, lace paper, heart shaped doilies, one package of red sticker hearts, white sticker hearts and a package of Cupids. In addition to these she will need whatever little toy objects she decides upon using for her valentine motif. These may be purchased at shops where a specialty is made of holiday goods.

One of the girl guests at this party, an avowed suffragette of the very militant type, will receive a card on which is pasted the cut out picture of a pair of loudly checked trousers. Cupid hovers at the top of the card waving a banner inscribed: "To My Valentine. Who Will Wear the Trousers, Dear, You or I?"

The illustrations give some original notions for the home valentine product. The heart shaped lace doilies are mounted in several instances over the square white cards, and in the center sticker cupid or two are pasted. The red heart stickers on one of the cards about a real box of parlor matches are a pretty and appropriate decoration for the inscription which runs, "Shall We Strike a Match?"

For a confirmed old bachelor nothing could be more significant as a warning than the valentine depicting a most unattractive baldheaded man. Around the grotesque presentment, fancifully lettered, is the doggerel: "You'll be an ugly old 'bach' just like this if you don't make a choice pretty soon. That's why I send you a valentine wish that you'll find the right girl and right soon." This is the plain unvarnished text—not put up into poetical form. The illustration best shows how it is done.

The coquette will probably send to some poor suffering victim of cupid the heart wringing valentine. In this device a toy patent clothes wringer is pasted between two red hearts, and the heart wringing song is as follows:

Both clothes and * of men I wring—
In fact, that's my vocation.
My aid to you I'll gladly bring
Whatever your vocation.

A DELICIOUS CAKE.

A DELICIOUS cake is made by using English walnuts and raisins together. The recipe calls for half a cupful of butter, one cupful of sugar, half a cupful of milk, two eggs, a cupful each of raisins and chopped nut meats and two cupfuls of pastry flour sifted several times with half a level teaspoonful of soda and a rounded teaspoonful of cream of tartar. Beat the butter to a cream, add the sugar gradually and continue beating until a light creamy mass is formed. Add the yolks of the eggs, beat again and stir in the milk. Sift the flour several times with the soda and cream of tartar and add the raisins and walnuts. Then gradually stir the moist mixture into it, and when a smooth batter has been formed fold the whites of the eggs through it after beating them to a stiff froth. Bake the cake in broad shallow pans for thirty-five minutes in a moderate oven. One teaspoonful and a half of baking powder may be used instead of the soda and cream of tartar.

TURKEY SCRAMBLE.

One-half pound of the meat left after slicing; fry crisp; pour over this five well beaten eggs to which have been added one-half a cup of milk (scant) and a pinch of salt. Scramble this in a hot skillet until firm. Serve on browned crackers.

LIVER, SPANISH STYLE.

Place in a baking dish a layer of sliced onions, then slices of liver cut thin and rolled in flour, and liver a layer of onions, a medium sized tomato sliced, two small green peppers chopped fine and pepper to season. Two or three slices of bacon or a tablespoonful of lard may be substituted for the bacon. Cover with boiling water and bake in a moderate oven for an hour, adding water if necessary.

CINNAMON TOAST.

Cinnamon toast is a Quaker tidbit. Prepare thin slices of moist fresh toast and spread them while hot with a mixture of butter and sugar, half and half, and a sprinkling of cinnamon. Serve very hot.

COMPANY ICE CREAM.

A high authority gives the following recipe for company ice cream: Prepare about a quart of ordinary white ice cream, adding to it two tablespoonfuls of scraped and melted chocolate (sweetened) and a teaspoonful of vanilla. While freezing stir in a cupful of preserved chestnuts—the kind put up in sirup. Serve the cream in a neat mold with plain whipped cream through which a small quantity of chestnuts minced very fine has been folded.

A PIQUANT SAUCE.

A piquant mustard mixture for cold meats, fish and the like has a tablespoonful of olive oil to every four tablespoonfuls of dry mustard. This is blended until the mixture is smooth, and then a tablespoonful each of paprika, onion juice and sugar are worked in. When the mixture has been beaten until it is light it should be bottled.

GROWING OLD

Why do some women grow old and others keep the secret of perpetual youth? Here is the answer.

One reason why the average woman wears out, grows plain before her husband, is that, through a mistaken idea of duty, she lays out for herself at the beginning of her married life a scheme or plan of duty and employment for her time, every hour filled with work with rare and short periods of relaxation.

This she follows religiously for years, feeling that she has done her duty, because every household event occurs regularly and on time, while she soon becomes a mere machine, a thing without life of itself or volition. She settles into a rut and goes round and round and round on the same track everlastingly in the same tiresome way.

Can any woman keep brightness, originality of thought or speech, or even mere prettiness with such a life? And without these things how can she keep her husband and growing children full of loving admiration, which is the strong chain by which she can bind them to her? How bright and jolly the neighbor's wife seems when she calls. In nine cases out of ten it is because the surroundings and talk of your home are variety to her and rouse her to originality and brightness of speech.

Cultivate a broad attitude toward the world and its people. Let your interests be far reaching and there will be renewed vigor when it comes to solving the problem of the home.

PRACTICAL BUREAU COVERS

WITH the old mahogany furniture which every woman aspires to in these days the fluffy little bureau scarf of lace and sheer linen is decidedly out of the picture, and from a hygienic standpoint the lower huffs in the sleeping room the better.

Bureau covers that are meeting with favor this season are of plique in shades to match the coloring of the apartment or they are of pure white, and each cover for bureau, chest or table is of the same material. This gives an individual touch to the room not afforded by the covers of lace and linen.

A pique is chosen of a fine but firm weave, and the covers are cut to fit the tops of the pieces they are designed to adorn. The ends do not hang over as they did in other years. The cushion top may be cut from the corners.

One design is used on all the covers, that of a buttonholed scallop for the edges done in mercerized cotton after the scallop has been heavily padded with darning cotton. White is, of course, the most serviceable color, but the shade harmonizing with the room is much liked. The newest idea is to work the scallops in white and use the room tint as an outline. Old blues, chineese red, dull rose or warm browns give pleasing results.

Most women take their sets to the shops to be stamped. And it is well to remember that about a half inch of material should be allowed for shrinking above the regular dimensions of the covers and enough of the edge to work the scallop nicely. And, by the way, do not cut the scallop until the work is completed, and to insure the life of the scallop the edge should be first run on the sewing machine before buttonholing.

The monogram or initials of the owner appear on these covers. For a dressing table or bureau the marking of the monogram should go across the front so it comes in the middle of the length or it can go immediately in the middle of the cover.

For a table the marking goes across the front edge in the middle or diagonally across the front right hand corner. Pincushions this year are smaller than they have been. Those four or five inches square or three and a half by six are in good proportions. The edges are scalloped like the covers and the monogram placed directly on top in the center of the cover. The pincushion is usually of satin, and the pique top buttons over it so that laundering of the piece is easy work.

TOO MUCH RUBBISH.

It is a blessed thing indeed that none of us can take our rubbish to another world, for if we could some of the many mansions would be little better than lumber rooms.—Jean Inglelow.

Dame Fashion's Plans For Spring

OF FOULARD SILK AND CHIFFON.

THE dainty frock pictured shows the new fad for combining foulard silk with other fabrics. The lower part of the skirt of this frock is of green and white foulard, the silk appearing in various trimming touches and on the tunic of pale green chiffon veiling pale gray satin. Rows of green and silver, trimming braid show through the green chiffon, and silver gumpo edges the foulard trimmings. The tunic is of pale gray straw, with silver trimmings and green plumes at one side.

History of the Common Pin

The common, ordinary garden variety of pin has been quaintly and pointedly termed "the emblem of attachment," and it is a wonder to think that women ever lived without these attachments, for there is hardly an hour of the day when we do not have the need of pins. They hold many of our hats together, and a woman has even been known to keep an obstreperous shoe button in place with their aid. The ordinary pin was first invented and brought into use about the beginning of the sixteenth century, though there were pins made of metal in their present form as early as 1543, and in that year an English statute was passed called "an act for the true making of pynnes," which limited their cost not to exceed 6 shillings and 8 pence a thousand.

Previous to this pins were made of boxwood, bone and silver, but only the rich, of course, could afford to buy these. The poorer classes having to use pins made them of common wood, like our skewers.

When pins first came into use they were a favorite New Year's gift. Men presented them to the girls of their acquaintance much as they do flowers in these days, or husbands gave their wives an equivalent in money, which was called "pin money," an expression which later on grew to be known as the amount of money which a husband laid aside for his wife for her private expenses.

OUR FRIEND THE MIRROR.

A girl's mirror is a wise and candid friend if she studies it with an honest desire to remedy what she finds amiss. Dull eyes and a rough sawn skin are nature's plea for more fresh air and exercise, and no cosmetics can take the place of these, but a careful survey of herself will show her many small ways in which the "general effect" of her appearance may be improved. It would be well if women talked occasionally before a looking glass, for this would cure them of many mannerisms which annoy their friends. Vivacious girls often make quite unnecessary display of teeth and gums when speaking. Some twist their lips into all kinds of fantastic shapes or frown ferociously. If they talked before their looking glasses they would soon mend their ways.

Blouses For the Coming Season

GRAY CHIFFON OVER PINK SILK.

THE separate waist matching the coat and skirt suit has this season taken the place so long occupied by waists of lingerie materials. Now that the peasant style is such a favorite it is possible for any woman clever with her needle to have several of these waists at small expense. This model is easy to fit and make and has the added advantage of requiring a small amount of goods.

The blouses illustrated are four of the best creations of their kind turned out by French dressmakers and are models that will be copied extensively for spring waists. The cluny lace blouse is a chic confection, the new point being the long shoulder effect that runs down into the short sleeves. Two of the other blouses are of silk and two of chiffon. Very smart is the waist of soft finished taffeta in a rich shade of grass green, a fashionable color now. It is made on peasant lines, with tiny buttons set in rows on front and sleeves. The arrangement of pin tucks in front to give fullness over the bust is a good idea.

One of the chiffon blouses is mounted over lace and trimmed with self colored satin and buttons, the yoke being made of rows of this silk put together with entire d'oux of chantilly lace. The other blouse, of gray chiffon over pink silk, is exquisitely graceful and is trimmed with folds of pink chiffon in collar and cuff style.

IN A RICH SHADE OF VIVID GREEN.

POPULAR LEGISLATION AT BEACON HILL WILL GIVE OUR CITY A BEACON LIGHT WHICH WILL ILLUMINE THE WAY TO MODERN, PROGRESSIVE AND UP-TO-DATE MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

KILLED BY FUMES

Man Was Found Dead Under His Automobile

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—William Winrow, aged 41, who lived with his wife and child at 134 Willow avenue, Somerville, met with a peculiar and tragic death yesterday afternoon.

Winrow, who conducted a small grocery store at the corner of Willow and Morrison avenues, Somerville, left his place of business between 2 and 3 in the afternoon, leaving a small boy in charge of the store.

He did not say where he was going or what his mission was, and when he did not put in an appearance at 5 the younger became uneasy and remarked the absence of his employer to several of the customers.

Inquiries at his home revealed the fact that he had not been there, and some neighbors suggested that perhaps he had visited a small shed in the rear of the grocery store and in which was Winrow's automobile.

The boy was dispatched to the garage to notify Mr. Winrow that his presence was needed at the store because of the usual rush of business at that hour.

Could pounding upon the door brought no response and the boy then tried the windows. Every window was closed and the door belted on the inside.

In the meantime a man sent in an alarm from box 428 which summoned the fire department.

Before the arrival of the fire apparatus, however, the neighbors who had gained admittance to the garage, after searching through the semi-darkness, discovered the body of Mr. Winrow lying upon the floor beneath the machine.

The unfortunate man was pulled from under the auto and every means of resuscitation. There was no response employed to bring back consciousness.

Capt. Hutchins of ladder 2, one of the first pieces of apparatus to arrive in response to the alarm, brought the body of Winrow out into the open air.

Death was caused by inhaling the gasoline fumes, which caused suffocation. The theory was advanced last night that Winrow, in tinkering with the machine, started the motor, and the gas from the cylinders, having no means of egress because of the tightly closed windows and doors, suffocated him as he lay beneath the automobile.

Medical Examiner Durell, who was notified, gave it as his opinion that death was caused by inhaling the gasoline fumes, which caused suffocation.

SUPT. WELCH

ENTERTAINED Y. M. C. A. MEMBERS LAST EVENING

Intensely interesting stories of police life, and anecdote after anecdote, that kept the young men of the "Get Together Club," at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., till after 10 o'clock last night, placed the meeting as the banner one in the many good and instructive addresses given this season by the management of the club.

Supt. Redmond Welch of police department was at his best, and was never more appreciated. His fund of reminiscences seemed inexhaustible, and each event described increased the interest and suggested others. The members are looking forward to the time when Supt. Welch can be their guest again.

The next meeting of the club will be held next Friday night when Mr. Lewis B. MacBrayne will be the speaker.

MAN BOUGHT DIRT AND THOUGHT HE WAS GETTING BUTTER

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—William Barber, who keeps a small store at 28 Andrews street, Cambridge, discovered yesterday that the five tubs of butter he had bought the day before for a bargain were tubs of dirt, with a surface layer of butter.

Late Thursday afternoon three young men called at his store, offering for sale five tubs of the best "Vermont creamery butter" at $10 the tub. Barber sampled one of the tubs and found the flavor so good that he agreed to take the lot, sure that he was getting a bargain.

Deciding to put the butter on sale yesterday, he turned out one tub to cut the butter. Then he discovered that the butter was dirt, except for a thin layer on the top of the tub. The other four tubs also turned out to be dirt.

LAWRENCE MAN MET INSTANT DEATH

LAWRENCE, Feb. 4.—Joseph Carter, 31 years old, of this city, who was employed as a wood chopper, was instantly killed by a falling tree in the woods at West Boxford yesterday.

A BRAVE WOMAN

PUT UP A BATTLE WITH THIEVES AT MONSON ACADEMY.

MONSON, Feb. 4.—Two men disguised with false beards entered Cushman hall, the dormitory of Monson academy, about 9:45 last night and attempted to steal the portrait of Frank Cushman, in whose memory the dormitory was erected.

One of the men was seen in the hall on the second floor by the cook, Mrs. Elizabeth Toomey, and he at once attacked her, throwing her to the foot of the stairs.

Here the second man was working at the picture with a knife, and as the woman fought with the two men, this man cut her on her arm, and also cut off a large amount of hair. Her clothes were partly torn off in the struggle. There were also a few students in the building, and most of them had gone out to an entertainment, but a few on the upper floor heard Mrs. Toomey's outcry and came to her rescue.

When the students started down the stairs, the men ran, and though the police are working on the case they had no chance to go into the hall last night. The academy officials can give no motive for the attempt to steal the portrait or for the brutal attack on the woman.

The new world—or maybe sun—is already 150,000,000,000 miles from the parent body. The scientists say it may become an inhabited world like ours or it may roam about the heavens as a sun, or as some other heavenly body. The scientists also declare the photograph, which is only one of a series taken with the big sixty-inch telescope, goes far to support the theory of Professor Chamberlain of the University of Chicago, as opposed to that of the famous French astronomer Laplace. Laplace's framed theory was that vast globular or spherical masses of swiftly revolving gases, cooling and throwing off more dense portions of their boundaries in obedience to mechanical and physical laws, formed a universe of which the original but reduced mass became the center.

The newly photographed body is so far distant the light of its billions of miles of luminous gases must travel through space for ten years to reach the earth. If it were to be extinguished tomorrow it would not be known to Mr. Wilson watchers until the next decade.

New Store FOR RENT

The beautiful new double-deck store, No. 44 Central street, is approaching completion and is offered for rent.

The store consists of a first and second floor with basement, affording over 6000 square feet of floor space, with entrances on Central and Prescott streets.

Modern display windows, fronting on each street, are provided on the first and second floors; the upper show windows on the Central street front following the latest metropolitan plan, are dropped low enough to display goods so as to be seen from the sidewalk.

The interior of the store is high-posted and finished in a most artistic manner and equipped with the latest devices for attractive electrical lighting and display effects.

The centre of the store is lighted from the sky by a huge dome of pleasing design and equipped with a vacuum ventilator which automatically changes the air on all floors and keeps it fresh and healthful.

Electrical base plugs at convenient intervals on every floor. All openings piped for both gas and electricity. Modern steam heating equipment. Maple floors and ash finish throughout the store.

Entrances to the store from both streets are at level of sidewalk without steps. The basement is lighted by the largest and finest walk lights in the city. Toilet rooms for men and women with perfect ventilation and modern fixtures.

Street cars pass the entrances on both streets, and the unobstructed light which reaches the Central street windows from Middle street affords daylight long after other stores, in the vicinity are lighted up.

The Rent Is Low

Considering the fact that the store fronts on two busy streets and is in the very centre of the shopping district, and that both entrances are within a few steps of Merrimack square, the rent is exceptionally low, being much less per square foot than is charged for any equally well located property in Lowell.

For further particulars apply at the office of The Lowell Sun.

LEGLESS MAN

WAS RESCUED FROM FIRE BY HIS SISTER

BOSTON, Feb. 4.—Louis Goldberg, who lost one leg in the war with Spain and another as a result of a railroad accident, was rescued from death by burning yesterday by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Goldberg, at their home, 16 Thordike street in the South end. Goldberg had been lying on a cot and his wooden legs were unstrapped. A member of the family called to him to get some clothing from a closet, which was near his cot, and he lighted a match and peered into the dark closet to find the articles. Losing his balance he fell to the floor and the match set fire to his clothing and the contents of the closet.

The cripple man was unable to help himself and called for help. Mrs. Goldberg rushed into the room and, although her hands were bandaged and painful, because of cuts from broken glass, received several days ago, she beat out the fire on the man's clothing and then dragged him from the blazing room. The firemen in a nearby station were called on a still alarm and extinguished the fire after it had done damage of $100.

No Trace Yet of the Missing Dorothy Arnold

NEW YORK, Feb. 4.—Miss Dorothy Arnold is still missing and there is no immediate prospect of finding her, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. She may have been in Philadelphia since she disappeared from her home, but she has not been located there, is not staying with friends, was not seen at a Quaker City hotel, nor was the girl kidnapped in an auto, taken to Philadelphia and held for ransom so far as her relatives and her father's lawyers have been able to ascertain.

Reports to the effect that the missing heiress had been found by her brother John, in Philadelphia, were thus summarized and denied by John S. Keith, attorney for Francis Arnold, her father, today. Mr. Keith had no news and was heavy eyed from a vigil he had kept until the small hours of the morning to see young Arnold upon his return home. Nothing, he said, had been added by the Philadelphia trip to the family's meagre knowledge of Dorothy's movements since she left home on Dec. 12th.

"The Philadelphia clue has been exploded," Mr. Keith said. "We are awaiting the arrival of fresh clues in the mail, by phone or by wire. Our stock is exhausted and until more come in we are at a standstill."

A NEW WORLD

Reported Discovered in the Heavens

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 4.—The scientists at Mount Wilson observatory have just taken a photograph of a celestial body nearly 6,000,000,000 miles away. According to their estimates the body is 5,865,628,000 miles from the earth. The wonder of it is that the body pictured is a new world being born, thrown off
